SERUM NEARS STRICKEN NOME

FIERCE STORMS DELAY MUSHERS IN RACE TO AID DIPHTHERIA SUFFERERS

Anti-toxin May be Rushed to Malady-gripped Zone From Fairbanks by Airplane, Says Dispatch—Plane is Overhauled in Preparation for Flight by Federal Agent.

TEMPERATURE SOARS TO ZERO, BUT BLIZZARD RAGES, HANDICAPPING DOGS

Miss Emily Morgan, Public Nurse, and Dr. Curtis Welch, Settlement's Lone Physician, Battle to Prevent Spread of Disease as Official Reports Show Epidemic is Worse.

NOME, Alaska, Feb. 2.—This stricken city was still waiting the arrival early today of dog teams bringing life-giving serum to its diphtheria sufferers.

Fierce storms in the Norton Sound region have delayed the mushers who are not expected here until possibly as late as noon.

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Feb. 2.—Serum for stricken Nome may be rushed from here by airplane and plans for the flight were being made here today.

An airplane for the flight is available and Ray S. Darling, department of justice government agent, formerly army flyer, is ready to make the journey to the north. He is now at Anchorage, but will return here tomorrow.

The plane is being overhauled.

Alaskans Wager Thousands on Time Of Mushing Dogs

NOME, Alaska, Feb. 2—Even in its hour of tragedy the sporting blood of the north asserted itself today.

Thousands of dollars were wagered on the time to be hung up by the mushing dogs rushing serum from Nenana to diphtheria stricken Nome.

Many large sums were bet and in one cigar store heavy odds were offered the dogs would not reach here at noon today.

Miss Ann E. Magill, Aged 76, is Dead; Funeral Tuesday

Miss Ann E. Magill, 76 years old, a resident here for 47 years, died in the home of her niece, Mrs. Edward Davis, 850 Lisbon street, at 11:40 o'clock Saturday night, following two months' illness of complication of diseases.

Miss Magill was born in Baltimore, Md., Nov. 24, 1848, a daughter of John W. Magill.

She was a member of the Ladies' Catholic Benevolent association and the St. Aloysius Catholic church.

She is survived by the following nephews and nieces: James V., John C. and William L. Magill, all of East Liverpool; James E. Magill, of Cleveland; Mrs. Walter Hines, of Jamestown, N. Y., and Mrs. Edward Davis and Miss Anna Magill, of East Liverpool.

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning in the St. Aloysius Catholic church, Rev. J. W. Fowler will officiate. Burial will be made in the St. Aloysius cemetery.

Tri-county Loan Company Officials To Meet in Salem

Building and loan company officials from East Liverpool will attend a meeting of the Tri-County Building Savings and Loan institute, which will be held in the Elks' home, Salem, Wednesday evening.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock, and will be followed by a program of speechmaking. D. P. Wise, secretary of the Security Building and Loan Association, of Salem, will preside. Harry A. Gager, Salem, will deliver the address of welcome.

Approximately 125 banking and loan company officials from Columbiana, Mahoning and Trumbull counties are expected to attend. Guests also will be in attendance from Alliance, Massillon and Canton.

Cheka Raids Trotzky's Home.

Additional Cases Reported.

NOME, Alaska, Feb. 2. — Nome's diphtheria epidemic, threatening to wipe out entirely the isolated settlement, was worse today with the official report of the board of health showing 27 cases, 28 suspects and from 90 to 100 contacts.

Two additional cases, which have not been determined officially were reported by Miss Emily Morgan, the public nurse, who is battling with Nome's lone physician, Dr. Curtis Welch, to prevent the spread of the disease.

Poor connections were made by the dog team relays at Old Woman, it was learned today, and the mushers did not speed out of Unalakleet until 5:39 Sunday night.

Three Relays of Mushers

The teperature raised here during the last few hours from 22 degrees below zero to about zero. A blizzard is raging to the southward and is believed to have covered the trails to be followed by the dogs, making their progress slow.

Three relays are being used to rush the anti-toxin packet to Nome, Edward Bohn and James Kaason having hurried from here to the assistance of Leonard Seppella, champion musher of Alaska, who has carried the brunt of

CONFIRMATION OF H. F. STONE IS PREDICTED

Promotion of Attorney General to Supreme Bench Certain.

FIGHT COLLAPSES

Appointment of Charles B. Warren Will be Opposed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The month old fight to prevent elevation of Harland Fiske Stone to the United States supreme court virtually ended this afternoon when the senate judiciary committee recommended his appointment for the second time.

The committee took this action when Senators Borah, Republican of Iowa, and Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, withdrew their opposition to the appointment which had been based on charges that Stone was "persecuting Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Democrat of Montana. While the committee was approving Stone's promotion, a federal grand jury met in the courthouse, a few doors away, to re-indict Wheeler. It was this move by the attorney general that provoked the attack on his nomination.

The committee acted without a record roll call, but announcement was made that no negative votes were cast against Stone. Senator Walsh attended the session.

The result ,it was predicted, in-

CRIPPLES WALK AND BLIND SEE AFTER FAITH HEALER PRAYS

Cures of Afflicted Follow Petition of George M. Formby.

PLANS MEETINGS

George E. Davidson and Mrs. David Chetwynd Report Relief.

Crippled are made to walk, the blind to see, the deaf to hear and other ailments and diseases are cured by Geo. M. Formby, faith healer evangelist and manufacturer, of Grand Crossing, Florida who is now visiting in East Liverpool.

Formby has been conducting meetings nightly in the Ceramic cafeteria, West Fifth street. He addressed a large crowd in the First Baptist church, yesterday afternoon, when more than a dozen sufferers professed to have been assisted.

Among the most remarkable cases which Mr. Framby has cured are those of Attorney George E. Davidson, East Third street, and Mrs. David Chetwynd Seventh street.

Davidson Case.

Davidson was taken ill shortly after Christmas with a leg ailment, which failed to respond to medical treatment. He was unable to walk and physicians had recommended that his foot be amputated to save his life. He had been bedfast for nearly a months when friends prevailed upon him to call Formby.

Answering a midnight call, Formby went to the Davidson home last Thursday night and anointed the patient's foot with oil. Davidson was commanded to stand, then to walk, something which he had been unable to do for several days. Gradually the pain left the foot and in a few minutes he was walking all over the house. Today—the day set by physicians for the amputation of his foot, Attorney Davidson was outdoors, the pain prac-

Jubilee Singers Offer Program in M. E. Church Tonight

The musical program given last evening in the First Methodist Episcopal church by the choir under the leadership of Prof. H. F. Laughlin was greatly enjoyed by a large audience. The assistance rendered by Mrs. Richard Sant and Rowland Kaufman as soloist was greatly appreciated. Mr. Kaufman has a splendid tenor voice and Mrs. Sant rendered the soprano solo to the delight of all present.

Mrs. T. C. Flick has long since proven herself an artist on the organ. Her rendition of "If With All Your Harps," from Mendelssohn's Elijah, and the harp solo, "Orpa Nocturn," by Yon, was soul stirring. Such programs will be given by the choir the first Sunday evening of each month.

The Pryor Jubilee singers will give a program of southern melodies and spirituals in the social room of the church at 7:30 o'clock tonight. No admission will be charged, but a silver offering will be taken.

The weekly church supper will be served Wednesday evening at 6:15 o'clock. Miss Lucile Orin will entertain with two or three selections on the piano. Frank L. Wells of Wellsville will address the meeting.

President Seeks Congressional Vote On Farm Relief

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—President Coolidge today asked for action at this session of congress on agricultural relief legislation and the reorganization of government departments.

In a conference at the White House with Chairman Snell, of the house rules committee, the president indicated that the way should be cleared for consideration of these problems as soon as the 1925-26 appropriation bills have been passed.

J. M. Graves Reveals Plans For Big Generating Plant

Vice President of Duquesne Light Co. Says Work Will Start on Shippingport, Pa., Project Early in Spring.

The report that the Duquesne Light company, of Pittsburgh, contemplates the erection of a mammoth generating plant at Shippingport, Pa., eight miles east of here, was confirmed today by J. M. Graves, vice-president and general manager of the company in the Beaver Valley district.

Speaking at a banquet, celebrating the opening of the new Beaver Falls sub-station, at the Tamaqua Club, Beaver Falls, Mr. Graves asserted that work on the first unit of the plant probably would be started early this spring.

The first unit, he said, will cost $10,000,000. Within the next four or five years, the plant, he declared, would represent an investment of $20,000,000. Hundreds of acres of lands, including valuable coal holdings in the Shippingport district, have been leased.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company, it is reported, will resume work this spring on the Chester extension, which passes through Shippingport. The grading has been practically completed to a point where Raccoon Creek empties into the river above Industry. Work on this extension was suspended when the government took over the control of the railroads as a war measure.

Bread is Selling At 10, 11, 13 and 14 Cents Per Loaf

Bread prices in seven tri-state towns today ranged from 10 to 14 cents per 24-ounce loaf.

Five local chain stores were selling bread of the standard size, baked in Pittsburgh, at 10 cents. One downtown bakery was retailing it at 11 cents and another at 13 cents per loaf. The majority of the retailers, however, had established a uniform price of 14 cents. Other bakery products and pastries also increased in price.

The increase, due, it is claimed, to advances in the cost of flour and other commodities, affects East Liverpool, Wellsville, Salineville and Lisbon, Ohio; Chester and Newell, W. Va., and Midland, Pa.

GAS TAX TOPIC AT ROTARY MEET

An official of the Ohio State Automobile Association will discuss the proposed state gasoline tax, now facing the state legislature, at the noon-day luncheon of the Rotary club at the Y. M. C. A., Tuesday noon. Frank Wehner will be chairman of the meeting.

The speaker will be selected by E. M. Diehl, secretary of the Columbiana County Motor club.

$50 CASH TAKEN FROM REGISTER IN SATURDAY NIGHT ROBBERY

Thieves Enter Fifth Street Store Thru Skylight.

DESK RANSACKED

Sheet Metal Safe Battered Open; Big Strongbox O. K.

Forcing an entrance through a skylight, robbers Saturday night ransacked the Stein dry goods store, East Fifth street, and made a getaway with $50, taken from a cash register.

Police today are holding a suspect.

Another man was to be grilled later in the day.

Pay Envelope Taken.

The robbery was discovered by John Griffith of Norton street, who went to the store roof Sunday morning to clean off the snow. He notified Jacob Stein, proprietor of the store, who, in turn, called Chief of Police McDermott.

With the aid of a heavy screw driver or another blunt instrument, the thieves forced open one of the skylight windows. Then using a heavy rope, fastened to the roof, they slid to the first floor of the two-story building.

The door of a heavy sheet metal safe, used for safeguarding papers, was battered open and the contents searched, but nothing of value was taken. The office desk, located on the balcony floor with the safe, was also pried open and ransacked. Several checks, filled out and signed, in the desk were not taken. The cash register was then opened and a pay envelope belonging to one of the employes, containing $50, was secured.

Griffith Gives Clue.

The robbers then made their way to the basement of the building, but evidently made no attempt to open the big safe located there. They left the store through a rear basement door. Again climbing to the roof by means of a telephone pole close to the building and a ladder. The thieves loosened the rope, which had been used in lowering themselves to the store, and made their getaway.

The ladder used by the culprets was owned by Griffith. He had placed it in the aisleway back of the Erlanger store Saturday evening, intending to use it Sunday morning.

Chief McDermott questioned Griffith at the city building yesterday regarding the robbery and through him obtained a clue to the suspect arrested later in the afternoon. Chief McDermott today was following another clue which is expected to result in the second arrest this afternoon.

Coshocton Woman, 63, Gray Haired, Faces Trial for Homicide

COSHOCTON, O., Feb. 2—Mrs. Clara S. McCurdy, 63, partly gray-haired and in poor health, following several serious operations, went on trial here today on a first degree murder charge. She is accused of murdering her husband, William Allison McCurdy, 65, who died last spring, by giving him arsenic.

Her indictment and arrest, December 23, last, followed a report covering the analysis of McCurdy's vital organs by Dr. H. M. Brundage, pathologist, and chemist C. F. Long, both of Columbus.

Fire Damages Two Columbus Buildings; Hotel Guests Flee

COLUMBUS, Feb. 2.—Fire, of undetermined origin, early today gutted two South High street buildings, opposite the state house, occupied by the Metropole hotel and the Wendt-Bristol Drug company, resulting in damage estimated at $125,000.

Forty guests, routed from their beds in the Metropole hotel, escaped the flames. C. T. Jenkins, proprietor, carried out J. B. Lewis, 81, Civil war veteran.

Stocks of the Wendt-Briston Drug company and the Frances Willard candy shop were reported a total loss, and stock of the Roessler luggage shop was badly damaged.

ACTRESS, THINKING HER LEGS TOO BEAUTIFUL, POURS ACID ON THEM

Lotus Thompson, Winner of Beauty Contest, Adopted Drastic Means in Effort to Win Serious Role in Movies.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 2—Because she thought her legs too beautiful and that they interfered with her being given serious roles in films, beautiful Lotus Thompson, 19, winner of an international beauty contest in Australia and a stage and screen actress, was in a serious condition in a Hollywood hospital today.

For some time the young woman is said to have brooded over the fact that many film casting directors instead of giving her serious parts wanted her to play comedy roles, so yesterday she is claimed to have poured nitri acid on herself about the hips. Miss Thompson has been cast much recently in comedies and has doubled for prominent stars in parts where beautiful legs were necessary it was learned.

"Every director wants to photograph my legs," the girl said at the hospital where physicians attended her. "I wish they would look at my face and let me play a serious part—like I used to in Australia."

"I can't stand it any longer—to have my legs photographed—so I poured the acid on them," she is said to have explained to her mother.

At the hospital she told a doctor that she was tired of having leading stars get all the credit for her legs and "if they wanted to take me now they have to take my face."

SEAPLANE FALLS; TWO ARE KILLED

ROME, Feb. 2.—A seaplane being flown by the Aviator Mattei fell at Perguia, Umbria, today killing both Mattei and a pupil who was with him.

THROUGH SERVICE ON INTERURBAN LINE TO BEAVER PA., IS RESUMED

With Rebuilding of Viaduct, Transfer Plan is Abandoned — Express Cars Will be Operated, C. A. Smith Says.

Through service on the Beaver-Steubenville interurban line of the Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company was the rule today.

With the completion of the new viaduct at the eastern end of Smiths Ferry, Pa., replacing the structure which collapsed last July as a result of a fill-in near it, the first through trip was made at 11:10 a. m. Sunday.

The transfer plan, which has been in effect since the accident, has been abandoned.

The Culbertson Contracting company of Cleveland had charge of the improvement which will enable the company to resume the express service on its interurban division.

C. A. Smith, general manager of the traction company, said today that express cars would be placed in operation as soon as possible.

"Our through service now enables connections with Pennsylvania trains at Rochester, Pa., and Pittsburgh and Lake Erie trains at Beaver," said Mr. Smith.

Bandits Hold up Chicago Car Barns, Flee With $8,000

CHICAGO, Feb. 2—Seven bandits today held up the Blue Island Avenue car barns, famous as the scene of the fatal robbery of 1903, slugged two employees into unconsciousness, and escaped with $8,000, the Saturday and Sunday receipts.

Confirmation

sures confirmation of Stone by the senate within a few days.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2—The fight against promotion of Attorney General Harlan F. Stone to the United States Supreme Court appeared to be at the point of collapse today as the Senate Judiciary committee met to approve the appointment for the second time.

Two factions of the senate which opposed Stone's appointment in secret sessions early last week, were agreed to permit his elevation after publicly announcing their reasons for blocking his confirmation for the last month. Although the fight on Stone was based on a criticism of his legal record, it was virtually abandoned when his critics learned that a majority of the senate favored his promotion.

With early confirmation of Stone conceded, the same groups were expected to resume their fight against the appointment of Charles B. Warren of Detroit, to the Attorney Generalship. Warren's appointment was reviewed by a judiciary sub-committee, headed by Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, which rendered a report "without recommendation." It was rumored that Warren's appointment might be rejected.

Borah and Walsh End Fight.

The fight against Stone ended when Senator's Borah and Walsh, Democrat of Montana, announced they would no longer oppose his confirmation. They had charged Stone with "persecuting" Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Democrat, of Montana, by seeking to indict the latter in the District of Columbia on virtually the same evidence that resulted in the senator's indictment in Montana last year. Both Borah and Walsh were determined to denounce this proceeding in a public session of the senate.

"The policy of transferring a criminal proceeding against a senator from his home state to the District of Columbia is vicious," said Senator Borah today. "I shall speak my feelings on that subject whenever the senate votes to confirm Mr. Stone, but I shall not attempt to prevent his confirmation. I am not opposed to Mr. Stone, but I do condemn the legal policy which he seems to have adopted against Senator Wheeler."

Confirmation This Week.

Senator Walsh held the same viewpoint. He said he too would denounce Stone's action against Wheeler, but would not oppose his elevation to the supreme court.

A second group of Senators, headed by Heflin, Democrat of Alabama, and Overman, Democrat of North Carolina, attacked Stone on charges of "unprofessional conduct" in his handling of litigation for the J. Pierpont Morgan interests against Col. James A. Owenby, of Colorado. This group was also expected to limit their opposition to Stone to speeches on the senate floor when his confirmation reaches a vote.

Administration leaders planned to confirm Stone early this week.

Health Lecture at Car Barns.

Fourth of a series of health lectures under the auspices of the industrial department of the Y. M. C. A. will be delivered at the Pennsylvania avenue car barns at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Man Attacks Girl Bride Following Long Separation

DURHAM, N. C., Feb. 2—Immediately after his 15-year-old bride of a year had returned to him following eleven months of separation, Marvin Falls, 29, attacked her early today, leaving her for dead in their room at the home of her father, W. H. Long. Falls first struck his wife over the head with a length of pipe and then slit her throat. He went to the home of his parents, told them he had slain his wife and awaited the arrival of the police.

Mrs. Falls recovered consciousness shortly after Falls left the Long house, and her screams attracted her mother. She was rushed to a local hospital and is said to have a chance for recovery. Falls is being held without bail.

Dayton Man Drowns When Auto Plunges Into Mad River

DAYTON, Feb. 2—James Donovan, 33, was drowned early this morning when his automobile plunged into Mad river, near Rohrer's Island, on the Springfield Pike, about a mile from Dayton.

Donovan was taken from the water shortly after 1 o'clock this morning, although it is thought he had been in the river since 11 o'clock last night.

The wrecked auto, lying in the river, was noticed by a passing motorist who rescued the body and brought it to a local hospital. Donovan was dead when the hospital was reached.

Judge Harry Conn Re-appointed State Insurance Chief

COLUMBUS, Feb. 2—Appointment of Judge Harry L. Conn, Van Wert, to his former position as state Superintendent of Insurance was announced today by Governor Donahey. Judge Emmett L. Savage who served as Judge Conn's successor when the latter resigned last June to accept appointment by the governor as successor to the late Judge R. M. Wanamaker, Akron, as a member of the State Supreme court, resigned and has been reappointed to his former position as Superintendent Conn's chief deputy. These appointments are effective as of February 1, last. Judge Conn's term on the state supreme bench expired January 1, last.

Father is Dazed After Killing Son In Religious Mania

PITTSBURCH, Pa., Feb. 2.—In a dazed condition and claims to remember nothing of shooting his 18-year-old son to death and then shooting himself through the head, Albert J. Tilles, 45, will probably live, it was stated today at the Presbyterian hospital where he was taken following the shooting.

According to police reports, the tragedy occurred while the father was gripped by religious mania over his son's refusal to cease attending Sunday dances and other social functions.

The son's body was found beside his father in their home after visitors heard three shots in the room where the two were discussing their differences, according to D. J. Mossman, Tilles' son-in-law who was visiting the home. Tilles had called his son to the second floor and started dictating when their voices rose in argument, to be followed by the shooting.

A list of the elder Tilles' assets was found beside the body, indicating, police said, that he had intended to put his affairs in order then commit suicide, but the argument brought on the double shooting.

Parley for Trust Fund for Chaplin's Expected Heir Halts

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb 2—Final arrangements for the establishment of a trust fund for the expected heir of Charlie Chaplin and his girl wife, Lita Grey, have reached a temporary halt, it was learned today, as the comedian feels the establishment of such a fund is premature because the child has not been born. However, Chaplin is said to be keenly desirious of creating a trust fund for his child soon after birth.

Edwin McMurray, San Francisco attorney and uncle of Mrs. Chaplin who came here some days ago to represent his niece in the financial negotiations, was reported today as en route to the northern city.

Herrin Packs its Guns and Grudges; Awaits Next Move

HERRIN, Ills., Feb. 2—Its fiery feud apparently unquenched by its baths of blood, Williamson county today packed its guns and grudges—waiting.

The county awaited word from Governor Len Small at Springfield as to whether the iron heel of the military would be used to stamp out the flames of hatred in the county under a martial law proclamation.

It awaited the grand jury probe, starting at Marion today, which was expected to delve into Sunday's fatal shooting in Herrin and to stir the coals of the quadruple killing here nine days ago.

In a morgue here lay the body of the latest victim of the county's bullets, indentified as Hill Howard, of Bicknell, Indiana.

Howard, a mysterious stranger in Herrin, was shot to death early Sunday when he attempted to hold up the cafe of the Lamar hotel.

Klansmen charged that Howard was a gunman imported to create trouble and strengthen Sheriff George Galligan's appeal for martial law. Howard was wearing a cap in which Sheriff Galligan's name was marked. The sheriff disclaimed any connection with the man.

Galligan went to Springfield yesterday to urge martial law as the only means of establishing permanent peace in Herrin.

1,130 HEAR DR. LOCKHART

Church of Christ Attendance Record at Closing Service.

Attendance records were shattered at the Sunday morning revival service in the First Church of Christ, when 1,130 persons packed the auditorium and Sunday school rooms. Sixty-eight professed conversion during the day, bringing the total number of converts up to 383 in the four-week campaign.

A special service for the new converts was held by Evangelist Lockhart last evening. The converts occupied two sections of seats in the main auditorium. The remainder of the main floor was crowded to capacity, many being forced to stand during the service.

The new converts pledged $3,100 for the church's expenses during the year at the Sunday evening service. A purse of $1,697 was given the evangelist yesterday. An additional $1,000 was raised during the campaign to meet other expenses of the evangelistic party and the revival. None of the contributions received yesterday exceeded $50 the majority of them being $5.

Dr. Lockhart and his son, Billy, left last night for their home in Omaha, Neb., where they will rest a week before launching revival services in Oklahoma. Prof. and Mrs. Harbinson, who assisted in the revivals, have gone to their home at Fairmont, Ind., for a week's rest before starting the Oklahoma campaign.

Serum Nears Nome

the long trek from Nenana. Bohn was reported to have made the last relay and Seppella was expected to drive the dogs into Nome.

That hundreds have been exposed in addition to the six hundred residents at Nome was learned today when Dr. Welch was notified that Margaret Curran, daughter of a dog team mail carrier who cooks at her father's roadhouse a short distance out of Nome, had been stricken with the disease. One case in Nome was contracted at the roadhouse and many others are believed to have been exposed at the same place.

Travelers in all directions out of Nome were feared to have made contact with the disease and its spread to adjacent camps was regarded as probable, although no cases except that of Miss Curran have been reported outside of Nome.

Need More Anti-toxin.

The increase in the number of cases and the possibility that the dreaded scourge has spread to near-by settlements caused Dr. Welch to declare today that additional shipments of anti-toxin must be shipped to Nome. He said it would probably be better to bring the next shipment in by airplane.

A shipment of 1,000,000 units of the precious remedy was shipped Saturday from Seattle on the steamer Alamneda bound for Seward, and an airplane, With Roy S. Darling, of Fairbanks, to deliver it is available at Fairbanks. Darling is agent for the department of justice at Fairbanks and has been given permission of the officials to make the flight north.

C. W. Thornton, chairman of the Nome chapter of the American Red Cross, received messages today from San Francisco and other chapters of the organization, offering aid to stricken Nome.

Thornton is doing valuable work assisting the health board in seeing that quarantine regulations are obeyed.

Most of the residents are remaining quietly in their homes, fearing to go out-doors. No lodge meetings or public gatherings of any kind are held and all persons are asked to refrain from gathering in groups.

Ohio Farm Bureau Opens Annual Meet; Program Outlined

COLUMBUS, Feb. 2.—United action among Ohio farmers to bring about standardization in farm products from which producers and consumers alike would profit, and a long time program of agricultural and rural community development were outlined for state farmers' organizations, by L. B. Palmer Pataskala, president, at the opening session here today of the two-day annual convention of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

Accomplishments of the co-operative groups of farmers during the last year were outlined. Dairy co-operatives were shown to be doing a business in excess of $25,000,000 a year. The wool clip, sold in like manner, aggregated 4,000,000 pounds, 25 co-operative grain elevators have been organized, a beginning has been made of the co-operative marketing of apples under the Buckeye brand, tobacco growers successfully marketed 20,000,000 pounds in their first year and the Farm Bureau Service company handled more than $3,000,000 in supplies last year, refunding patronage dividends of $120,000, President Palmer reported.

Cleveland Girl Crushed to Death When Truck Skids

CLEVELAND, Feb. 2—Crushed under the wheels of a skidding truck, Roberta Briego, 17, was instantly killed here today. Another girl, Anna Poccos, sustained severe injuries.

Icy streets caused many minor accidents during the day. Mrs. Alice Zepp, 37, dislocated her shoulder when she fell.

Traffic over the high level bridge to the west side was greatly delayed, icy approaches slowing down vehicles.

tically gone and almost back to his normal health.

Conducts Services Here.

Formby came to East Liverpool about 10 days ago on the lookout for a manager for an art title pottery which he is erecting in Grand Crossing, Florida. He plans to remain here so long as there is need for his services.

He says he is an evangelist and a member of the Jacksonville conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. He plans to turn his manufacturing interests over to a manager as soon as the plant is ready to operate and devote his entire time to faith healing and evangelistic work.

Formby will conduct services every night this week at the Nazarene church headquarters in the old K. & M. dollar store, Fifth street. He has been called to a number of homes and has also received scores of callers at the Thompson House, Broadway, where he is a guest. He claims to have anointed more than 100 persons suffering from various ailments since coming to East Liverpool. He makes no charges for his services, neither will he accept compensation in any form.

Cures Case of Paralysis.

Formby's first case of faith healing occurred a few days after he came to the city. He had just eaten his dinner at the Ceramic Cafeteria, when his attention was attracted to a conversation in the David Chetwynd dry cleaning establishment, occupying quarters in the building. Mrs. Chetwynd, wife of the proprietor, was explaining to a party of friends a paralysis, which caused her right hand to close like a clinched fist. Physicians were unable to assign a cause for the ailment or prescribe for it.

Formby asked that he might see her hand and laying his hand upon Mrs. Chetwynd's fist, offered a brief prayer. He then ordered her to open her fist. She gradually spread her fingers and in a few minutes she had recovered complete use of the member.

Mrs. Charles McKinnon, Mapletree street, who was a sufferer from an affliction of one leg, causing her to be crippled, also has been cured. Miss Gladys Green of Wellsville had an impediment of the speech removed. An infant baby from Chester, suffering from a neck paralysis, was restored to normalcy at Sunday afternoon's service. Another man suffering from a crippleness of the leg, was cured. A woman, almost deaf, professed to have been helped. Another, reported to have been almost blind, claimed to be able to see better after being anointed.

Judge Landis Offers To Pay Expenses to Get O'Connell Story

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—In a cablegram received at the local district attorney's office today, Judge Landis offered to defray the expenses of an emissary to Jimmy O'Connell, who has declined to come here from California to testify in the baseball inquiry.

The emissary's visit would be made to obtain testimony of O'Connell, withheld by the latter because he has been refused immunity here. The same agent would also take the deposition of "Bill" Cunningham, Boston outfielder, who is ill.

The judge's cablegram, sent from Balboa, in the canal zone, reads:

"In view of O'Connell's refusal and Cunningham's illness, would gladly defray expenses of your representative to visit in interview them.

(Signed) "LANDIS."

Makes Anniversary Holiday

Gustave Scheltz broke his record for working twenty-five years without a day off, including Sunday, recently, when at Pana, Ill., he asked for a day of rest in order to celebrate with his wife their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. The family includes twelve children.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Oil stocks furnished the center of speculative interest and activity in the early trading today. Individual and pool traders who in the past few months have been devoting themselves chiefly to the railroad and specialty stocks have finally turned their attention to the oil shares on the theory that after a series of false starts, the oils are finally in condition to reflect a remarkable change for the better in the oil industry.

Desuite heavy production of crude oil last year, 1924 was the first year since 1906 in which production was less than consumption. The last three months of the year witnessed a heavy drainage on stored oil products and an unusually large consumption is anticipated for 1925. No further increases in gasoline prices were announced previous to the opening of the market, but Corning crude oil in Pennsylvania was marked up 25 cents a barrel to $1.95.

Skelly oil sold above 30 for the first time since 1923. Sinclair advanced to a new high at 24¾ and new forward movements were inaugurated by Shell Union, Cosden, Pan-American and a dozen or more of the independent shares which have been prominent in recent weeks. Trading was very heavy in this period.

There was every evidence aplenty in the financial district that domestic trade in the first few weeks of the new year is running ahead of normal, though there is nothing approaching a boom in sight. Call money was renewed at 3½. Grain markets were slightly reactionary at the opening and cotton at the opening reflected the absence of Southern rain and the better reports from textile trade centers.

A few of the rails and industrials attracted attention by their strength and activity in the first hour. Missouri Pacific, the Katy stocks, New York Central, New Haven and Atchison were the leaders in the rails, while Mack trucks, Gulf States Steel and American Can featured the industrials. Mack trucks advanced by fractional stages to 139½, a gain of seven points and the Gulf States Steel pushed through 90. American and foreign power sold up 2 points to 36 in active trading. General Electric which sold at the distribution of Electric Bond and Share company stock, opened at 241¼ which would place a valuation of 67⅜ on the stock distributed.

Columbus Health Authorities Act in Spotted Fever Cases

COLUMBUS, Feb. 2—Health authorities here today are seeking to prevent spread of an epidemic of spinal meningitis, the deadly spotted fever, which thus far is believed to have claimed two victims, among Ohio state university students.

An autopsy on the body of David Pusken, Canton, Junior in the college of journalism, who died 20 minutes after he was seized with convulsions, Sunday morning, disclosed that spinal meningitis caused death. Dr. J. A. Berr, city health commissioner, said the virulent epidemic form was the only type of meningitis which could have caused death so quickly.

The other victim was Charles H. Hulls, 22, Logan. Death was supposed to have been caused by tetanus. An autopsy is planned at Logan today to determine definitely the cause of death.

Students who have been exposed to either of the victims have been ordered to report daily for examination to Dr. H. S. Wingert, head of the Ohio State University student health service.

Capital Committee Recommends Seating Of Senator Mayfield

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The senate privilege and elections committee today unanimously recommended dismissal of the case protesting the seating of Senator Earle B. Mayfield, Democrat of Texas.

Mayfield's seat was contested by George E. B. Peddy on the grounds of "fraud and intimidation." Peddy charged that the Ku Klux Klan spent money "excessively" in securing Mayfield's election.

O. N. G. INSTRUCTOR POST IS FILLED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. — Captain George R. Middleton, now on duty at Fort Sheridan, Ill., is assigned as an instructor of the Ohio National Guard, with station at Columbus, O., in orders issued by the war department today.

GRECO-TURKISH WAR IS FEARED

Athens in Warlike Mood Over Expulsion of Patriarch.

ATHENS, Feb. 2.—Warlike sentiment still stirred a part of the population of the capital today, although the government was endeavoring to maintain a calm attitude while awaiting a reply from Turkey to the Greek protest against expulsion of Ecumenical Patriarch from Constantinople.

ANGORA, Feb. 2.—Mustapha Kemal, president of the Turkish republic today had taken personal charge of the Turkish end of the Greco-Turkish controversy.

It was understood that Turkey took the attitude that the expulsion of the patriarch was an internal question which Turkey alone could handle and that Greece had no right of intervention.

The Greek population of Turkey is considerably stirred up and some portions of the Turkish population are in a belligerent mood.

PARIS, Feb. 2.—The French government endeavored today to bring about a friendly feeling between Greece and Turkey. Premier Herriot received separately the Greek minister and the Turkish minister. Herriot, it was officially announced, strongly urged the necessity of reaching an agreement on the question of Greece maintaining an Ecumenical Patriarch in Constantinople.

GENEVA, Feb. 2—The proposal made in Athens that the League of Nations be called upon to pass judgment on the expulsion of the head of the Greek church from Constantinople has not come to the league in any official form, it was said today by the league Secretariat.

ATTENDS SUNDAY SCHOOL 11 YEARS

Miss Gertrude Hixon, daughter of B. Hixon, 2920 East 71st street, Cleveland, former local resident, possesses a Sunday school attendance record that is hard to beat.

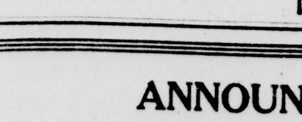

Miss Hixon, according to her father, has attended Sunday school for 11 years without missing. When she was away from home at times, she attended Sunday school in the city in which she chanced to be visiting, bringing back with her a card from the minister of the church in which she attended to show she had been present. For her regular attendance she received a pin. The first year she received a crown, the second year a wreath and for the remaining nine years, gold bars, one for each year. She was the only member of her class who started and finished the eleven years.

She has lately attended the Immanuel Evangelical church in Cleveland.

He Coughed For Two Years Swore Off

After coughing for two years almost continuously a man of considerable means got thin and tired and worn out, made his will, and was ready to quit the big game of life.

A friend spoke to him about Bronchuline Emulsion and now life to him is very sweet indeed.

That's the kind of a cough that is put out of business with amazing speed when the cougher is wise to Bronchuline Emulsion.

Tough old coughs—persistent coughs—coughs that hang on and rob people of their sleep—those are the kind of coughs Bronchuline likes to tackle.

Many times such coughs linger after the Grip or a heavy cold, and if you have one or know of anyone who has one keep Bronchuline Emulsion in mind.

It isn't just a cheap sweet cough syrup—it's the best cough remedy—and the best is never cheap. Jesse D. Holloway and Carnahan's Drug Stores, East Liverpool and Newell, W. Va., and dealers everywhere can supply you.

SCHOOL TO GET POET'S PICTURE

The Wellsville Twentieth Century club will present the local high school with a handsome photogravure of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

Plans for the presentation, which probably will be made on February 27, the great poet's birthday, are now being framed by the club, officers announced today.

The picture was given to the club a number of years ago by the Longfellow Memorial association. At that time the association was striving to complete a memorial home. The Wellsville Twentieth Century club made a substantial donation. In return the club received the picture.

Writing of Poetry Japanese Pastime; Competition Keen

TOKIO, Feb.—Writing poetry is a popular pastime in Japan.

Each year the Imperial Poetry bureau, naming a subject, invites the budding versifiers of the nation to submit poems. The ten best poems are selected and read at the Imperial Poetry party, held annually at the Imperial palace.

This year the subject was "Mountain Ranges Under a Blue Sky," and 16,000 hopeful contestants thought they knew enough about it to warrant putting their ideas into verse.

Ban Removed.

AMHERST, Feb.—Ban against church services and other gatherings, due to a scarlet fever epidemic, has been lifted by Mayor Ruth, South Amherst. The epidemic raged since October. While the ban was effective, Rev. Shirl B. Bartlett, pastor of the Congregational church, mailed his Sunday sermon to each member of his congregation.

South Carolina Deposes King Cotton In Farm Revolution

Diversification of Crops and Establishment of Canneries Bring Prosperity in Southland.

COLUMBUS, S. C., Jan.—The past two years have witnessed an agricultural revolution in South Carolina—diversification of crops and the downfall of King Cotton.

Cotton, the once all-important crop of this state, has given way to a state-wide "cow, hog, hen," method of farming. New crops, always ignored with skepticism by the farmers, have come into importance overnight.

For the past twelve years the Extension Service of South Carolina has been hammering on crop diversification as a fortification against the invasion of the boll wevil, and now that goal has been reached. The problems of marketing have been wrestled with when they came into being, and it is now recognized that some of the most effective pioneer work in marketing new crops systematically and co-operatively has been accomplished through the different county marketing associations scattered throughout the state.

During the past two years peach shipments have nearly run into three figures; apples moved in carlots from this state for the first time in its history; thousands of cars of corn and hay were shipped; two cars of grapes were shipped for the first time.

In Clarendon and Sumter counties, canneries sprang up overnight. One was located at Maning, one at Summerton and another at Sumter. During the bean and tomato seasons carload after carload of these products was shipped to the northern and western markets, even as far as California.

Not only were beans and tomatoes canned, but, also, spinach and potatoes. During the winter months, Florida grapefruit were canned and shipped all over the United States.

The change in agricultural methods was due primarily to the coming of the boll wevil, agricultural experts said. The enormous cotton production was crippled, and as a result of this the farmers were forced into new and uncharted channels.

The success of this truck movement in farming was made possible by the numerous marketing agencies which were organized in different sections of the state, it was said.

To Sell Natural Gas.

POMEROY, Feb.—A company is being incorporated here to pipe and sell natural gas in this field, it is reliably reported here. The output of several large gas wells in this district is being wasted, it was claimed.

"Emergency Clause"

Judging from the frequency of its use, council is overworking the "emergency clause" in legislation placed on the municipal statute books.

With the exception of the measure providing salary increases for the assistants in the offices of the city auditor and water works clerk as well as the street commissioner, street laborers, teamsters and truck drivers, all of them underpaid, most of the ordinances approved in the last month have contained the clause which prevents a referendum vote in the event the legislation is objectionable.

Among the emergency measures adopted in January were the fine-splitting dry detective ordinances, which are blamed for the inter-city enforcement officers' war, and the city jail turnkey legislation. The latter act, the sole purpose of which was to give the city hall janitor police powers outside the municipal building, was enacted Friday night.

Judging from the present day interpretation of the meaning of the term, none of these ordinances was in any sense an emergency.

Five of the seven members of the city council who supported the legislation should refer to Webster's international dictionary hereafter before voting for the emergency clause. The dictionary defines the term in the following fashion:

"Emergency, n.; pl. cies (Cf. LL. emergentia) 1. Act of emerging; esp. sudden or unexpected appearance or occurence.

"2. An unforeseen occurrence or combination of circumstances which calls for immediate action or remedy; pressing necessity; exigency.

"3. Sports. A substitute; an emergency man.

"Syn.—Crisis, conjuncture, exigency, pinch, strait, necessity."

It should be interesting to know the "crises" or "exigencies" that prompted enactment of the various legislative acts.

The Court and the Senate

World court sentiment has been growing steadily, though slowly, until it seems plain to a disinterested observer that public opinion is ready for adherence to the court. Though there is still considerable doubt and criticism based on the indirect connection between the tribunal and the league of nations, the majority of citizens do not regard that as an insuperable objection.

Millions are willing to join the other half-hundred nations already pledged to uphold the court and submit their differences to it, even as matters stand. Other millions are willing to go in with modest reservations or amendments making it plain that the league shall not dominate the court, and that America shall have proper freedom of action.

Official acceptance, however, rests with the senate.

The administration's position is clear. Three presidents in succession have favored the court, regarding it as the latest and most effective development in an old, traditional and non-partisan American policy for the submission of international disputes to international adjudication. If the house of representatives had power in this matter, there would be no doubt of approval.

It remains to be seen whether senatorial politics and pride can thwart the desire of the president and people, upheld by organized labor, organized womanhood, organized religions, civic associations and the legal profession.

Cause of Drug Habit

Dr. John A. Amyot, deputy minister of health for Canada, believes that nowadays only about 3 to 5 per cent of all drug addicts are caught in the toils of habit-forming drugs through taking them for medical reasons. "That group will become less and less, for the medical profession realizes that more care should be taken."

A great many addicts begin by seeking a new thrill or for some imagined fun to be derived therefrom or yield to the tempting suggestion because they are tired or bored. Drastic restriction of production of habit-forming drugs is one form of prevention urged by this doctor. The other is widespread education as to the folly and danger of the misuse of narcotic drugs.

Haskin Letter

FORTUNATE ERRORS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Consider the philatelist; how contrarily he works. Queer things have always been done in the name of collecting and all collectors have come to be regarded as having rules of their own by which they live and operate. But nothing they have done is more contrary to usual laws than the manner in which they have turned mistakes into fortunes. Since time was, people have professed to derive indirect profit from their mistakes, but the collector actually does reap material gain from errors.

Where do all the rare stamps come from? For what does the philatelist value them? There are the old stamps, of course, such as the postmaster stamps of the days before there were government issues, and there are stamps valuable for their sheer beauty of design and execution. There are the stamps of foreign countries which have had various political experiences such as the Alsace and Lorraine issues of 1870-1871. These are interesting as history.

But an exceedingly important and, to the layman, surprising source of rare stamps is the error. In every issue of stamps errors occur and every error increased the value of a stamp for the philatelist, but the error he loves best and the one for which he watchfully waits whenever a new issue of stamps is due is the inverted error. The inverted error is always liable to occur when the issue is a bi-color job, which means that the sheets must be printed twice. The is the danger, from the standpoint of the bureau of engraving and printing, and the hope from the standpoint of the philatelist, that in the second printing at least one sheet will be turned upside down and come out with an inverted center. The last time the philatelic world had a thrill of this kind was in 1918 when the bi-color aero stamp issue was printed.

A young private stamp collector picked up fifteen thousand dollars for the error made in this issue. The collector was Mr. Robey, of Washington, D. C., who is a jeweler by trade and a philatelist by choice. He had been watching for the appearance of the new issue and when it came he started out to buy a 24c aero stamp. Sure enough, in a little branch postoffice of Washington he discovered his error—a stamp with its airplane inverted. He bought the entire pane of a hundred stamps and then called the clerk's attention to the error. The issue was called in and a hunt made for other errors by the postoffice officials, but no more were found. The other three panes of the sheet of errors were discovered at the bureau.

Mr. Robey sold his block of stamps to Mr. Eugene Klein, of Philadelphia, for $15,000, and the dealer in turn sold them to Colonel Green, son of Hetty Green, for $20,000. Colonel Green broke the block, kept some for his own collection and put the others on sale on the regular market. They bring $750 now and the stamp is said to have a "good future." Which means, hold on to your 24c error if you have one.

ERRORS RARE IN UNITED STATES

The philatelist must wish sometimes that our government were a little more obliging in this respect, since errors are seldom made in the United States. One authoritative philatelist says there are indications that foreign governments are more willing to co-operate with the stamp collectors by turning out a respectable number of errors in every issue. Uncle Sam seems to resent the collector's greedy approval of his mistakes and he refuses to make any more of them than he can help.

The first inverted error on record was made in 1869 in the 15, the 24 and the 30 cent values. Some of these got into the hands of collectors before they were found and called in. An unsold copy of the 15 cent value was sold in New York recently for $1,400 and an unused 30 cent value fetched $5,400. Stamps, like eggs, are valuable in proportion as they are scarce.

In the 1901 Pan-American set there were inverted errors in the 1, 2 and 4 cent values. These have never demanded prices in four figures yet, they will rise in value as they disappear into collections not on the market.

The most sensational error that has ever been made in the United States was the famous "5c red error" of 1915. Its value is not yet great because it had such a wide distribution before it was called in. The price ranges from ten to fourteen dollars, according to whether the stamp has ten perforations or eleven, or no perforations at all. The 5c error is interesting on account of the improbable way in which the mistake came about.

When the plates were ready for printing a proof was pulled and submitted to the inspector for approval. On proof of plate 7942 the inspector marked three impressions as lighter in tone than the others. These three were ordered removed from the plate and new impressions made. When the printer called for the roller to make these new impressions he received by mistake the roller for the 5c value which greatly resembles the 2c roller upside down.

MANY OF THIS ERROR ISSUED

Nobody caught the mistake and the plate was approved and put to press. From March 7 until May 2 the sale of the issue went on before the error was discovered. Almost fifty thousand sheets had been printed in that time and on each sheet were three errors. Many of these were returned to the postoffice, but many also got into the hands of collectors who keep them in safety vaults.

There are many stories of how the five cent error was discovered. One of the most amusing is that from down in Virginia a letter of complaint was received at the United States postoffice to the effect that the postmaster had received a sheet of stamps on which the values were all mixed up. It made his accounting difficult, especially as the odd 5c values were in red like the twos and not in blue as usual.

Mr. Harry B. Mason, an enthusiastic and interesting philatelist in Washington, D. C., repeats a story told by an old stamp dealer on himself. It was in the early days of 1869. One day a collector brought into the shop of the veteran dealer one hundred copies of an interesting stamp. The dealer looked them over carefully and found that only ten of them were correct copies. These he bought, but rejected the other ninety because the printer had made a mistake and got the picture in the center upside down.

But that was in the days when minor errors were more common, collectors less common and before the error had come into its own. Collectors had not yet begun trading in mistakes, giving fortunes for fifteen cent errors.

It is not to be supposed that only four errors have been made since 1869. Errors are being made all the time. Errors of inks and colors and errors in perforating. Down at the bureau of engraving and printing they confess to many mistakes in every printing but to the expectant, eager philatelist it seems a long time between errors.

DINNER STORIES

He jumped over the fence and proceeded down the river bank. Would he ever find a place where the fish would ever stay on the hook?

But, after a wicked fish had eaten his bait for about the hundredth time and as he was using his last worm, a keeper came up and tapped him on the shoulder.

"My man," he said, "are you aware that this water is private and that you are not allowed to take fish from it?"

"Great Scott!" replied the angler wearily, "I'm not taking your fish; I'm feeding them."

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By ALICE LANGELIER.

PARIS, Feb. 2.—To keep up its reputation as the City of Light, Paris, of course, has to use a great amount of electric light. In fact, it is almost exceeding the limit and many extensions have been made necessary to the plants. Monsieur Naudin, the prefect of the Seine, says that demand is exceeding supply, and proposes additional lines and power stations which will cost over one hundred and fifty million francs.

Luminous effects will be a great feature of the 1925 Decorative Art exposition, which will remain open until 10 o'clock every night and even later on special gala occasions. New and beautiful lighting devices are being prepared. One charming device will be a fountain of glass by Lalique, to be set up in front of the Cour des Metiers, where the water splashing over its illuminated glass will produce a fairy-like effect. Light will be everywhere, pouring from towers and balustrades. Even the high supports of the great gates will be luminous and the handsome Pont Alexandre III will be aflame with flashlights that meet and cross their colored rays above the river. On either side of the bridge there will be a Niagara of multi-colored light opposite the luminous fountains springing up from the Seine.

"Flambeau" has gone to join Sarah Bernhardt. Flambeau was the great actress' dog that was given to Louise Abbema, a well-known painter of stage celebrities and one of Sarah's most intimate friends. Every day he accompanied his master to a certain cafe in the rue Daunou, where he would perform a number of old tricks to prove himself worthy among a gathering of entertainers. He followed the funeral cortege of the Divine Sarah to Pere Lachaise and since then had gradually failed.

The poets say a rose lives but for a day, but they will have to change their tune when they write about the turtle-dove. A rare bird has just been discovered at Nogent-sur-Oooise that is on the shady side of forty. She could coo in her younger days, says the owner, but old age has somewhat silenced her and she can no longer use her wings. However, she is in good health and sits up to take her nourishment, which consists of bread crumbs, hemp seed and millet, revived by hot, sweetened wine once in a while.

"She is a regular old girl," says her master.

Some mosquitoes won't bite, says M. Le Gendre, a member of the French Academy of Sciences, who has been closely observing the little pest that sometimes makes summer outings unbearable. He says this type never enters a human dwelling and has an inoffensive character. A few of them were transplanted to the Clarente region, where mosquitoes are really a pest. The Breton species took well to their new surroundings and seem to have chased out a few of the old members of the colony—and all this without a bite.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: Lay late and had coffee brought to my bed, my idea of top notch luxury. Then came R. Brinkerhoff, the limner, and Tom Hogg, of San Antonio, and we talked of this, that and the other.

Thence out in the town and met Billie Burke, who invited me to see her new play, which I intend to do, she being an astress of great charm. Sat awhile with Blind George, the news vendor, and then home again to my stint for several hours.

A light snow failing I donned my great coat and with my dog I owalk around the reservoir and a fellow struck me for a shilling which I gave, but asked why he must beg and he said because he had lost self respect. A fair answer and a pity.

In the evening to Fred Landeck's to a spare rib and sauer-kraut dinner and a gay gathering. We did interpretative dances with jolly mockery, but I fell and tore my breeches leg trying to master the flea hop and had to wear an apron. So to bed.

New York has more than a hundred one man churches—founded by dubious pulpiteers. They have a certain personal magnetism which they use to attract the simple minded and emotional. They exact a certain percentage of the salaries which they use themselves. The meetings are held in obscure halls. There are no charities or other functions of the regular churches. The "pastor" is given to frock coats, boiled shirts and patent leather shoes and is usually an 18 karat charlatan. Some of them hold street meetings, if the weather permits—their favorite meeting place being around the Washington Heights section.

It is an odd assortment of humanity that clots about the chalked bulletin boards along Employment Row on Sixth avenue. Most of the applicants are men who are chronic drifters—drifting from job to job. The bulletin boards tell of jobs open for lunch counter men, pantrymen, cooks, dish washers, porters, delicatessen clerks, elevator operators, doormen, teamsters and the like. The crowds stand together at the curb but rarely converse. There is a tight-lipped silence about them that is rather depressing. Few of them want to work more than a month at a time.

In the midst of the job hunting bubble one finds a school for bricklaying. A rather gaudy sign reads: "Bricklaying—Practical day and evening classes. Our graduates go direct to jobs upon receiving diplomas."

The numerous Bowery Barber colleges are interesting, too. The "students" are taught the tonsorial art by practicing on Bowery bums. A shave is five cents and a hair cut ten in the colleges.

In Pell street in Chinatown there is a kindergarten for children of the quarter. The classes are conducted by an American teacher. It is quite interesting to hear the Chinese children sing "America" in pidgin English.

Around the corner in Chatham square is Beefsteak John's eatery. The floor is carpeted with sawdust and the pine tables are without cloths. Three hard boiled waiters with stubby pompadours do the serving. The patron must pay in advance for his food. There is a filling meal for 15 cents, but the Two Star Special is 25 cents. The original Beefsteak John has gone the way of all flesh. He is said to have amassed a sizable fortune at his stand. There are quite a number of small lunch stands on the Bowery where coffee and rolls are served for three cents. And near Brooklyn bridge is one that serves the same fare for two cents.

TODAY

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

POEM TO COMFORT OLD MEN

Gray hairs were once honored, as meaning wisdom.

Nobobdy need envy the man with gray hair today—unless he was fortunate, wise or selfish enough to store up money when his hair was still black, brown or yellow.

The world does not want the old man. Railroads or other employers do not want him.

Nearly all the very ancient peoples used to put old out of their misery to get rid of them. Some savage tribes, up in the Arctic regions, for instance, still do it.

That is brutal but kinder than the method of our "civilization," which allows the old to die slowly, feeling that they are not wanted, reading the advertisements for "young, energetic men," realizing that neither government power nor private intelligence makes any effort to use the old and pay them fairly.

NEED IT IN THIS NATION

The greatest waste in the world is the deliberate loss of power, experience, consciousness and moral character possessed by the old far more than by the young.

When you deal with a gray-haired man you know that you are dealing with something permanent.

What he can do today he can and will do tomorrow.

You may trust an old man or woman when you cannot as well trust one younger.

Work of all kinds might be so arranged that the older human beings would do it together, not on the present arrangement in which the young, working at high speed, force the old to desperate, destructive effort.

BURN MEN UP QUICKLY

Some of the old may find a moment's comfort in six verses which we quote here from a poem written by S. C. Dunham, entitled "The Great White Way."

It is the white way that leads from this life of darkness and trouble to the life—whatever it may be—that awaits us on the far side of a funeral service.

Mr. Dunham allows us to reprint the following verses of his copyrighted poem. Death is talking and addressing the old man.

"The bitter buffetings of Life
Have made your heart grow cold;
You feel you've lost your usefulness
Because you're growing old.
I bring a message that will make
Your heart grow warm and bold.

"The world has need of its old men,
who've borne the stress and strain
And struggled through Life's turbid slough
Of sorrow, want and pain—
Old men whose great, unconquered souls
Their love for men retain.

"'Tis such as these that greatly please
The Master of the Plan,
And in their sojourn here below;
Since first my work began,
He has decreed they may exceed
This life life's allotted span.

"Still higher up I'll show you all
The mysteries of space—
A hundred million giant suns
In their eternal race
Along the speedway of the spheres,
To hold their world in place.

"And then you'll view the Promised Land,
Out where the Home Sun gleams
O'er verdant hills and peaceful vales
And bright celestial streams;
Where all lost things are found again—
The country of your dreams."

Death ceased to speak; he gently smiled,
Then turned and quickly strode
Down where the far-spread city lights
Like scattered diamonds glowed,
And left me standing there alone
Beside the lonesome road.

THEN TO HUMAN ASH HEAP

Just what is it that death shows to the old man, and to the child dead in the cradle or dead before its birth, no man knows.

Faith tells different stories to the faithful, and they are happy in believing what they are told.

This much is certain, Divine power wherever we see it rules with justice. It is the fault of us human beings that we are unhappy, selfish—the few with too much and the many with too little.

We grow in strength bodily for the first 40 years of our life.

We grow in strength, patience and intelligence mentally for the last 30, 40 or 50 years.

We see the human race improving, this earth of ours itself improving. Each year is a better year.

We see nothing but improvement and we are justified in believing that death shows the old man that which is better than anything seen before.

Just at present what old age views, unless it happens to be rich old age, is not very cheerful.

WHO'S WHO

CHARLES WINFIELD WATERMAN.

The general counsel of the federal oil conservation board, just appointed by President Coolidge, is Charles Winfield Waterman, of Denver. He was the president's personal political representative during the national pre-convention campaign.

C. H. WATERMAN

The federal oil conservation board, which has its headquarters in Washington, was an outgrowth of the Teapot Dome difficulty and is designed to prevent waste and future scandals in the oil reserves of the United States.

Waterman, who is a native of Vermont, the president's home state, was born November 2, 1861. Educated at the University of Vermont, he received his A. B. degree in 1885 and his LL. D. degree in 1922. In 1889 he obtained his LL. B. degree from the University of Michigan.

After graduation from Michigan Waterman settled at Denver, where he began the parctice of law. From 1908 to 1923 he acted as counsel for the Great Western Sugar company. He also represented as counsel the C., B. & Q. R. R. Co., the C., R. I. & P. R. R. Co., the D. & R. G. Ry., the Great Western Railway company and many other corporations.

Waterman is a trustee of the University of Vermont and a member of the American, Colorado state and Denver bar associations.

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND
BY DAISY DEAN

We have been informed on reliable authority, that young Ben Lyon is quite the most promising of the present crop of young leading men of the photoplay world. And the screen is said to be crying for new blood for the noble stuff, too. You know what we ean, nothing bloodthirsty. Ben is said to be somewhat of a heartbreaker off the screen. There has been some talk of him and the bewitching Swanson, even going so far as to say that Ben is carrying around in his pocket a passport in case he should be overwhelmed with loneliness to see Gloria who is making "Madame Sans Gene" in Paris, (you know) and should decide to slip over in a hurry to see her. However, that is pure gossip in which we never indulge.

We do know that Ben is a southern gentleman. That he is tall and good looking and will fight if called a sheik. He was born in Atlanta, Ga., and got his schooling in Baltimore. He had a small part in "Flaming Youth," in which Coleen Moore starred, you remember. He had been on the legitimate stage before this, making his debut in "Seventeen" and his first stage hit as the hero in "Mary the Third."

He was Gloria Swanson's leading man in "Wages of Virtue" and Pola Negri's in "Lily of the Dust." And he has just finished the role of Colleen Moore's son in the picturization of Edna Ferber's story, "So Big." First National is grooming him for stardom, we hear, so watch for the charming Ben—and he is really charming. You will see him shortly in "One Way Street" which John Francis Dillon directed, and later in "Uhiah's Son."

Ben Lyon Is No Sheik, He Says

Handsome Ben Lyon, film actor, is ready to fight anyone who refers to him as a "sheik." Ben is popular with the ladies, nevertheless. He was with Gloria Swanson in "Wages of Virtue," with Pola Negri in "Lily of the Dust," and Colleen Moore in "So big."

Alice Terry is to play the feminine lead in "Sackcloth and Scarlet," Henry King's production of George Gibb's story. Orville Caldwell plays opposite her. She was to have gone abroad to join her husband, Rex Ingram, to play the feminine lead in "Mare Nostrum," but there seems to be some doubt as to whether her contract will allow her to make the trip. We are all going to be disappointed if this proves to be the case.

Rumors are afloat that Gloria Swanson may break away from Paramount company and join Mary Pickford, Doug. Fairbanks, Chaplin, Joseph Schenck and his wife, Norma Talmadge, etc., in United Artists. This report is not confirmed or denied by United Artists representatives.

Pauline Frederick has recently been divorced from Dr. Rutherford, Seattle physician.

"The Great Barnum" is the name of a photoplay to be made based on the life of the great showman. Who will play Barnum? Wallace Berry has been suggested, also Thomas Meighan.

We are getting up our own list of "best pictures" and will submit it in the near future. We will say, however, that we are satisfied with the judges' choice of "Scaramouche" for first choice.

Rod La Rocque has gone abroad to play opposite Gloria Swanson in "The Coast of Folly."

Rex Ingram writes from Paris that Blasco Ibanez, author of "Marc Nostrum," which Ingram is to direct, entirely approves of the choice of Antonio Mareno for the male lead in the picture.

Herewith is solution to Puzzle No. 89.

Copyright, 1925, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

A WORD FOR BEGINNERS.

The best way to solve a cross-word puzzle is to run quickly over the list of horizontal and vertical synonyms and compare them to the spaces in the puzzle extending crosswise or downward from the number of the synonym. Some word which will just fit in the number of space available will quickly occur to you in some instances, giving you a foundation from which to solve the more difficult words. The words must interlock perfectly.

POEMS THAT LIVE

Come, Rest in This Bosom

Come, rest in this bosom, my own stricken deer,
Though the herd have fled from thee, thy home is still here;
Here still is the smile that no cloud can o'ercast,
And a heart and a hand all thy own to the last.

Oh, what was love made for, if 'tis not the same
Through joy and through torment, through glory and shame?
I know not, I ask not, if guilt's in that heart,
I but know that I love thee, whatever thou art.

Thou hast called me thy angel in moments of bliss,
And thy angel I'll be 'mid the horrors of this,
Through the furnace, unshrinking, thy steps to pursue,
And shield thee, and save thee — or perish there, too!

—Thomas Moore.

A long belt and a short breath.
For a blood pressure of two hundred, a diet of vegetables.

How old is Anne?
Nobody knows;
For the longer she lives
The younger she grows.

HOLLIDAY'S COVE WILL CALL VOTE

Electors of Hollidays Cove will be called upon soon to vote on the new charter form of government, the bill for which was passed by the legislature and signed by Governor Morgan. The proposal was one of the few emergency measures adopted at the short session which closed last Wednesday.

Council sanctioned the plan after it was approved by a committee of citizens who drafted it. No opposition was voiced to passage when it came before the legislature. It was introduced by Delegate J. William Moulds of Weirton.

British Smoking Far Fewer "Fags" Than Year Ago

LONDON, Feb. The world is smoking less, due to high prices and shortness of money.

According to the Tobacco World 1,000,000 pounds less per month is being smoked at the present time than in 1923.

This decrease is not reflected in the dividends of the great tobacco concerns, which all registered increased profits and dividends on shares.

Manufacturers are of the opinion that the decrease is probably due to the economizing of the middle-class citizen, who cannot afford the high cost of cigarettes and is taking to the cheaper and more economical pipe.

Harrowing Experience.

ELYRIA, Jan.—Paul Buechler underwent a harrowing experience when a B. & O. freight train hit the truck ried 20 car lengths, the engine de- he was driving. The truck was carralled and the fire department was called out to prevent the gasoline, wheih ignited on the demolished truck from firing the freight train.

WEIRTON MILL WORKER KILLED

Guam Camo, 53, Spaniard, Struck on Head By Swinging Crane.

Guam Camo, 53 years old, Spaniard, was almost instantly killed yesterday at Weirton when he was struck on the head by a scule bucket while standing on top of a coal car in the plant of the Weirton Steel company. He was knocked to the ground and when reached by fellow workmen was found to have suffered a broken neck. He was taken to the emergency hospital where he died.

The victim, who was employed in the blooming mill was unloading coal and failed to notice the approach of the large bucket in the swinging crane which was operating close to the car. He came to this country only a short time ago and leaves a wife and five children in Spain.

Coroner George A. Arner was notified and held an inquest. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

RETIRED FARMER NOW LIES DOWN TO PLEASANT DREAMS

Resided in Same Locality for Over Three Score Years and Enjoys Life at Advanced Age—Ka-di-ok Did It.

MR. JOHN PATTON,
Sharon, Pa.

After a residence of over three score years in practically the same locality, Mr. John Patton, a retired farmer, now living with his son at 620 West State street, Sharon, Pa., is enjoying excellent health at an advanced age, and is getting much of the pleasure of living out of life.

This was not so some few months ago, when Mr. Patton suffered from stomach trouble, with dizziness, weakness, poor appetite, sleeplessness, and a general all run-down condition.

A friend, noting his condition, advised him to try Ka-di-ok, the wonderful nerve tonic, vitalizer and system toner, and after a short trial, Mr. Patton advised the Ka-di-ok representative that he is no longer suffering from dizzy spells, can eat and sleep better and does not feel so tired out as he did before. He declared Ka-di-ok is the real goods and is recommending its use to his friends.

Others suffering from the ills and weaknesses of advanced age can get surcease from their troubles through Ka-di-ok. It is also indicated for rheumatism, kidney and liver complaints, auto-intoxication, and many of the ills arising from impoverished blood and stomach troubles.

Make life pleasant by preserving your health and restoring that which has been lost to you for some time past. Ka-di-ok is highly recommended by all.

Ka-di-ok is sold and recommended in East Liverpool by Mathews' Cut Rate Medicine Store, 129 W. Sixth Street.

NEGRO IS FACING SERIOUS CHARGE

Sherdick Flucker, 40, negro, of Stop 39, Beech Bottom, was arrested early yesterday morning and is being held in the Brooke county jail, charged with pistol toting.

George Dickens, 20, negro, who alleges that Flucker threatened him with a gun during a quarrel, will appear as the chief witness.

Sheriff Robert M. Lowe and Deputy J. T. Hoover went to Beech Bottom at 3 o'clock Sunday morning, upon hearing reports of a gun battle on the streets of Beech Bottom. Flucker had fired no shots, however, it was learned.

Flucker was standing in a group of four or five other negroes on a street corner when authorities approached him. He did not offer resistance. A gun was taken from his pockets.

His Advice

"Every winter found me all in. My doctor told me winter was hard on the kidneys, especially after a hard cold or the grip. Uric acid accumulated in the system in excessive amount, the kidneys became clogged, and machinery out of kilter. I suffered from backache, bladder trouble and sometimes had drowsy or dizzy spells. I'm now giving you just the advice the doctor gave me. Go to your neighborhood drug store and ask for Dr. Pierce's An-uric (anti-uric-acid) tablets. They'll fix that backache! You'll soon feel like a fighting-cock and full of ginger."

If you want a trial package of An-uric, (kidney-backache) tablets send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Clinic in Buffalo, N. Y., and write for free advice.

Wellsburg Man Dead.

William C. Saurs, age 65 years, died at 4:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Knights of St. George Home at Wellsburg, following a long illness of a complication of diseases.

Mr. Saurs was born in Wheeling where he spent the greater part of his life. The deceased followed the carpenter trade until the past few years, which time he had led a retired life in the Knights of St. George's Home in Wellsburg.

Mr. Saurs was a member of the Knights of St. George and also of the Holy Name Society of the St. Alphonsus church of Wheeling.

He is survived by one daughter, Regina.

Held on Liquor Count.

Joseph Bachudne is being held in the Wellsburgh jail for a hearing this evening charged with violating the prohibition laws. He was arrested yesterday when Brooke county officials raided his place at Beech Bottom. Four gallons of whiskey were seized by the raiders.

Fills Local Pulpit.

Rev. Charles Bell of Elwood City, Pa., occupied the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church at the services yesterday morning and evening. The pastorate is vacant owing to the recent death of Rev. Herbert O. MacDonald.

Council Tonight.

Council will meet in regular session this evening in the city hall building. Routine matters will be considered.

School Statistics.

Statistics compiled by the state department of education shows McDowell county leads all other counties in the number of pupils attending school for 180 day terms. The enrollment figures are 18,487. Hancock county figures are 4,362, while Brooke is credited with 4,977.

Q. When was the first inaugural ball held? W. W. F.

A. In 1809, when President Madison was inaugurated, for the first time the festivities of the day were continued into the evening and took the form of a dancing assembly or inauguration ball. Both the retiring President, Thomas Jefferson, and the new president, James Madison, attended. The company numbered about 400.

Q. A man weighs 150 pounds. How much is he worth if he is worth his weight in gold? C. E. J.

A. A troy pound of gold would be worth $248.04. An avoirdupois pound would be worth $301.43. The price of gold is fixed by international agreement at $20.67 a troy ounce; 150 avoirdupois pounds of gold would be worth $45,214.50.

Q. How many Bibles are distributed by the American Bible Society? G. A. R.

A. The latest figures are for 1923 when 7,101,289 Bibles were distributed. This was an increase of 2,538,222 over the preceding year. In China alone the increase was over 1,000,000 copies.

Q. Why is the Mississippi river called "The Father of Waters"? R. S.

A. This is a literal translation for the Indian name Mississippi.

Q. How many bananas are used in this country? W. L. P.

A. In 1923 the imports of bananas to the United States was 1,044,689 carload tons of 2,240 pounds.

Q. Whose idea was it to have at Columbia University an "International House" and what religions are represented? D. E.

A. The idea was that of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Edmunds. Bramanism, Buddhism, Christianity, Confuscianism, Judaism, Hinduism, Jainism, Islam or Zoroastrianism are represented.

Q. Kindly tell me what is meant by the water recovery system relative to the dirigible Los Angeles. L. R. J.

A. As the Los Angeles cruises along it uses up gasoline and upon losing gasoline loses weight which makes the ship lighter and gives it a tendency to increase the altitude as it loses weight. This is a disadvantage when landing unless some of the gas is valved by letting it out of the cells. Helium is valuable, however, and is not to be lost when it can be avoided. The water recovery system is an apparatus of which water is recovered from the exhaust gases of the engine by condensation. The water so recovered represents about from 90 per cent to 100 per cent of the weight of the fuel burned. The recovery of water thus compensates for the fuel burned and maintains the lift of the ship at a fixed value.

Q. What is meant by the Arlington time signals as broadcasted? A. B.

A. The Arlington ten o'clock signal is sent out as a check for mariners at sea.

Q. How many wrecks have there been off Sable Island? M. C.

A. From both ends of this island sand bars extend into the ocean for about 20 miles. It is on the route between America and Great Britain and more than 200 wrecks have occurred in these waters.

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

SOCIETY

Bible Literary Club Entertained by Mrs. T. T. McCann

The Bible Literary club met Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. T. T. McCann of Vine street. The sesssion opened with roll call, the response being "A Thought from the Apocrypha." The topic of the day was "The Period Between the Gospels." Mrs. Harry Logan was the leader. Mrs. C. R. Boyce gave an address on "The Greek Language," after which Miss Maud Baum read a paper, prepared by Miss Anna Gardner, on "The Roman World." The questionnaire was conducted as follows:

(a) What is the historical value of the Apocrypha?

(b) Who was ruler at the beginning of the Persian period?

(c) What were some of the developments traceable to this period?

(d) Who were some of the great military leaders of the Grecian period?

(e) Name some of the Jewish sects that sprung up at this time.

(f) In what way did Roman domination affect the Jews?

(g) What was the messianic hope, which grew up among the Jews, prior to the New Testament period?

Informal social hours followed the questionnaire.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. C. T. Larkins of Thompson avenue.

Class Tenders Shower.

A shower was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Reed of East End, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Reed of Alpha street, Friday evening, by members of Class No. 9, of the Second Presbyterian church, of which Mrs. Reed was a member. Mr. and Mrs. Reed, who were recently married were the recipients of many gifts.

After an evening spent informally with music and games, a dinty luncheon was served by Mrs. Reed and her daughter. Covers were arranged for the teacher of the class, William Hill of Smith's Ferry, and the following members: Audrey Terrence, Clotha Rauch, Mildred Hughes, Clara Hughes, Alma Thomas, Lavenia Mahon, Mildred Wain, Marie Moore, Sara Reed, Donald Mahon, Norman Hanes, Harold Reed, Clarence Means. Valentine novelties were used in the appointments, with a color scheme of red and white. Miniature brides and bridegrooms were given as favors.

Mrs. Reed will be remembered as Miss Thelma Mahon of St. George street.

Renaissance Club Meeting.

A delightful meeting was held by members of the Renaissance club, Friday evening, when Mrs. Emmett Gaston entertained in her home in Highland colony with a 6 o'clock dinner. The table was attractively decorated with a color scheme of red and white, Valentine novelties being used in the appointments. Covers were arranged for 14 guests. A large basket of red and white carnations centered the table.

Mrs. Gaston was assisted in serving by Mrs. Frank Flower.

Fancywork and radio were the diversions of the informal social hours. Little Miss Sara Gaston gave a piano selection.

Mrs. J. R. Sheppard was a special guest.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. F. W. Herche of East Eighth street.

Columbiana County Tuberculin Clinic Plans Advancing

Organization of the tuberculosis clinic in Columbiana county is being carried out by Health Commissioner Dr. T. T. Church, together with the nurses of the districts of the county and Salem. Miss Lewis, school nurse; Ann Thomas, Red Cross nurse of Salem, and Miss Louise Steel, county nurse, are being assisted by Miss Grace E. Donsing, organization nurse, from the State Department of Health. The nurses will try to visit every physician in the county and get from him a list of patients who in his opinion would benefit from an examination.
Dr. John E. Monger, director of health, has written every physician in the county a letter explaining the entire program of tuberculosis clinics and their results.
The County Medical society has given its approval to this campaign and promises its co-operation and assistance.
The health commissioners and physicians believe that this clinic will serve the people of Columbiana county by the discovery of many early and suspected cases of tuberculosis.

Rev. Charles Swift Pleads for Passage Of Bible Measure

"The great cry that is now coming from the wardens of penitentiaries and other institutions is "stop the tide of crime,'" declared the Rev. Charles F. Swift, former pastor of the East Liverpool Methodist Protestant church, now of the National Reform association.
He addressed a union church service in the Lisbon Presbyterian church Sunday night, and immediately after the service he left for Columbus to work in behalf of House Bill No 14, which provides for the reading of the Bible in the public schools, and which is to be reported out of committee Wednesday.
"There are two bills now pendin in the House that are vital to the people of this state," the speaker said. "One is the passage of House Bill No. 14, and the other is the killing of a measure that has for its object the commercializing of the Sabbath day, and permit the throwing open of public dance halls on Sunday.
"Pennsylvania legislature at its last session passed a bill providing that the Bible be read in the public school room every morning. Last year three more states were added to the list, Kentucky, North Carolina and South Carolina. There are 10 states having such a law, and it looks as if Ohio will be the next state to go over with this bill.

Columbiana

Columbiana High School basketball team won its tenth game of the season out of thirteen played, on Friday night when they took over Penhale High of East Youngstown by the score of 32 to 21. Burkle's all around work featured, although both he and Capt. Metz were in a weakened condition from colds. Rupert lead the scoring with 14 points, although he missed a score of easy shots.
Columbiana girls were defeated by the Penhale lassies, 27 to 18 in a wierd game, featured by reversals of form on the part of both teams. C. H. S. could do nothing in the first half, which ended 21 to 2 in favor of Penhale, but showed a complete reversal of form at the start of the second half and held Penhale to six points while scoring sixteen themselves. The work of Orr and Funk at guard in the second half was especially good.
Sunset Temple No. 364, Pythian Sisters, of Columbiana, played a prominent part in the district convention held at East Palestine. The Columbiana degree staff put on the initiatory work, and the local order also secured the convention for next year. The other temples represented at the convention were: Beatrice Temple No. 21, East Liverpool; Home Temple No. 56, East Palestine; Friendship Temple No. 100, Salem; Tigredia Temple No. 138, Leetonia; Silver Star Temple No. 244, Wellsville; Lisbon Temple No. 284, Lisbon; Pride of the Valley Temple, Washingtonville; Irondale Temple No. 407, Irondale; Empire Temple No. 418, Empire; Esther Desmond Temple, No. 447, Sebring; Pleasant Valley Temple No. 539; and New Summerset Temple No. 531, New Summerset. TIMELY VIEWS & WORLD TOPICS

"TRADITIONS OF MONROE DOCTORINE MUST BE MAINTAINED.

"The foreign policy of the United States," said Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois recently at the moment he was being mentioned for the ambassadorial post at Rome, "may be repugnant to some of us, it may be acceptable to some of us, or, again, some of us may approve its general tendencies and broad purposes while we criticize it in detail. There is, none the less, an American foreign policy influential upon the course of events in Asia, in Europe and in the two Americas. It is the traditional foreign policy of the United States.

This traditional foreign policy of the U. S. is a policy not of isolation, but of independence; a policy of collaboration, and not of alliance. It is primarily an American policy and not a European policy or an Asiatic policy or a world policy.

"It was the Senate which hesisted the annexation of the Dominican Republic; it was the Senate which first declared against the annexation of Cuba; it was the Senate which ratified, with Monroe-like reservations to preserve our traditional American policy, the acts of Berlin and Brussels, as well as The Hague treaties; it was the action of the Senate which made the Panama Canal an American Canal and not a neutral canal and which made it possible to guard the canal, both by fortification in Panama and by the establishment of a naval base at Guantanamo.

People's Desires Mirrored.

"The Senate acted thus, if I read aright the history of the country, in response to the common judgment of the American people, who are unwilling to assume political responsibilities in Europe or Asia and who increasingly resented the activity or the intervention of great powers in the Caribbean area, and, indeed, by threat of war, exypelled the French from Mexico, as, by actual war, they expelled Spain from the Antilles.

"By that war we drove an European colonial power from the Americas. With the establishment of Cuban independence, we gave evidence that we no longer cared to acquire sovereignty over peoples and territories to the south of us, but, at the same time, inaugurated that policy under which we have made ourselves the protectors of the Caribbean states, not only against enemies from without, against revolutionaries from within.

"The treaties under which we advise and participate in the government of Havti and the Dominican Republic are born directly of the policies under which we excluded the British from the isthmus and expelled Spain from Cuba and established what is tantamount to a protectorate over the Caribbean.

Nation's Influence Strengthened

Under international law one of the weaker European states might transfer the remnants of its West Indian colonies to one of the greater European states, but we would not permit. We should not submit that right of transfer under international law to the Hague court.

"We are not less influential, but more influential, because that is our policy. Our detachment from European complexities, our aloofness from the international Tammany and our attachment to American security at home and our influence abroad in solving the most urgent foreign problems, when we consent to join in their solution.

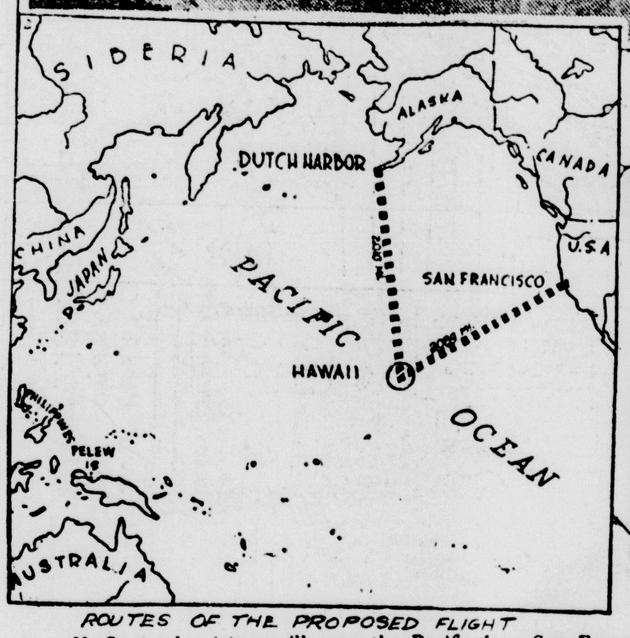

"The United States exercises its greatest influence because it is responsive to the judgment and conscience of the American people."

Flight to Hawaii to Be Part of Greatest U. S. Naval Maneuvers

ROUTES OF THE PROPOSED FLIGHT

U. S. naval aviators will span the Pacific from San Francisco to Hawaii, a distance of 2089 miles, in a non-stop flight, in April, as a part of the greatest maneuvers ever held by the American navy. The purpose of the flight will be to determine the possibility of raising a Hawaiian siege by air assistance from home forces. The combined United States fleet will play the part of an enemy force attacking the islands. The maneuvers will be staged under the direction of Admiral Robert E. Coontz, commander-in-chief. After the flight to Hawaii the aviators hope to "jump" from Honolulu to Dutch Harbor, Unalaska, another 2,000 miles.

Your child, too, can be gay, cheerful and light hearted

You just know she's NOT well

There is no reason for her to look or feel this way

CONSTIPATION means SICKNESS

More human suffering, physical and mental, has resulted from constipation than from any other source. The entire future life of a child can be ruined by lack of attention to the proper daily movement of the bowels. If the bowels do not act at least twice daily it means constipation—that means the bowels are clogged up with the accumulated residue of five to fifteen meals or more with consequent pollution, poison and disease.

Helen D'Algy Stars With Valentino in Film at Ceramic

Helen D'Algy, charming darkeyed, raven haired beauty from Madrid, has the leading feminine role opposite Rudolph Valentino in his new production for Paramount, "A Sainted Devil," at the Ceramic theatre, starting today.

Helen's family left Spain for South America when she was very young, and she and her brother (he has a good role in the cast of "A Sainted Devil") got the stage bug and joined a stock company in Buenos Aires. The girl became an extremely popular actress locally on both stage and screen.

Coming to this country a little over a year ago, Helen met with quite a series of disappointments until Flo Ziegfeld saw her. He was so struck with Miss D'Algy that he immediately signed her up, and she put in a full season with his famous "Follies."

Then followed another attempt at the motion picture game, and her experience in the "Follies" stood her in good stead this time. She was signed for an important part in "Lend Me Your Husband" and did so well in the role that she was given good parts in "The Fool" and "Let No Man Put Asunder." Then followed Paramount's "The Side Show of Life."

At this time the cast of "A Sainted Devil" was being chosen. Only one important role was unfilled, that of Julietta, the girl whom Don Alonzo (Valentino) is in love with, and whom he marries in the end. A number of girls had been brought over to the studio and tested, but were unsatisfactory.

Then, one day while Mr. and Mrs. Valentino were eating lunch at the studio restaurant, Mrs. Valentino heard a girl nearby talking Spanish. Turning to see who it was, the wife of the star saw Helen, who seemed to breathe the very atmosphere of old Spain. Mrs. Valentino saw in her the ideal type for Julietta and, going over to Helen, asked if she would consent to some special tests. Helen, of course, agreed, and the result was that she was given the part. Later Helen's brother Antonio was also given an important role in the same picture.

At the Paramount studio Miss D'Algy is considered a "find." She not only screens like the proverbial "million dollars," but she also is an ex-Helen, of course, looks like a Spanish girl, she is by no means a "type." cel'ent actress. Furthermore, although That is, she does not have to confine herself to one sort of role any more than Bebe Daniels, Nita Naldi or any of the other "Latin" types now famous.

Heated Argument In Chicago Court Without a Sound

CHICAGO, Jan. — A heated argument between eight persons was in full swing, but not a sound was heard.

The group was composed of deaf mutes. Plaintiff, defendent and six other witnesses all speaking at once. Gestures became so violent that the judge "hearing" the case here, in the Small Claims Court, thought the mutes were swearing and threatened to put them out.

The plaintiff was accusing the defendant of taking a ring from her home.

THE DOUBLE HOUSE

Karesia looked up at him, her expression unchanged. "Rand—I don't know how I have lived through the evening. I cannot—do it."

The shock of it flushed him. He had been so utterly mistaken; she had looked so much as she had when she had finally yielded to his pleading five years before; so emotionally tense that she had been drained of color. Rossiter studied her for long moments through a hot mist.

"I am sorry," she said. "I can't help it."

"Why—can't you?" he asked then.

"Because I don't love you, Rand."

Rossiter could see her face more clearly now; he was thinking more clearly. He knew now why she had come looking as she did. "Someone has told you—about him, then?"

"Yes, I know now. I heard it this morning, quite by accident. Then I read all the newspaper accounts of the trials. I know all about it now."

"But he didn't tell you!" Rossiter's lip curled in vivid contempt.

Karesia flushed a little. "How could he tell me such a thing! He meant me to know—he told me again and again to investigate him—before he took my house. He——"

"The damned schemer!" Rossiter said, literally afire. "I could kill him for what he's done to you! I sat in that court room! I say he murdered his wife!" He lifted clenched hands, shaking from head to foot. "He knows that the biggest thing in you is tenderness and sympathy. He knows your trustfulness. He knew that you would never 'investigate!' He's in your house to work out some damned scheme of his—I know it! And you—oh, Lord!" He flung aside and laid his folded arms on the mantel-shelf and buried his face. "Oh, Lord! What an end to it all—what an end——"

Karesia looked at his shaking shoulders, his bent head moving from side to side on his folded arms, his congested neck, heard his convulsive breathing. She neither moved nor spoke, but a flaming spot showed on either cheek.

Gradually Rossiter gained a degree of calmness, and turned. His face was livid, his eyes dull. "Well—what are you going to do, Kara?" he asked.

"There is nothing I can do. But I cannot do what you ask—be your wife."

"Because you love him?"

"Yes."

"Will you tell me why?—a man like that!"

"I think—because I can't help it. I can't help loving him any more than Clarice can help loving you. I understand her better now—she had a bitter childhood and she has had a hard girlhood, her whole life poisoned by disbelief in her father. You came to her like sunshine, a god, something strong and beautiful—and there was the thing that brings a woman to a man and a man to a woman, overpowering. Kind and loving as Edward was to me, I had a starved girlhood. When I met you, it was just youth calling to youth, neither on my part nor on yours overpoweringly—nothing that we might not feel to someone else were the circumstances the same. Do you suppose for a moment that if you had married Clarice instead of me, she would have left you on your wedding night because you came to her staggering and incoherent? Never! I was not so hard-hearted as I seemed, Rand. It was because I felt so sure that we had made a huge mistake. I wrote to you that I would come back, if you wished, because the letter of the law and not its substance constrained me. We are both too big for that now—you rose to the right thing when you told me the other night that you wanted 'the thing that sees a man through—for better or for worse.' I wanted to give it to you—if it was in me to do it. And I am telling you the truth, when I say to you now, that if, during these last few weeks, I had found that you really needed me, that you would go under without me—if I were not so certain that some other woman will fill your life a deal better than I could, I would stay here with you tonight. You had almost forgotten—you had planned a successful life—you were not unhappy. If you were wretchedly poor and ill, if you had a great grief to comfort, if the world were down on you, I would stay—I'd constrain myself to the letter of the law and try to do my best. As it is, it wouldn't be fair to you. But with him . . . Rand, I love him. I believe in him—I pity him so! He's as innocent of that awful thing as you or I. I know now why he looks as he does. Rand, he came to me when my heart was empty——"

She was vivid with emotion, quivering. Rossiter looked at her and visioned her in Dascome's arms. "It's not true," he said through his teeth. "I can't go on without you. He shan't have you!"

Karesia said nothing.

"What has he said to you? There in your house—trying to win you away from me!"

She stiffened. "He has said nothing to me, done nothing—ever! He has never said hard things against you."

"No, he's not honest enough for frank speaking. . . . You and Nadine, both at his feet," Rossiter said scornfully.

He saw her blanch, but she spoke resolutely. "If she has been—loyal to him—I think the more of her. . . . I cannot quarrel with you, Rand—there is so much that is fine in you. I am simply so sorry—to have failed you. I am going now."

He turned his back on her. "Very well—go to him—but just remember that you married me." His voice choked. "I don't trust him—I don't trust him—You and that man! I couldn't bear it!"

Karesia put her hand on his arm. "I can't leave you this way, Rand."

He shook it off. "Let me be, Kara. Go on back to your double house—but remember!"

"I shall try to remember. But I am going to tell him that I believe in him," and she turned away. "I told Suda to come for me."

Rossiter stood, back still turned, lips bitten and hands clenched. He heard her walk the length of the long drawing room—she had gone into the hall. Then he whirled:

"Kara!" he called clearly.

Her voice came back faintly: "Yes——"

"Wait a minute."

TODAY'S RECIPES.

Corn in Ramekins—One small green pepper, one onion, two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, one-half teaspoon salt, a little paprika and mustard, one-half cup milk, one can of corn, yolk of one egg, one-half cup dried bread, buttered cracker crumbs. Wash pepper and remove seeds, cut in small pieces. Cook pepper, onion chopped, and butter five minutes, stirring to prevent burning. Add flour with seasonings and stir until well blended, then pour milk on gradually, stirring constantly. Bring to boiling point, add corn, egg yolk and bread broken in small pieces and cooked until well browned in a little butter. Turned into greased ramekins or baking dish, cover with buttered crumbs and bake in hot oven until crumbs are brown.

Prune Salad—Take all stones out of cooked prunes, fill cavities with seasoned cream cheese. Arrange on bed of either lettuce or chopped cabbage and serve with any preferred dressing.

Rye Popovers — Mix and sift two-thirds cup ryemeal, one-third cup flour and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Add one cup milk gradualley, two well-beaten eggs and one teaspoon melted butter. Beat vigorously two or three minutes with an egg-beater. Turn into hissing hot popover pans and bake in hot oven about 40 minutes.

Apple Pie — Fill deep baking pan with quartered or sliced apples, season with sugar, cinnamon and butter, let cook until almost done. Make rich biscuit dough, roll about half an inch thick, cover pan with same, make slits to let out air, and bake until crust is done. A cup may be inverted in the middle of the apples to hold the juice.

Jimbalays — Put a little butter in a skillet, and when hot stir in one cup of chopped cold meat (beef or veal) and one-half cup of chopped ham if you have it; season with red pepper, salt and finely minced small onion, and one-half cup of cooked rice. Cover closely and simmer for half hour.

Mock Mince Turnovers—Roll rich pastry into a thin sheet and cut in circles. Place in the center of each two tablespoons of the following mixture: Mix together one half cup of seeded raisins, one-fourth cup each of currants and shredded citron, the grated yellow rind and juice of one lemon, four tablespoons of melted butter and three-fourth cup of sugar. Turn the pastry over into neat half circles and crimp the edges of the crust together with the tines of a fork, dipped in flour. Lay in a greased pan, brush over with beaten egg, mixed with a little cold water, and dust lightly with sugar. Bake in a hot oven until crisp and brown.

Sugar Cookies — One heaping cup sugar, one scant cup butter or lard and butter mixed, two eggs, eight teaspoons sweet milk, one-half teaspoon cream of tartar, one-half teaspoon baking soda, flour to roll soft.

Veal Loaf — Three pounds veal, one-half pound salt pork, chopped fine. Six butter crackers, rolled fine, two beaten eggs, salt, pepper and a little sage. Mix well together, put in greased baking pan and baste occasionally while cooking. You may make your own tomato sauce or may use canned tomato soup, which is already seasoned. In the latter case heat the soup and pour it over the loaf when you serve it. In case you prefer to make your own, strain a can of tomatoes, season with butter, pepper, salt, a little sugar, and thicken with a tablespoon of flour or cornstarch if desired.

Clears Complexion

"Oh! how clear and beautiful your complexion is today, my dear!"

THERE is a certain joy—a certain pride—in knowing you are admired, whether it be from father, brother, husband or sweetheart! And back of that joy is the satisfaction of knowing all is well.

Men are fascinated by the charms of beauty. Women gaze with envy, secretly jealous, perhaps, wondering—hoping—praying for that attractiveness which is not theirs. But why the wondering — the hoping — the praying for that craved for attractiveness—that clear skin—that beauty. A clear skin—is the barometer of one's condition. A healthy skin radiates beauty. Pure, clean blood means a clear skin.

S.S.S. is waiting to help you. It will rid your blood of its impurities and give you that clear complexion. Since 1826 S.S.S. has been ridding people of blood impurities, from pimples, from blackheads, boils, eczema and from rheumatism, too. Because S.S.S. is made from fresh herbs and barks, it may be taken with perfect safety. Try it yourself. You will not only look better, but you will feel better, too.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

S.S.S. The World's Best Blood Medicine

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and quickly made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is now made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

35c and 65c, jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00.

MUSTEROLE
WILL NOT BLISTER

Better than a mustard plaster

In making coffee in the percolator with the special perforated container for the freshly ground coffee, follow these rules Rinse pot with boiling water. Put in container one tablespoon of coffee for each person person to be served and one for the pot. By pouring the water at the boiling point (one cupful for each tablespoon of coffee) over the coffee it falls to just the right temperature needed to extract the greatest amount of flavor and aroma.

The dripping process should not last longer than two minutes. Long dripping at a low temperature increases the bitter taste and decreases the flavor and aroma. Serve at once. Letting coffee cool ruins it. If there must be a delay in serving keep the coffee piping hot, but do not let it boil Do not use the ground coffee a second time. Coffee once used has given all its aroma and flaver to the beverage. There is nothing of any value left in the grounds.

Runyon Says

An Old Sport Speaks.
He Tells of Billy McLean.
Oldest Living Ex-Boxer.
He is Now NINETY-ONE.
How John L. Ordered Drinks.

By DAMON RUNYON.
Copyright, 1925, International Feature Service, Inc.

THE Old Sport, wearing a large diamond ring and a large diamond stickpin, is in the train in which this reporter is traveling.

The Old Sport boarded the train at West Philadelphia, and by the time Washington was reached had imparted much information to the writer on bygone pugilistic days around Philadelphia.

These Old Sports are always interesting. It is from them we get most of our colorful data of American Fistiana. Much of the written history of the game touches only the "high spots," so to speak, and in very dry fashion.

The Old Sports, if they have a gift for narrative, put vitality into their tales, though they be detached and fragmentary.

Some day some writer, probably Charles F. Mathison, will give us a complete history of the American prize ring with some of the drama and human interest which marks the writings of the old-time English historians of the game.

You perhaps do not know that the oldest living ex-pugilist in this country is a Philadelphian.

The Old Sport informed the writer of this interesting fact.

The oldest ex-pugilist is Professor Billy McLean, NINETY-ONE years old. The life of this man covers practically the entire pugilistic history of the United States. Think of that!

He once boxed the mighty John L. Sullivan with blackened gloves at the Academy of Music in Philadelphia. McLean was very clever, and at the close of the bout Sullivan was intensely disgusted.

He vowed he never again would go in for such "boy's play," as he called it.

McLean for years conducted boxing schools in Philadelphia. The Old Sport said he taught some representative of every family of consequence in Philadelphia how to box.

The families of consequence in Philadelphia are many, the Old Sport intimated.

In the evening of his long life, Professor Billy McLean has a job as a sort of superintendent of Rittenhouse Square, a noted Philadelphia park in an exclusive neighborhood.

He sees that the children around there don't get hurt. It is a nice, quiet job for an old man.

McLean fought in the bare knuckle days of the ring, later becoming an expert with the gloves. He originated a school of boxing, that is, in the matter of pugilistic style.

He began on a pupil by first teaching him how to step. The Old Sport got out in the aisle of the Pullman to demonstrate the manner of McLean's teaching, and also cracked his skull against the arm of a seat when the train gave a sudden lurch.

But, as he explained, Professor Billy would not permit a pupil to put on gloves until he had learned how to move around and balance himself. Few modern teachers of boxing turn out pupils as well grounded in the fundamentals as McLean's pupils used to be.

In fact, as the Old Sport pessimistically remarked, the teaching of boxing is nowadays well nigh a lost art, particularly among the professionals.

The average young fellow goes into the ring nowadays before he even knows how to put up his hands. In McLean's time as a teacher, even well-known professionals were not above seeking his instruction.

The Old Sport said he recalled that Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, when he was a very good fighter, went to Professor Billy for a few lessons.

Charley McKeever, a real good man of his period, was one of McLean's pupils. He also was managed by McLane. McKeever is dead.

He appeared as one of the principals in what is said to have been the first real boxing show ever held in Delaware county, Pennsylvania. The Old Sport was there.

Two other members of Professor Billy McLean's school, a chap called the Cuban Wonder, and Mike Coyle, were on the card, and McLean made them WALK with him from Philadelphia to the place of battle, near the town of Chester, a considerable distance.

Also McLean made them WALK back after the fights.

The Old Sport opined that if a pugilistic manager made his charges do any walking nowadays, they would complain to the nearest boxing commission.

"The present day boxers are very delicate compared to those oldtimers," he said.

You find in Professor McLean's long life the lesson of PHYSICAL EXERCISE, of which this writer is constantly preaching.

When he was twenty-seven, the Old Sport said, McLean was seized wit' hemorrhages. That ended his active fighting career. Doctors said he would soon die.

McLean began taking systematic exercise, much different from his former training course. He remained in the open as much as possible. He rowed almost daily on the Schulykill river. He worked with moderation, but with consistent REGULARITY in gymnasiums.

At SEVENTY-FIVE, the Old Sport said, almost triumphantly, Professor Billy was still boxing with his pupils.

For years McLean had a cafe at the corner of Ninth and Vine streets in Philadelphia. It was one of the chief resorts of all the "hot sports" of the day. The Old Sport was one of the "hottest," as the writer gathered.

Arthur Chambers, first of the lightweight champions, also had a cafe at Tenth street and Ridge avenue. Chambers died not long ago at eighty-three. Philadelphians live longer than any other Americans.

John L. Sullivan, when in Philadelphia, would go to Chambers' place, a crowd following him. He would toss a hundred dollar bill on the bar, which was much money in those days, and bellow, "Give everybody in the house a drink!"

It was Sullivan's Way, the Old Sport said. That is why everybody loved him in those days.

Of course a hundred dollar bill wouldn't go far in a bar in Philadelphia or anywhere else nowadays, the Old Sport said, because the price of liquor is so much higher. But many men could drink heartily on Sullivan's hundred dollar bill then.

From Chambers' place Sullivan would go to McLean's. The crowd would follow him. There wouldn't be a soul left in Chambers' after Sullivan left. At McLean's, Sullivan would toss a hundred dollar bill on the bar and roar, "Give everybody in the house a drink!"

"Yes, he was a great fellow," sighed the Old Sport. "You don't see any like him nowadays."

"What would the public think nowadays if Jack Dempsey went around tossing money on the bars and inviting everybody in the house to have a drink!" the writer asked.

The old sport pondered the query for some time. Then he said:

"Well, the public would say he was a darned fool—and he would be!"

Ruth Plans Final Drive For New Home Run Record

CONCEDES HIS SLUGGING DAYS ARE NEAR END

King of Swatters Goes to Hot Springs to Take off Weight.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Imbued with the quite plausible belief that the season of 1925 will see him better his home run record or permanently abandon the chase, George H. Ruth, the well-known outfielder, is today enroute for Hot Springs for the purpose of boiling the beef right down to the bone.

Before boarding the train, the Babe declared himself as follows:

He would hit at least 60 home runs and the New York Yankees would win another pennant. He weighed slightly less than what the coal dealers refer to as a short ton.

"I admit that this year probably will mark my last serious attempt to break my record of fifty-nine," the great man said. "I feel, of course, that I am good for at least five or six seasons more as a big leaguer, maybe longer, but as time goes on my chances of beating the record reduce. I have no illusions about that. What was easy when you were a kid becomes increasingly hard as you advance beyond the thirty mark.

The great man expressed here the general opinion of close observers who have witnessed his struggles with the Demon Fat from year to year and they are pleased to note that it is a losing battle. Just what the Babe weighs at the moment must remain a secret for the simple reason that the Babe is like the daisies, he won't tell.

On other matters he was almost loquacious, however. The Yankees seemed to be his favorite theme.

"I think you will see the old club, as it was in 1923, playing ball this year," quoth he. "We just kicked the pennant away last season. Overconfident or something. I'm not trying to take anything away from the Senators. The deserve everything they got and more. But we have the better club and 1925 will prove it. The Tigers are always dangerous, too, and the Athletics are bound to be an improved ball club. However, all I can say is, watch the Yankees.

Many may agree with the young man's ideas here but not with his apparent belief that he has a white man's chance for the home run record. There are too many factors that will mitigate against his efforts.

One of them is the good word emanating from semi-final sources that the day of the slugger is gone. This they say, is to be the pitchers' year and the rather hectic efforts of the

WHO WEARS CROWN AS KING OF ALL THE LIGHTWEIGHTS?

Was Champion Benny Leonard

BENNY LEONARD

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

If we accept Benny Leonard's statement that he is through with the ring FOREVVAH! where shall we place him in the lightweight hall of fame?

In classing fighters one must consider these factors:

Hitting power.
Boxing ability.
Ring science and generalship.
Popularity.
And staying powers.

The last element has become somewhat of a forgotten trait in these days of 10 round dances but it must be considered. It should be an attribute of every champ.

Champions had to have it in the old days to win fights—and popularity. If we ignore the qualification now we handicap the oldtimers. Considering all of these things, where does Leonard stand?

There are three men in the history of the division who can dispute the title of "king" with Leonard.

The first is Jack McAuliffe. And in my opinion he ranks ahead of them all.

McAuliffe has all the attributes of a great champion—the hitting power, the boxing science, the ring generalship and the endurance.

Eight Years a Busy Champ.

Through a period of eight years he defended his lightweight title in a way it has never been defended since. McAuliffe fought in the day of long fights. Could Leonard step into the ring and fight 74 rounds as did Jack against Jem Carney of England on Nov. 16, 1887. That was but one of the long fights in which McAuliffe showed himself master. A sixty-four round draw with Billy Myer two years later, again proved him stamina.

That he emerged from those fights—and eight years as title holder, with with features little marred and no signs of being "punch drunk" proves better than the records his skill as a boxer. He fought in the day when science was young and most of his opponents counted on brute strength. A blow carried dynamite with it. Flesh cracked before it.

Ring fans of his day realized when he retired undefeated that there was not a man then living who could accuse him of being scared out. His popularity increased rather than decreased with the years.

Greater Than "Bat" Nelson

"BAT" NELSON

Bat Nelson ranks as one of the four greatest because he stands alone as a born fighter. Nelson had a fighting heart that has never been checked.

Nelson Fighting Demon.

His gameness was foolhardy. He was a natural hitter. His defense was the natural one—a nerve-breaking offense. He had but one style of fighting—to bore in and wear the other man down at no matter what cost. His opponent, heavy hitter or skilful boxer, found himself fighting a tiger after he had signed to fight a human being. The harder "Bat" was hit the harder he hit. Joe Gans and Ad. Wolgast, both of fighting hearts, drummed tattoes of death on his battered head and only made him smile.

In addition to his hitting power and gameness Nelson had ring generalship—the generalship of a born fighter. His craftiness was the cunning of a Tiger attacking his prey.

Kid Lavigne is the third of the "greats."

Lavigne claimed the lightweight title laid down by McAuliffe.

What better proof of the Kid's greatness can be offered than that he licked Joe Wolcott twice. Wolcott, old timers will recall, fought as a welter weight and eagerly sought bouts with the bigger men.

Lavigne was a hitter, a crafty general and game. His early fights went from 55 to 75 rounds—and were fought in the lumber camps of Michigan.

As for Leonard.

He is by far the best of the lightweights of the present day. Wolgast, Ritchie, Welsh—these men do not rank with him. Welsh was, however, a flashier fighter. Wolgast was a harder hitter. Ritchie was a weak sister as a champion. Lack of formidable opponents has aided Leonard's prestige. He has made it clear against those he met that he was a wonderful boxer, an accurate, hard hitter, and a great ring general. His generalship saved him in two or three fights. Lew Tendler, great little southpaw, had Leonard's title in his grasp one night only to let Leonard kid him out of it while the champion played for time to let his head clear.

But Leonard did not win the nation-wide popularity McAuliffe, Nelson or Lavigne did. For one thing his biggest fights were confined to the east.

And the public has nothing on which to estimate Leonard's powers of endurance. The longest and hardest fights he ever engaged in were the one against Tendler two years ago and one with Rocky Kansas. Both went 15 rounds.

Or Wise Old Jack McAuliffe?

Boone's Squad Downs Champions of 1916

Schoolboys' Condition Tells in Battle With Former Stars.

Like the old gray mare—they ain't what they used to be. For the team that won the northern Ohio scholastic basketball honors in 1916 last Saturday night went down to defeat before Coach O. V. Boone's 1925 quintet on the local high school court. The score was 34 to 29.

Considering that most of the former high school stars have not played the floor game for years, they put up a stiff battle against the youngsters. More than once during the contest they revealed flashes of the form that made them champs nine years ago. During the first and final period the veterans more than held their own.

The game was rough at times but both teams displayed nice passwork. Both quintets were somewhat off color in shooting, the highs, especially, losing a number of tough ones.

The first period was fairly even, the veterans surprising the crowd by their playing. During the second period the superior condition of the school boys told as they set a pace a trifle too fast for their opponents. In the third stanza the highs put the game on ice. The final quarter again saw the Ex-Highs at their best and in this portion of the contest they outscored Boone's boys.

English was the first to count for the school lads, making one from the foul line. Liebschner added a field goal. On a pretty pass from Vorndran, Nate Allen shot in the first points for the Alumni. Pusey and English countered with field goals for the highs. Liebschner hit the hoop for another double decker. Runt Smith showed the crowd he retained some of the ability that made him one of the greatest foul shooters ever turned out by the Blue and White when he dropped in two straight.

English and Fess scored on fouls.

Allen put the leather through the net for the veterans' second field goal. The high five was ahead at the end of the quarter by the score of 10 to 7.

During the second quarters the old stars failed to score, while the highs were making five points. English counted two field goals and Liebschner scored a foul.

The score at the end of the first half was 15 to 7. English started proceedings in the third period with two field goals. McGraw made a foul. Pusey registered two more field goals and two more points on foults. Vorndran tossed in the ball for the veterans' first field goal of the period. Liebschner found the basket for another double marker. Fess registered his first field goal with a shot from the center of the floor. The high school passers were leading by a score of 28 to 11 at the conclusion of the third canto.

National League's Fiftieth Birthday Is Observed Today

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The old regime will clasp hands with the new today when the national league will comemorate the fiftieth anniversary of its founding of the hour and on the sport where the great event took place. It was on February 2, 1875, that the league was organized at the Bradway Central hotel, with Morgan G. Bulkley in the chair. Today, fifty years later, present club-owners and players will mingle with the magnates and stars of a half century ago, in the same room where the league was founded.

Mr. Bulkley and John A. Heydler, the first president and last, will have places of honor at the meeting. The ceremonies will be simple but impressive. They will be followed by a luncheon, where the new and old will have a chance to "visit" and talk about the game that has been handed down through the years as Americas' national pastime.

Notable among the old timers who have accepted invitations are Jack Manning, Boston; Tommy Bond, Hartford; Alonzo Knight and George Bradley, Philadelphia; John Morrill, Boston; Tom Eork and Jack Rusie, whose speed ball is a topic of conversation to this day; John Hornung, Bill Adhlen, Huyler Westervelt, John W. Ward, Sam Crane, former governor John K. Tener, Julian Curtiss, Frank Richter and Ted Sullivan.

Nurmi's Condition Poor for Remaining Races on Schedule

NEW YORK, Feb. 2—According to his friends and advisers, Paavo Nurmi today was in poor physicial condition in facing another week of atempted record breaking on American indoor tracks. The Finn, is was said, is suffering from a leg strain and a heavy cold and can hardly hope to beat his best record for the 2¼ mile special at the Western Union games tomorrow night.

Nurmi also is scheduled to run in a 2½ mile event at the Newark, A. C. games the following evening and in the 3,000 meter special at the Wilco meet on Saturday.

Taberski Climbing On Ralph Greenleaf In Cue Tournament

NEW YORK, Feb. 2—Frank Taberski, New York, made a decided gain upon Ralph Greenleaf, Philadelphia, in the National championship pocket billiard league standing during the week just past and today was 3½ games behind the champion. According to the official standing, Greenleaf has won 38 games and lost 18 and Taberski 31 games with 18 lost. Natalie, of Baltimore, is in third place.

Gibbons Seeking Bouts With Wills And Jack Dempsey

NEW YORK, Feb. 2—Speaking for Tom Gibbons, leading white challenger for the heavyweight title, Eddie Kane is expected to confer with Tex Rickard today for the purpose of signing Gibbons for bouts with Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills. Kane came here accompanied by Gibbons, at the request of Rickard.

Gibbons today spoke freely of his intention to force Dempsey out of his announced retirement and of his desire to meet Wills.

"I would rather fight the champion, of course," Gibbons said. "In that way, I can look forward to winning the title in the ring instead of by acclamation. However, if Dempsey sticks to his determination to remain idle, I will claim the championship and defend it against Wills."

Indoor Loop Teams Ready For Opener

'Y' Baseball Circuit to Start Play Tonight.

Contending teams in the "Y" industrial indoor baseball circuit will swing in action tonight on the "Y" court.

Four clubs make up the league at present. It is possible more may be entered, although there is no definite assurance to this effect.

Laughlin 5, Laughlin 6, Smith-Phillips and Potters are the members of the circuit at present.

Here is the schedule:

Feb. 2—8 p. m., Laughlin 5 vs. Laughlin 6; 8:45 p. m., Smith-Phillips vs. Potters.

Feb. 4—7 p. m., Laughlin 6 vs. Potters; 7:30, Laughlin 5 vs. Smith-Phillips.

Feb. 9—8 p. m., Laughlin 6 vs. Smith-Phillips; 8:45, Laughlin 5 vs. Potters.

Feb. 11—7 p. m., Potters vs. Smith-Phillips; 7:30, Laughlin 6 vs. Laughlin 5.

Feb. 16—8 p. m., Smith-Phillips vs. Laughlin 5; 8:45, Potters vs. Laughlin 6.

Feb. 18—7 p. m., Potters vs. Laughlin 5; 7:30 p. m., Smith-Phillips vs. Laughlin 6.

Walter Hagen Runs Up 11-hole Margin Over Open Champion

By ROBERT E. HARLOW.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 2—Walter Hagen, British open champion, had a big lead today in his unofficial world's golf championship with Cyril Walker American open champion.

Hagen, playing perfect golf all day, led Walker by 11 holes at the conclusion of the first thirty six holes at the Hialeah club in Miami. The final thirty-six will be played Wednesday at Pasadena-on-the-gulf.

Walker, who showed such a fine touch on the putting greens in Detroit, when he won the American open title, was all at sea on the rough greens at Hialeah.

Paying Job.

Pat Monahan, scout for the St. Louis Browns, was held up recently and the robbers got $65 out of Pat's jeans. Now the St. Louis club is swamped with applications for jobs as ivory hunters.

Church Fives Play Three Fast Games

Boulevards, Lutherans and M. E.'s Emerge as Winning Squads.

The Park Boulevards, the Lutherans and the First Methodist Episcopals were victorious in Sunday school league basketball battles Saturday night at the "Y".

The Park Boulevards ran away from the First Baptist five, winning by the score of 45 to 8. The Lutherans more than doubled the score on the United Presbyterians easily taking the contest by the count of 25 to 11, and the First Methodist Episcopals downed the First Presbyterians in a hard fought battle by the score of 19 to 13.

The Boulevards-Baptists game was nothing but a repetition of field goal after field goal for the Boulevards lads.

The Boulevard aggregation scored almost at will all through the game and put up a stone wall defense against their opponents. The Baptists scored only two field goals.

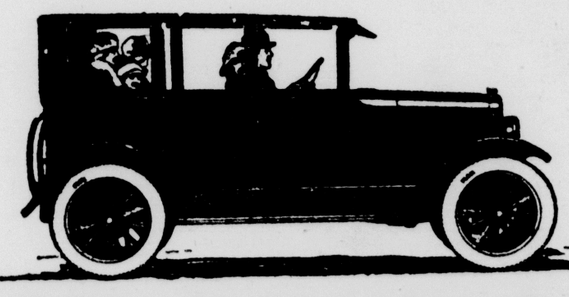

Guyton with eight field goals, was the scoring star of the game, O. Kirkham, and McKee followed Guyton in scoring. Mackey, Kittridge and Rumberger played well for the Baptists. The First Presbyterians-First Methodist Episcopals game was the hardest fought of the three contests, the M. E. passers almost making victory sure in the first half when they led by the score of 17 to 4.

In the second half there was a different story. The Presbyterians outplayed their opponents completely all through the half but could not overcome the big lead that the M. E. passers gained in the first.

Dorsey, Pyles and Karns were the brilliant performers for the Methodist Episcopal passers, while Todd, Allison and Householder played well for the Presbyterians.

Ridgeway Juniors Are Victims Over Ceramics, 34 to 20

On the "Y" floor Saturday afternoon the Ridgeway Juniors won from the Ceramic basketball tossers by the score of 34 to 20.

The game was nip and tuck for the first three quarters, but in the last quarter the Ridgeway Juniors completely outclassed their opponents.

E. Bloor, Horwell, Menge and Walker were the stars for the Juniors, while Burke, Small and Pusey played well for the Ceramics. Lineup and summary:

Ridgeway Juniors		Ceramics
Greenwood	F	Pusey
E. Bloor	F	Burke
Horwell	C	C. Small
Menge	G	McConville
Walker	G	Lafferty

Substitutions — Lindell for Pusey, Cooper for Lafferty, McKee for Cooper.

Field goals—Bloor 4, Horwell 5, Walker, Greenwood, Burke 3, Small 2, Pusey.

Foul goals—Bloor 6, Horwell 3, Greenwood 2, Menge, Pusey 3, Burke 3, Small 2.

St. Stephens Choir Boys Victors Over Restaurant Cagers

The St. Stephens choir passers defeated the McKinley restaurant five, 18 to 16, in a warm contest Saturday on the St. Stephens floor.

Convery and Curran starred for the McKinleys, Penebaker and Smith were the chief point-getters for the winners. The lineup:

St. Stephens		McKinley
Penebaker	F	Schneller
Chetwin	F	Judge
Smith	C	Curran
Massey	G	Convery
McLane	G	Pardell

Substitutions—Clark for Chetwin, Kind for Clark.

Field goals—Penebaker 2, Smith 1, Clark 1, Massey 1, Schneller 2, Judge 1, Curran 1, Convery 2.

Fouls—Penebaker 3, Smith 3, Schneller 1, Curran 2, Pardell 1.

English again started the scoring when the final quarter began. He registered a field goal. Bucher scored from the field. E. English, who relieved Pusey at forward, made a field goal. Vorndran scored on a foul. Fess followed up with a field goal. Liebschner scored the highs' last two points from the field while Bucher, with a two-pointer, tallied for the ex-highs.

All the high school lads, as well as the former school boys, played good basketball throughout. English and Liebschner were the big noises from a scoring standpoint, for the winners, while Fess and Vorndran led the former champs.

In the preliminary the high school seconds won from the Glenmore five by the score of 30 to 19. The seconds had things fairly easy, leading in the first half by the score of 21 to 10.

In the the final half the Glenmore passers outplayed their opponents, but the lead against them was too much. Hamilton starred for the seconds with seven field goals and eight fouls. Allison and Hall performed in classy manner at guards. Canne's all around performance for the Glenmores was a feature. Bromby and McDevitt also played well for the losers.

Lineups, summaries:

E. L. H. S.		Class of 1916
Pusey	F	H. Smith

He Likes to Hit.

Jay Kirke, veteran first baseman and outfielder, has been sold by Minneapolis to the Newark International League club. Kirke long ago failed to get by in the big show but as one who loves to hit, his name leads all the rest. If Jay had his way men would carry bats instead of walking sticks and the dining room would include batting cages so that Jay could "pickle" a few between steak and pie. I've seen Jay all but leap out of a pullman window yelling instructions at some country kid trying to emulate Ruth on a cross roads lot as the train went by.

May Get Mixed Up.

Bill Klem, dean of National League umpires, says he may quit the diamond to sell Florida real estate. Bill will have to watch himself or he'll start telling customers where they can locate home plate instead of the garage.

JACK'S STILL INTERESTED IN RING—BUT A GOLD ONE

This is one of the most interesting studies of Estelle Taylor, movie star, to whom Jack Dempsey is to be married shortly, an inset of Jack himself and the artist's impression of the high spots in Dempsey's life. Reports regarding Dempsey's retirement from the prize ring are conflicting. Dempsey is still interested in the ring but this one is a platinum one with a diamond in it.

In their game with the United Presbyterians, the Lutherans led all the way, being six points in the lead when time was up for the first half. The score then was 13 to 7.

During the second half the Lutherans increased their lead over their foes, scoring 12 points to their opponents' four. The U. P. five did not score a field goal in their first half, and only two during the entire game.

Anthony, G. Woessner and Davis starred for the Lutherans, while Berg, Roberts and Curry led the United Presbyterians.

Ruth Plans Drive

various clubs to line up and develop their staff would seem to bear out this idea. Connie Mack, for example, is taking his pitchers south in less than three weeks' time. They also say the so-called "Rabbit Bill", the existence of which was never admitted to official quarters, is a thing of the past and point to the marked falling off in home runs later year as proof of the contention. The Babe himself fell off twelve behind his record, which is another angle to the story.

He played seventy seven games on the wide open spaces of the Yankee stadium, and being a gentlemen of tact and discernment, he shortened his swing on many occasions, in fact, so many that he led the league in hitting.

He compiled his great record while playing half of the season at the polo grounds where the right field wall is convenient and moderately low.

The pitchers' themselves will try to see to it that the great man doesn't again run wild. They may not be giving him as many intentional passes as before but they so seldom give him a good one that his walks are almost monotonous.

Ty Cobb has expressed the common attitude in rather succinct terms:

"Four for one is better than one for four".

That epigram stands for something that will cramne Ruth's style beyond all probability of a successful assault.

Must Produce.

The Boston Red Sox let George Murray, pitcher, go to the Mobile Southern association club. Murray's main fault in the big show was his failure to take the game seriously. His manager at Mobile will be the peppery Kid Elberfeld. Which means that Murray will either "step into it" or get out in short order.

No League Games Tonight.

Sunday school league contests scheduled for tonight in the Methodist Episcopal church gymnasium have been called off, according to announcement by Harvey J. Price, on account of the fact that an entertainment will be held there.

Ought to Have Medals.

The members of the Giant-White Sox aggregation that toured Europe last fall are to receive medals from the French government. Probably for playing the full nine innings before those 20 Irishmen in Dublin.

REVIVAL MEETS COME TO CLOSE

New Castle Evangelist Preaches at Church of Christ.

At the Pennsylvania Avenue Church of Christ last evening, Evangelist Harry Kaye, preached his concluding sermon, to one of the largest crowds that has attended the campaign.

His sermon subject was "Something in East Liverpool That God Won't Forgive."

This evening Rev. Kaye will hold a patriotic service at the church, the public is invited.

Tuesday evening there will be a reception for the new members in the church parlors.

In his sermon last night he said in part as follows:

"There are men and women who are tonight wandering alone. There are men and women that have rejected a guide.

"The way that we utter a warning, means a lot sometimes. We have Jesus words. Hundreds of sensitive souls hace committed suicide because they think that they have committed the unpardonable sin.

"In God's word he has given love and pardon, and Christ says that sins shall be forgiven, all but the unpardonable sin, Judas would have been forgiven if he had come back. Some people think that a murder is the unpardonable sin, but David was a murderer, don't you recall haw he slew Golith, that giant? But God forgave, even the awful crime of Jesus Christ being crucified on the cross was forgiven. Anyone, old or young, that blasphemes against the Holy spirit cannot be forgiven while all blasphemy against the Holy spirit is sin, yet all sin is not blasphemy.

The Holy spirit is representing the motherhood of God.

Don't you think that Christ's heart is grieved, when he sees men and women say that they are going to line up with the church, and then wander away. If we turn away from God, and then turn back, he will gladly accept us into his fold.

God says that his spirit will not always strive with man, and yet men will refuse to accept him. You and I tonight are lost in the darkness of sin, and Jesus Christ is the bright and shining light that is leading us out. Quench not the Holy spirit for if you do you will lose the way out. Jesus tells us that a house divided against itself cannot stand, and we find that instead of Jesus Christ being praised for the miracle that was performed that he was condemned. He was accused of being a worker of the Devil. If you cimmit the unpardonable sin it will not be forgiven in this world.

If you say that Jesus Christ cannot save men from their sins, that Christ is not the son of God, how can you expect to get out of this world? If you injure your eyesight, you might get it back, but if you put them out, you will never get it back again.

How do you expect to get out of this world without Christ? When you start to think about these things, and sit there night after night and hear these gospel sermons, and listen to my pleadings, and then don't accept him, that is the undardonable sin. "The Thing That God Won't Forgive in East Liverpool."

If you want to committ the unpardonable sin, just sit there. If you commit the unpardonable sin, how do you expect to escape? There are men and women here tonight that are committing the unpardonable sin right now, they have been committing it ever since these meetings started and now here is the last sermon of this campaign and they are still hanging back.

Crowds Attend Services.

Large crowds attended the revival meetings yesterday in the Oakland Free Methodist church. The sermons was delivered by Rev. R. G. Wilkin of Freeport, Ill.

Revival Opens.

Rev. J. L. Culp, pastor of the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church, opened a two weeks revival campaign in the church yesterday Services will be held every evening during the week.

Alexa Stirling Found a Husband When She Lost Women's Golf Title

Alexa Stirling, several times national women's golf champion, will marry Dr. Wilfred G. Fraser of Ottawa, Ont., in her home town of Atlanta, Ga., in the spring. She met him in Ottawa three years ago at the time she lost the championship title. Dr. Fraser plays golf, but admits he is a "dub" at the game.

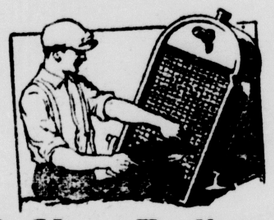

NOON DAY MEETS ARRANGED HERE

Dr. J. O. Campbell, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, was the speaker at the noon shop meeting today at the plant of the American Vitrified Products company, Virginia avenue. Harold Allison was the leader.

Rev. Harry G. Kaye of New Castle, Pa., will speak tomorrow at the Homer Laughlin China plant. Rev. J. O. Archer will be the leader. Rev. Frederick A. Dean, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, will be the speaker at the Trenle China plant with Rev. D. W. MacLeod as the leader. Rev. F. C. Roberts, rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal church of Chester, will make the address at the Louthan pottery. W. H. Nagel will be the leader.

Is your baby tortured by eczema or chafing?

JUST smooth gently on to the irritated skin a coating of Resinol Ointment, and see how quickly his fretful crying stops. The moment this soothing ointment touches the skin it relieves the itching and burning and hastens the healing. Does not smart when applied and its ingredients are harmless—two facts which make it specially suitable for babies.

Resinol Soap is unsurpassed for babies because it so thoroughly cleanses the skin without injuring its delicate texture. Ask your druggist about Resinol.

SERUM NEARS STRICKEN NOME

FIERCE STORMS DELAY MUSHERS IN RACE TO AID DIPHTHERIA SUFFERERS

Anti-toxin May be Rushed to Malady-gripped Zone From Fairbanks by Airplane, Says Dispatch—Plane is Overhauled in Preparation for Flight by Federal Agent.

TEMPERATURE SOARS TO ZERO, BUT BLIZZARD RAGES, HANDICAPPING DOGS

Miss Emily Morgan, Public Nurse, and Dr. Curtis Welch, Settlement's Lone Physician, Battle to Prevent Spread of Disease as Official Reports Show Epidemic is Worse.

NOME, Alaska, Feb. 2.—This stricken city was still waiting the arrival early today of dog teams bringing life-giving serum to its diphtheria sufferers.

Fierce storms in the Norton Sound region have delayed the mushers who are not expected here until possibly as late as noon.

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Feb. 2.—Serum for stricken Nome may be rushed from here by airplane and plans for the flight were being made here today.

An airplane for the flight is available and Ray S. Darling, department of justice government agent, formerly army flyer, is ready to make the journey to the north. He is now at Anchorage, but will return here tomorrow.

The plane is being overhauled.

Alaskans Wager Thousands on Time Of Mushing Dogs

NOME, Alaska, Feb. 2—Even in its hour of tragedy the sporting blood of the north asserted itself today.

Thousands of dollars were wagered on the time to be hung up by the mushing dogs rushing serum from Nenana to diphtheria stricken Nome.

Many large sums were bet and in one cigar store heavy odds were offered the dogs would not reach here at noon today.

Additional Cases Reported.

NOME, Alaska, Feb. 2. — Nome's diphtheria epidemic, threatening to wipe out entirely the isolated settlement, was worse today with the official report of the board of health showing 27 cases, 28 suspects and from 90 to 100 contacts.

Two additional cases, which have not been determined officially were reported by Miss Emily Morgan, the public nurse, who is battling with Nome's lone physician, Dr. Curtis Welch, to prevent the spread of the disease.

Poor connections were made by the dog team relays at Old Woman, it was learned today, and the mushers did not speed out of Unalakleet until 5:30 Sunday night.

Three Relays of Mushers

The teperature raised here during the last few hours from 22 degrees below zero to about zero. A blizzard is raging to the southward and is believed to have covered the trails to be followed by the dogs, making their progress slow.

Three relays are being used to rush the anti-toxin packet to Nome, Edward Bohn and James Kaason having hurried from here to the assistance of Leonard Seppella, champion musher of Alaska, who has carried the brunt of

Miss Ann E. Magill, Aged 76, is Dead; Funeral Tuesday

Miss Ann E. Magill, 76 years old, a resident here for 47 years, died in the home of her niece, Mrs. Edward Davis, 850 Lisbon street, at 11:40 o'clock Saturday night, following two months' illness of complication of diseases.

Miss Magill was born in Baltimore, Md., Nov. 24, 1848, a daughter of John W. Magill.

She was a member of the Ladies' Catholic Benevolent association and the St. Aloysius Catholic church.

She is survived by the following nephews and nieces: James V., John C. and William L. Magill, all of East Liverpool; James E. Magill, of Cleveland; Mrs. Walter Hines, of Jamestown, N. Y., and Mrs. Edward Davis and Miss Anna Magill, of East Liverpool.

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning in the St. Aloysius Catholic church. Rev. J. W. Fowler will officiate. Burial will be made in the St. Aloysius cemetery.

Tri-county Loan Company Officials To Meet in Salem

Building and loan company officials from East Liverpool will attend a meeting of the Tri-County Building Savings and Loan institute, which will be held in the Elks' home, Salem, Wednesday evening.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock, and will be followed by a program of speechmaking. D. P. Wise, secretary of the Security Building and Loan Association, of Salem, will preside. Harry A. Gager, Salem, will deliver the address of welcome.

Approximately 125 banking and loan company officials from Columbiana, Mahoning and Trumbull counties are expected to attend. Guests also will be in attendance from Alliance, Massillon and Canton.

Sir James H. Yoxall Dead.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—Sir James Yoxall, general secretary of the national union of teachers, and author of many books on collecting, as well as other works, died here today. He was 67 years old.

HE WILL DIRECT REVIVAL MEET

Rev. R. W. Edmonson.

A 10-day revival campaign will be launched at the First Baptist church, West Fifth street, starting Wednesday evening.

Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the church, will be assisted by Rev. R. W. Edmonson, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church of Akron. Services will be conducted every evening with the exception of Saturday.

CONFIRMATION OF H. F. STONE IS PREDICTED

Promotion of Attorney General to Supreme Bench Certain.

FIGHT COLLAPSES

Appointment of Charles B. Warren Will be Opposed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The month old fight to prevent elevation of Harland Fiske Stone to the United States supreme court virtually ended this afternoon when the senate judiciary committee recommended his appointment for the second time.

The committee took this action when Senators Borah, Republican of Iowa, and Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, withdrew their opposition to the appointment which had been based on charges that Stone was "persecuting Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Democrat of Montana. While the committee was approving Stone's promotion, a federal grand jury met in the courthouse, a few doors away, to re-indict Wheeler. It was this move by the attorney general that provoked the attack on his nomination.

The committee acted without a record roll call, but announcement was made that no negative votes were cast against Stone. Senator Walsh attended the session.

The result ,it was predicted, in-

CRIPPLES WALK AND BLIND SEE AFTER FAITH HEALER PRAYS

Cures of Afflicted Follow Petition of George M. Formby.

PLANS MEETINGS

George E. Davidson and Mrs. David Chetwynd Report Relief.

Crippled are made to walk, the blind to see, the deaf to hear and other ailments and diseases are cured by Geo. M. Formby, faith healer evangelist and manufacturer, of Grand Crossing, Florida who is now visiting in East Liverpool.

Formby has been conducting meetings nightly in the Ceramic cafeteria, West Fifth street. He addressed a large crowd in the First Baptist church, yesterday afternoon, when more than a dozen sufferers professed to have been assisted.

Among the most remarkable cases which Mr. Framby has cured are those of Attorney George E. Davidson, East Third street, and Mrs. David Chetwynd Seventh street.

Davidson Case.

Davidson was taken ill shortly after Christmas with a leg ailment, which failed to respond to medical treatment. He was unable to walk and physicians had recommended that his foot be amputated to save his life. He had been bedfast for nearly a months when friends prevailed upon him to call Formby.

Answering a midnight call, Formby went to the Davidson home last Thursday night and anointed the patient's foot with oil. Davidson was commanded to stand, then to walk, something which he had been unable to do for several days. Gradually the pain left the foot and in a few minutes he was walking all over the house. Today—the day set by physicians for the amputation of his foot, Attorney Davidson was outdoors, the pain prac-

Jubilee Singers Offer Program in M. E. Church Tonight

The musical program given last evening in the First Methodist Episcopal church by the choir under the leadership of Prof. H. F. Laughlin was greatly enjoyed by a large audience. The assistance rendered by Mrs. Richard Sant and Rowland Kaufman as soloist was greatly appreciated. Mr. Kaufman has a splendid tenor voice and Mrs. Sant rendered the soprano solo to the delight of all present.

Mrs. T. C. Flick has long since proven herself an artist on the organ. Her rendition of "If With All Your Harps," from Mendelssohn's Elijah, and the harp solo, "Orpa Nocturn," by Yon, was soul stirring. Such programs will be given by the choir the first Sunday evening of each month.

The Pryor Jubilee singers will give a program of southern melodies and spirituals in the social room of the church at 7:30 o'clock tonight. No admission will be charged, but a silver offering will be taken.

J. M. Graves Reveals Plans For Big Generating Plant

Vice President of Duquesne Light Co. Says Work Will Start on Shippingport, Pa., Project Early in Spring.

The report that the Duquesne Light company, of Pittsburgh, contemplates the erection of a mammoth generating plant at Shippingport, Pa., eight miles east of here, was confirmed today by J. M. Graves, vice-president and general manager of the company in the Beaver Valley district.

Speaking at a banquet, celebrating the opening of the new Beaver Falls sub-station, at the Tamaqua Club, Beaver Falls, Mr. Graves asserted that work on the first unit of the plant probably would be started early this spring.

The first unit, he said, will cost $10,000,000. Within the next four or five years, the plant, he declared, would represent an investment of $20,000,000. Hundreds of acres of lands, including valuable coal holdings in the Shippingport district, have been leased.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company, it is reported, will resume work this spring on the Chester extension, which passes through Shippingport. The grading has been practically completed to a point where Raccoon Creek empties into the river above Industry. Work on this extension was suspended when the government took over the control of the railroads as a war measure.

Bread is Selling At 10, 11, 13 and 14 Cents Per Loaf

Bread prices in seven tri-state towns today ranged from 10 to 14 cents per 24-ounce loaf.

Five local chain stores were selling bread of the standard size, baked in Pittsburgh, at 10 cents. One downtown bakery was retailing it at 11 cents and another at 13 cents per loaf. The majority of the retailers, however, had established a uniform price of 14 cents. Other bakery products and pastries also increased in price.

The increase, due, it is claimed, to advances in the cost of flour and other commodities, affects East Liverpool, Wellsville, Salineville and Lisbon, Ohio; Chester and Newell, W. Va., and Midland, Pa.

$50 CASH TAKEN FROM REGISTER IN SATURDAY NIGHT ROBBERY

Thieves Enter Fifth Street Store Thru Skylight.

DESK RANSACKED

Sheet Metal Safe Battered Open; Big Strongbox O. K.

Forcing an entrance through a skylight, robbers Saturday night ransacked the Stein dry goods store, East Fifth street, and made a getaway with $50, taken from a cash register.

Police today are holding a suspect.

Another man was to be grilled later in the day.

Pay Envelope Taken.

The robbery was discovered by John Griffith of Norton street, who went to the store roof Sunday morning to clean off the snow. He notified Jacob Stein, proprietor of the store, who, in turn, called Chief of Police McDermott.

With the aid of a heavy screw driver or another blunt instrument, the thieves forced open one of the skylight windows. Then using a heavy rope, fastened to the roof, they slid to the first floor of the two-story building.

The door of a heavy sheet metal safe, used for safeguarding papers, was battered open and the contents searched, but nothing of value was taken. The office desk, located on the balcony floor with the safe, was also pried open and ransacked. Several checks, filled out and signed, in the desk were not taken. The cash register was then opened and a pay envelope belonging to one of the employes, containing $50, was secured.

Griffith Gives Clue.

The robbers then made their way to the basement of the building, but evidently made no attempt to open the big safe located there. They left the store through a rear basement door. Again climbing to the roof by means of a telephone pole close to the building and a ladder. The thieves loosened the rope, which had been used in lowering themselves to the store, and made their getaway.

The ladder used by the culprets was owned by Griffith. He had placed it in the aisleway back of the Erlanger store Saturday evening, intending to use it Sunday morning.

Chief McDermott questioned Griffith at the city building yesterday regarding the robbery and through him obtained a clue to the suspect arrested later in the afternoon. Chief McDermott today was following another clue which is expected to result in the second arrest this afternoon.

Coshocton Woman, 63, Gray Haired, Faces Trial for Homicide

COSHOCTON, O., Feb. 2—Mrs. Clara S. McCurdy, 63, partly gray-haired and in poor health, following several serious operations, went on trial here today on a first degree murder charge. She is accused of murdering her husband, William Allison McCurdy, 65, who died last spring, by giving him arsenic.

Her indictment and arrest, December 23, last, followed a report covering the analysis of McCurdy's vital organs by Dr. H. M. Brundage, pathologist, and chemist C. F. Long, both of Columbus.

Fire Damages Two Columbus Buildings; Hotel Guests Flee

COLUMBUS, Feb. 2.—Fire, of undetermined origin, early today gutted two South High street buildings, opposite the state house, occupied by the Metropole hotel and the Wendt-Bristol Drug company, resulting in damage estimated at $125,000.

Forty guests, routed from their beds in the Metropole hotel, escaped the flames. C. T. Jenkins, proprietor, carried out J. B. Lewis, 81, Civil war veteran.

Stocks of the Wendt-Bristol Drug company and the Frances Willard candy shop were reported a total loss, and stock of the Roessler luggage shop was badly damaged.

ACTRESS, THINKING HER LEGS TOO BEAUTIFUL, POURS ACID ON THEM

Lotus Thompson, Winner of Beauty Contest, Adopted Drastic Means in Effort to Win Serious Role in Movies.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 2—Because she thought her legs too beautiful and that they interfered with her being given serious roles in films, beautiful Lotus Thompson, 19, winner of an international beauty contest in Australia and a stage and screen actress, was in a serious condition in a Hollywood hospital today.

For some time the young woman is said to have brooded over the fact that many film casting directors instead of giving her serious parts wanted her to play comedy roles, so yesterday she is claimed to have poured nitri acid on herself about the hips. Miss Thompson has been cast much recently in comedies and has doubled for prominent stars in parts where beautiful legs were necessary it was learned.

"Every director wants to photograph my legs," the girl said at the hospital where physicians attended her. "I wish they would look at my face and let me play a serious part—like I used to in Australia."

"I can't stand it any longer—to have my legs photographed—so I poured the acid on them," she is said to have explained to her mother.

At the hospital she told a doctor that she was tired of having leading stars get all the credit for her legs and "if they wanted to take me now they have to take my face."

SERUM NEARS STRICKEN NOME

FIERCE STORMS DELAY MUSHERS IN RACE TO AID DIPHTHERIA SUFFERERS

Anti-toxin May be Rushed to Malady-gripped Zone From Fairbanks by Airplane, Says Dispatch—Plane is Overhauled in Preparation for Flight by Federal Agent.

TEMPERATURE SOARS TO ZERO, BUT BLIZZARD RAGES, HANDICAPPING DOGS

Miss Emily Morgan, Public Nurse, and Dr. Curtis Welch, Settlement's Lone Physician, Battle to Prevent Spread of Disease as Official Reports Show Epidemic is Worse.

NOME, Alaska, Feb. 2.—This stricken city was still waiting the arrival early today of dog teams bringing life-giving serum to its diphtheria sufferers.

Fierce storms in the Norton Sound region have delayed the mushers who are not expected here until possibly as late as noon.

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Feb. 2.—Serum for stricken Nome may be rushed from here by airplane and plans for the flight were being made here today.

An airplane for the flight is available and Ray S. Darling, department of justice government agent, formerly army flyer, is ready to make the journey to the north. He is now at Anchorage, but will return here tomorrow.

The plane is being overhauled.

Alaskans Wager Thousands on Time Of Mushing Dogs

NOME, Alaska, Feb. 2—Even in its hour of tragedy the sporting blood of the north asserted itself today.

Thousands of dollars were wagered on the time to be hung up by the mushing dogs rushing serum from Nenana to diphtheria stricken Nome.

Many large sums were bet and in one cigar store heavy odds were offered the dogs would not reach here at noon today.

Miss Ann E. Magill, Aged 76, is Dead; Funeral Tuesday

Miss Ann E. Magill, 76 years old, a resident here for 47 years, died in the home of her niece, Mrs. Edward Davis, 850 Lisbon street, at 11:40 o'clock Saturday night, following two months' illness of complication of diseases.

Miss Magill was born in Baltimore, Md., Nov. 24, 1848, a daughter of John W. Magill.

She was a member of the Ladies' Catholic Benevolent association and the St. Aloysius Catholic church.

She is survived by the following nephews and nieces: James V., John C. and William L. Magill, all of East Liverpool; James E. Magill, of Cleveland; Mrs. Walter Hines, of Jamestown, N. Y., and Mrs. Edward Davis and Miss Anna Magill, of East Liverpool.

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning in the St. Aloysius Catholic church, Rev. J. W. Fowler will officiate. Burial will be made in the St. Aloysius cemetery.

Tri-county Loan Company Officials To Meet in Salem

Building and loan company officials from East Liverpool will attend a meeting of the Tri-County Building Savings and Loan institute, which will be held in the Elks' home, Salem, Wednesday evening.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock, and will be followed by a program of speechmaking. D. P. Wise, secretary of the Security Building and Loan Association, of Salem, will preside. Harry A. Gager, Salem, will deliver the address of welcome.

Approximately 125 banking and loan company officials from Columbiana, Mahoning and Trumbull counties are expected to attend. Guests also will be in attendance from Alliance, Massillon and Canton.

Cheka Raids Trotzky's Home.

LONDON Feb. 2.—Anti-Soviet sources here today reported the Cheka, or Soviet secret service, raided Leon Trotzky's home as soon as he left for the caucasus and confiscated a large number of documents.

Additional Cases Reported.

NOME, Alaska, Feb. 2. — Nome's diphtheria epidemic, threatening to wipe out entirely the isolated settlement, was worse today with the official report of the board of health showing 27 cases, 28 suspects and from 90 to 100 contacts.

Two additional cases, which have not been determined officially were reported by Miss Emily Morgan, the public nurse, who is battling with Nome's lone physician, Dr. Curtis Welch, to prevent the spread of the disease.

Poor connections were made by the dog team relays at Old Woman, it was learned today, and the mushers did not speed out of Unalakleet until 5:30 Sunday night.

Three Relays of Mushers

The teperature raised here during the last few hours from 22 degrees below zero to about zero. A blizzard is raging to the southward and is believed to have covered the trails to be followed by the dogs, making their progress slow.

Three relays are being used to rush the anti-toxin packet to Nome, Edward Bohn and James Kaason having hurried from here to the assistance of Leonard Seppella, champion musher of Alaska, who has carried the brunt of

CONFIRMATION OF H. F. STONE IS PREDICTED

Promotion of Attorney General to Supreme Bench Certain.

FIGHT COLLAPSES

Appointment of Charles B. Warren Will be Opposed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The month old fight to prevent elevation of Harland Fiske Stone to the United States supreme court virtually ended this afternoon when the senate judiciary committee recommended his appointment for the second time.

The committee took this action when Senators Borah, Republican of Iowa, and Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, withdrew their opposition to the appointment which had been based on charges that Stone was "persecuting Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Democrat of Montana. While the committee was approving Stone's promotion, a federal grand jury met in the courthouse, a few doors away, to re-indict Wheeler. It was this move by the attorney general that provoked the attack on his nomination.

The committee acted without a record roll call, but announcement was made that no negative votes were cast against Stone. Senator Walsh attended the session.

The result ,it was predicted, in-

CRIPPLES WALK AND BLIND SEE AFTER FAITH HEALER PRAYS

Cures of Afflicted Follow Petition of George M. Formby.

PLANS MEETINGS

George E. Davidson and Mrs. David Chetwynd Report Relief.

Crippled are made to walk, the blind to see, the deaf to hear and other ailments and diseases are cured by Geo. M. Formby, faith healer evangelist and manufacturer, of Grand Crossing, Florida who is now visiting in East Liverpool.

Formby has been conducting meetings nightly in the Ceramic cafeteria, West Fifth street. He addressed a large crowd in the First Baptist church, yesterday afternoon, when more than a dozen sufferers professed to have been assisted.

Among the most remarkable cases which Mr. Framby has cured are those of Attorney George E. Davidson, East Third street, and Mrs. David Chetwynd Seventh street.

Davidson Case.

Davidson was taken ill shortly after Christmas with a leg ailment, which failed to respond to medical treatment. He was unable to walk and physicians had recommended that his foot be amputated to save his life. He had been bedfast for nearly a months when friends prevailed upon him to call Formby.

Answering a midnight call, Formby went to the Davidson home last Thursday night and anointed the patient's foot with oil. Davidson was commanded to stand, then to walk, something which he had been unable to do for several days. Gradually the pain left the foot and in a few minutes he was walking all over the house. Today—the day set by physicians for the amputation of his foot, Attorney Davidson was outdoors, the pain prac-

Jubilee Singers Offer Program in M. E. Church Tonight

The musical program given last evening in the First Methodist Episcopal church by the choir under the leadership of Prof. H. F. Laughlin was greatly enjoyed by a large audience. The assistance rendered by Mrs. Richard Sant and Rowland Kaufman as soloist was greatly appreciated. Mr. Kaufman has a splendid tenor voice and Mrs. Sant rendered the soprano solo to the delight of all present.

Mrs. T. C. Flick has long since proven herself an artist on the organ. Her rendition of "If With All Your Harps," from Mendelssohn's Elijah, and the harp solo, "Orpa Nocturn," by Yon, was soul stirring. Such programs will be given by the choir the first Sunday evening of each month.

The Pryor Jubilee singers will give a program of southern melodies and spirituals in the social room of the church at 7:30 o'clock tonight. No admission will be charged, but a silver offering will be taken.

The weekly church supper will be served Wednesday evening at 6:15 o'clock. Miss Lucile Orin will entertain with two or three selections on the piano. Frank L. Wells of Wellsville will address the meeting.

Confirmation

sures confirmation of Stone by the senate within a few days.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2—The fight against promotion of Attorney General Harlan F. Stone to the United States Supreme Court appeared to be at the point of collapse today as the Senate Judiciary committee met to approve the appointment for the second time.

Two factions of the senate which opposed Stone's appointment in secret sessions early last week, were agreed to permit his elevation after publicly announcing their reasons for blocking his confirmation for the last month. Although the fight on Stone was based on a criticism of his legal record, it was virtually abandoned when his critics learned that a majority of the senate favored his promotion.

With early confirmation of Stone conceded, the same groups were expected to resume their fight against the appointment of Charles B. Warren of Detroit, to the Attorney Generalship. Warren's appointment was reviewed by a judiciary sub-committee, headed by Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, which rendered a report "without recommendation." It was rumored that Warren's appointment might be rejected.

Borah and Walsh End Fight.

The fight against Stone ended when Senator's Borah and Walsh, Democrat of Montana, announced they would no longer oppose his confirmation. They had charged Stone with "persecuting" Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Democrat, of Montana, by seeking to indict the latter in the District of Columbia on virtually the same evidence that resulted in the senator's indictment in Montana last year. Both Borah and Walsh were determined to denounce this proceeding in a public session of the senate.

"The policy of transferring a criminal proceeding against a senator from his home state to the District of Columbia is vicious," said Senator Borah today. "I shall speak my feelings on that subject whenever the senate votes to confirm Mr. Stone, but I shall not attempt to prevent his confirmation. I am not opposed to Mr. Stone, but I do condemn the legal policy which he seems to have adopted against Senator Wheeler."

Confirmation This Week.

Senator Walsh held the same viewpoint. He said he too would denounce Stone's action against Wheeler, but would not oppose his elevation to the supreme court.

A second group of Senators, headed by Heflin, Democrat of Alabama, and Overman, Democrat of North Carolina, attacked Stone on charges of "unprofessional conduct" in his handling of litigation for the J. Pierpont Morgan interests against Col. James A. Owenby, of Colorado. This group was also expected to limit their opposition to Stone to speeches on the senate floor when his confirmation reaches a vote.

Administration leaders planned to confirm Stone early this week.

DURHAM, N. C., Feb. 2—Immediately after his 15-year-old bride of a year had returned to him following eleven months of separation, Marvin Falls, 29, attacked her early today, leaving her for dead in their room at the home of her father, W. H. Long. Falls first struck his wife over the head with a length of pipe and then slit her throat. He went to the home of his parents, told them he had slain his wife and awaited the arrival of the police.

Mrs. Falls recovered consciousness shortly after Falls left the Long house, and her screams attracted her mother. She was rushed to a local hospital and is said to have a chance for recovery. Falls is being held without bail.

Dayton Man Drowns When Auto Plunges Into Mad River

DAYTON, Feb. 2—James Donovan, 33, was drowned early this morning when his automobile plunged into Mad river, near Rohrer's Island, on the Springfield Pike, about a mile from Dayton.

Donovan was taken from the water shortly after 1 o'clock this morning, although it is thought he had been in the river since 11 o'clock last night.

The wrecked auto, lying in the river, was noticed by a passing motorist who rescued the body and brought it to a local hospital. Donovan was dead when the hospital was reached.

Judge Harry Conn Re-appointed State Insurance Chief

COLUMBUS, Feb. 2—Appointment of Judge Harry L. Conn, Van Wert, to his former position as state Superintendent of Insurance was announced today by Governor Donahey. Judge Emmett L. Savage who served as Judge Conn's successor when the latter resigned last June to accept appointment by the governor as successor to the late Judge R. M. Wanamaker, Akron, as a member of the State Supreme court, resigned and has been reappointed to his former position as Superintendent Conn's chief deputy. These appointments are effective as of February 1, last. Judge Conn's term on the state supreme bench expired January 1, last.

Father is Dazed After Killing Son In Religious Mania

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 2.—In a dazed condition and claims to remember nothing of shooting his 18-year-old son to death and then shooting himself through the head, Albert J. Tilles, 45, will probably live, it was stated today at the Presbyterian hospital where he was taken following the shooting.

According to police reports, the tragedy occurred while the father was gripped by religious mania over his son's refusal to cease attending Sunday dances and other social functions.

The son's body was found beside his father in their home after visitors heard three shots in the room where the two were discussing their differences, according to D. J. Mossman, Tilles' son-in-law who was visiting the home. Tilles had called his son to the second floor and started dictating when their voices rose in argument, to be followed by the shooting.

A list of the elder Tilles' assets was found beside the body, indicating, police said, that he had intended to put his affairs in order then commit suicide, but the argument brought on the double shooting.

Parley for Trust Fund for Chaplin's Expected Heir Halts

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb 2—Final arrangements for the establishment of a trust fund for the expected heir of Charlie Chaplin and his girl wife, Lita Grey, have reached a temporary halt, it was learned today, as the comedian feels the establishment of such a fund is premature because the child has not been born. However, Chaplin is said to be keenly desirous of creating a trust fund for his child soon after birth.

Edwin McMurray, San Francisco attorney and uncle of Mrs. Chaplin who came here some days ago to represent his niece in the financial negotiations, was reported today as en route to the northern city.

Herrin Packs its Guns and Grudges; Awaits Next Move

HERRIN, Ills., Feb. 2—Its fiery feud apparently unquenched by its baths of blood, Williamson county today packed its guns and grudges—waiting.

The county awaited word from Governor Len Small at Springfield as to whether the iron heel of the military would be used to stamp out the flames of hatred in the county under a martial law proclamation.

It awaited the grand jury probe, starting at Marion today, which was expected to delve into Sunday's fatal shooting in Herrin and to stir the coals of the quadruple killing here nine days ago.

In a morgue here lay the body of the latest victim of the county's bullets, indentified as Hill Howard, of Bicknell, Indiana.

Howard, a mysterious stranger in Herrin, was shot to death early Sunday when he attempted to hold up the cafe of the Lamar hotel.

Klansmen charged that Howard was a gunman imported to create trouble and strengthen Sheriff George Galligan's appeal for martial law. Howard was wearing a cap in which Sheriff Galligan's name was marked. The sheriff disclaimed any connection with the man.

Galligan went to Springfield yesterday to urge martial law as the only means of establishing permanent peace in Herrin.

1,130 HEAR DR. LOCKHART

Church of Christ Attendance Record at Closing Service.

Attendance records were shattered at the Sunday morning revival service in the First Church of Christ, when 1,130 persons packed the auditorium and Sunday school rooms. Sixty-eight professed conversion during the day, bringing the total number of converts up to 383 in the four-week campaign.

A special service for the new converts was held by Evangelist Lockhart last evening. The converts occupied two sections of seats in the main auditorium. The remainder of the main floor was crowded to capacity, many being forced to stand during the service.

The new converts pledged $3,100 for the church's expenses during the year at the Sunday evening service. A purse of $1,697 was given the evangelist yesterday. An additional $1,000 was raised during the campaign to meet other expenses of the evangelistic party and the revival. None of the contributions received yesterday exceeded $50 the majority of them being $5.

Dr. Lockhart and his son, Billy, left last night for their home in Omaha, Neb., where they will rest a week before launching revival services in Oklahoma. Prof. and Mrs. Harbinson, who assisted in the revivals, have gone to their home at Fairmont, Ind., for a week's rest before starting the Oklahoma campaign.

Serum Nears Nome

the long trek from Nenana. Bohn was reported to have made the last relay and Seppella was expected to drive the dogs into Nome.

That hundreds have been exposed in addition to the six hundred residents at Nome was learned today when Dr. Welch was notified that Margaret Curran, daughter of a dog team mail carrier who cooks at her father's roadhouse a short distance out of Nome, had been stricken with the disease. One case in Nome was contracted at the roadhouse and many others are believed to have been exposed at the same place.

Travelers in all directions out of Nome were feared to have made contact with the disease and its spread to adjacent camps was regarded as probable, although no cases except that of Miss Curran have been reported outside of Nome.

Need More Anti-toxin.

The increase in the number of cases and the possibility that the dreaded scourge has spread to near-by settlements caused Dr. Welch to declare today that additional shipments of anti-toxin must be shipped to Nome. He said it would probably be better to bring the next shipment in by airplane.

A shipment of 1,000,000 units of the precious remedy was shipped Saturday from Seattle on the steamer Alammeda bound for Seward, and an airplane, With Roy S. Darling, of Fairbanks, to deliver it is available at Fairbanks. Darling is agent for the department of justice at Fairbanks and has been given permission of the officials to make the flight north.

C. W. Thornton, chairman of the Nome chapter of the American Red Cross, received messages today from San Francisco and other chapters of the organization, offering aid to stricken Nome.

Thornton is doing valuable work assisting the health board in seeing that quarantine regulations are obeyed.

Most of the residents are remaining quietly in their homes, fearing to go out-doors. No lodge meetings or public gatherings of any kind are held and all persons are asked to refrain from gathering in groups.

Ohio Farm Bureau Opens Annual Meet; Program Outlined

COLUMBUS, Feb. 2.—United action among Ohio farmers to bring about standardization in farm products from which producers and consumers alike would profit, and a long time program of agricultural and rural community development were outlined for state farmers' organizations, by L. B. Palmer Pataskala, president, at the opening session here today of the two-day annual convention of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

Accomplishments of the co-operative groups of farmers during the last year were outlined. Dairy co-operatives were shown to be doing a business in excess of $25,000,000 a year. The wool clip, sold in like manner, aggregated 4,000,000 pounds, 25 co-operative grain elevators have been organized, a beginning has been made of the co-operative marketing of apples under the Buckeye brand, tobacco growers successfully marketed 20,000,000 pounds in their first year and the Farm Bureau Service company handled more than $3,000,000 in supplies last year, refunding patronage dividends of $120,000, President Palmer reported.

Cleveland Girl Crushed to Death When Truck Skids

CLEVELAND, Feb. 2—Crushed under the wheels of a skidding truck, Roberta Briego, 17, was instantly killed here today. Another girl, Anna Poccos, sustained severe injuries.

Icy streets caused many minor accidents during the day. Mrs. Alice Zepp, 37, dislocated her shoulder when she fell.

Fire Destroys 100 Homes.

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 2.—Five hundred were homeless today in the Dommendine section of Rangoon after a fire which destroyed 100 homes.

Thomas H. Sant & Son Company, Dealers in Clays, Incorporates

The Thomas H. Sant & Son company, dealers in domestic and imported clays, has been incorporated under the laws of Ohio with a capitalization of $25,000.

Officers include Thomas H. Sant, president and treasurer; M. D. Smurthwaite, secretary and L. G. Moffat, vice-president.

Sant has been in the clay business here for about 20 years. For the last 10 years he has been president and manager of the firm. The John Sant & Sons Company. Smurthwaite has been with the company for some time, but Moffat is a new member of the firm.

Conducts Services Here.

Formby came to East Liverpool about 10 days ago on the lookout for a manager for an art title pottery which he is erecting in Grand Crossing, Florida. He plans to remain here so long as there is need for his services.

He says he is an evangelist and a member of the Jacksonville conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. He plans to turn his manufacturing interests over to a manager as soon as the plant is ready to operate and devote his entire time to faith healing and evangelistic work.

Formby will conduct services every night this week at the Nazarene church headquarters in the old K. & M. dollar store, Fifth street. He has been called to a number of homes and has also received scores of callers at the Thompson House, Broadway, where he is a guest. He claims to have anointed more than 100 persons suffering from various ailments since coming to East Liverpool. He makes no charges for his services, neither will he accept compensation in any form.

Cures Case of Paralysis.

Formby's first case of faith healing occurred a few days after he came to the city. He had just eaten his dinner at the Ceramic Cafeteria, when his attention was attracted to a conversation in the David Chetwynd dry cleaning establishment, occupying quarters in the building. Mrs. Chetwynd, wife of the proprietor, was explaining to a party of friends a paralysis, which caused her right hand to close like a clinched fist. Physicians were unable to assign a cause for the ailment or prescribe for it.

Formby asked that he might see her hand and laying his hand upon Mrs. Chetwynd's fist, offered a brief prayer. He then ordered her to open her fist. She gradually spread her fingers and in a few minutes she had recovered complete use of the member.

Mrs. Charles McKinnon, Mapletree street, who was a sufferer from an affliction of one leg, causing her to be crippled, also has been cured. Miss Gladys Green of Wellsville had an impediment of the speech removed. An infant baby from Chester, suffering from a neck paralysis, was restored to normalcy at Sunday afternoon's service. Another man, suffering from a crippleness of the leg, was cured. A woman, almost deaf, professed to have been helped. Another, reported to have been almost blind, claimed to be able to see better after being anointed.

Judge Landis Offers To Pay Expenses to Get O'Connell Story

NEW YORK, Feb. 2—In a cablegram received at the local district attorney's office today, Judge Landis offered to defray the expenses of an emissary to Jimmy O'Connell, who has declined to come here from California to testify in the baseball inquiry.

The emissary's visit would be made to obtain testimony of O'Connell, withheld by the latter because he has been refused immunity here. The same agent would also take the deposition of "Bill" Cunningham, Boston outfielder, who is ill.

The judge's cablegram, sent from Balboa, in the canal zone, reads:

"In view of O'Connell's refusal and Cunningham's illness, would gladly defray expenses of your representative to visit in interview them.

(Signed) "LANDIS."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Oil stocks furnished the center of speculative interest and activity in the early trading today. Individual and pool traders who in the past few months have been devoting themselves chiefly to the railroad and specialty stocks have finally turned their attention to the oil shares on the theory that after a series of false starts, the oils are finally in condition to reflect a remarkable change for the better in the oil industry.

Desuite heavy production of crude oil last year, 1924 was the first year since 1906 in which production was less than consumption. The last three months of the year witnessed a heavy drainage on stored oil products and an unusually large consumption is anticipated for 1925. No further increases in gasoline prices were announced previous to the opening of the market, but Corning crude oil in Pennsylvania was marked up 25 cents a barrel to $1.95.

Skelly oil sold above 30 for the first time since 1923. Sinclair advanced to a new high at 24¾ and new forward movements were inaugurated by Shell Union, Cosden, Pan-American and a dozen or more of the independent shares which have been prominent in recent weeks. Trading was very heavy in this period.

There was every evidence aplenty in the financial district that domestic trade in the first few weeks of the new year is running ahead of normal, though there is nothing approaching a boom in sight. Call money was renewed at 3½. Grain markets were slightly reactionary at the opening and cotton at the opening reflected the absence of Southern rain and the better reports from textile trade centers.

A few of the rails and industrials attracted attention by their strength and activity in the first hour. Missouri Pacific, the Katy stocks, New York Central, New Haven and Atchison were the leaders in the rails, while Mack trucks, Gulf States Steel and American Can featured the industrials. Mack trucks advanced by fractional stages to 139½, a gain of seven points and the Gulf States Steel pushed through 90. American and foreign power sold up 2 points to 36 in active trading. General Electric which sold at the distribution of Electric Bond and Share company stock, opened at 241¼ which would place a valuation of 67¾ on the stock distributed.

Columbus Health Authorities Act in Spotted Fever Cases

COLUMBUS, Feb. 2—Health authorities here today are seeking to prevent spread of an epidemic of spinal meningitis, the deadly spotted fever, which thus far is believed to have claimed two victims, among Ohio state university students.

An autopsy on the body of David Pusken, Canton, Junior in the college of journalism, who died 20 minutes after he was seized with convulsions, Sunday morning, disclosed that spinal meningitis caused death. Dr. J. A. Berr, city health commissioner, said the virulent epidemic form was the only type of meningitis which could have caused death so quickly.

The other victim was Charles H. Hulls, 22, Logan. Death was supposed to have been caused by tetanus. An autopsy is planned at Logan today to determine definitely the cause of death.

Students who have been exposed to either of the victims have been ordered to report daily for examination to Dr. H. S. Wingert, head of the Ohio State University student health service.

Capital Committee Recommends Seating Of Senator Mayfield

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The senate privilege and elections committee today unanimously recommended dismissal of the case protesting the seating of Senator Earle B. Mayfield, Democrat of Texas.

Mayfield's seat was contested by George E. B. Peddy on the grounds of "fraud and intimidation." Peddy charged that the Ku Klux Klan spent money "excessively" in securing Mayfield's election.

O. N. G. INSTRUCTOR POST IS FILLED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. — Captain George R. Middleton, now on duty at Fort Sheridan, Ill., is assigned as an instructor of the Ohio National Guard, with station at Columbus, O., in orders issued by the war department today.

GRECO-TURKISH WAR IS FEARED

Athens in Warlike Mood Over Expulsion of Patriarch.

ATHENS, Feb. 2.—Warlike sentiment still stirred a part of the population of the capital today, although the government was endeavoring to maintain a calm attitude while awaiting a reply from Turkey to the Greek protest against expulsion of Ecumenical Patriarch from Constantinople.

ANGORA, Feb. 2.—Mustapha Kemal, president of the Turkish republic today had taken personal charge of the Turkish end of the Greco-Turkish controversy.

It was understood that Turkey took the attitude that the expulsion of the patriarch was an internal question, which Turkey alone could handle and that Greece had no right of intervention.

The Greek population of Turkey is considerably stirred up and some portions of the Turkish population are in a belligerent mood.

PARIS, Feb. 2.—The French government endeavored today to bring about a friendly feeling between Greece and Turkey. Premier Herriot received separately the Greek minister and the Turkish minister. Herriot, it was officially announced, strongly urged the necessity of reaching an agreement on the question of Greece maintaining an Ecumenical Patriarch in Constantinople.

GENEVA, Feb. 2—The proposal made in Athens that the League of Nations be called upon to pass judgment on the expulsion of the head of the Greek church from Constantinople has not come to the league in any official form, it was said today by the league Secretariat.

Confirmation

sures confirmation of Stone by the senate within a few days.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2—The fight against promotion of Attorney General Harlan F. Stone to the United States Supreme Court appeared to be at the point of collapse today as the Senate Judiciary committee met to approve the appointment for the second time.

Two factions of the senate which opposed Stone's appointment in secret sessions early last week, were agreed to permit his elevation after publicly announcing their reasons for blocking his confirmation for the last month. Although the fight on Stone was based on a criticism of his legal record, it was virtually abandoned when his critics learned that a majority of the senate favored his promotion.

With early confirmation of Stone conceded, the same groups were expected to resume their fight against the appointment of Charles B. Warren of Detroit, to the Attorney Generalship. Warren's appointment was reviewed by a judiciary sub-committee, headed by Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, which rendered a report "without recommendation." It was rumored that Warren's appointment might be rejected.

Borah and Walsh End Fight.

The fight against Stone ended when Senator's Borah and Walsh, Democrat of Montana, announced they would no longer oppose his confirmation. They had charged Stone with "persecuting" Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Democrat, of Montana, by seeking to indict the latter in the District of Columbia on virtually the same evidence that resulted in the senator's indictment in Montana last year. Both Borah and Walsh were determined to denounce this proceeding in a public session of the senate.

"The policy of transferring a criminal proceeding against a senator from his home state to the District of Columbia is vicious," said Senator Borah today. "I shall speak my feelings on that subject whenever the senate votes to confirm Mr. Stone, but I shall not attempt to prevent his confirmation. I am not opposed to Mr. Stone, but I do condemn the legal policy which he seems to have adopted against Senator Wheeler."

Confirmation This Week.

Senator Walsh held the same viewpoint. He said he too would denounce Stone's action against Wheeler, but would not oppose his elevation to the supreme court.

A second group of Senators, headed by Heflin, Democrat of Alabama, and Overman, Democrat of North Carolina, attacked Stone on charges of "unprofessional conduct" in his handling of litigation for the J. Pierpont Morgan interests against Col. James A. Owenby, of Colorado. This group was also expected to limit their opposition to Stone to speeches on the senate floor when his confirmation reaches a vote.

Administration leaders planned to confirm Stone early this week.

Man Attacks Girl Bride Following Long Separation

DURHAM, N. C., Feb. 2—Immediately after his 15-year-old bride of a year had returned to him following eleven months of separation, Marvin Falls, 29, attacked her early today, leaving her for dead in their room at the home of her father, W. H. Long. Falls first struck his wife over the head with a length of pipe and then slit her throat. He went to the home of his parents, told them he had slain his wife and awaited the arrival of the police.

Mrs. Falls recovered consciousness shortly after Falls left the Long house, and her screams attracted her mother. She was rushed to a local hospital and is said to have a chance for recovery. Falls is being held without bail.

Dayton Man Drowns When Auto Plunges Into Mad River

DAYTON, Feb. 2—James Donovan, 33, was drowned early this morning when his automobile plunged into Mad river, near Rohrer's Island, on the Springfield Pike, about a mile from Dayton.

Donovan was taken from the water shortly after 1 o'clock this morning, although it is thought he had been in the river since 11 o'clock last night.

The wrecked auto, lying in the river, was noticed by a passing motorist who rescued the body and brought it to a local hospital. Donovan was dead when the hospital was reached.

Judge Harry Conn Re-appointed State Insurance Chief

COLUMBUS, Feb. 2—Appointment of Judge Harry L. Conn, Van Wert, to his former position as state Superintendent of Insurance was announced today by Governor Donahey. Judge Emmett L. Savage who served as Judge Conn's successor when the latter resigned last June to accept appointment by the governor as successor to the late Judge R. M. Wanamaker, Akron, as a member of the State Supreme court, resigned and has been reappointed to his former position as Superintendent Conn's chief deputy. These appointments are effective as of February 1, last. Judge Conn's term on the state supreme bench expired January 1, last.

Father is Dazed After Killing Son In Religious Mania

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 2—In a dazed condition and claims to remember nothing of shooting his 18-year-old son to death and then shooting himself through the head, Albert J. Tilles, 45, will probably live, it was stated today at the Presbyterian hospital where he was taken following the shooting.

According to police reports, the tragedy occurred while the father was gripped by religious mania over his son's refusal to cease attending Sunday dances and other social functions.

The son's body was found beside his father in their home after visitors heard three shots in the room where the two were discussing their differences, according to D. J. Mossman, Tilles' son-in-law who was visiting the home. Tilles had called his son to the second floor and started dictating when their voices rose in argument, to be followed by the shooting.

A list of the elder Tilles' assets was found beside the body, indicating, police said, that he had intended to put his affairs in order then commit suicide, but the argument brought on the double shooting.

Parley for Trust Fund for Chaplin's Expected Heir Halts

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb 2—Final arrangements for the establishment of a trust fund for the expected heir of Charlie Chaplin and his girl wife, Lita Grey, have reached a temporary halt, it was learned today, as the comedian feels the establishment of such a fund is premature because the child has not been born. However, Chaplin is said to be keenly desirous of creating a trust fund for his child soon after birth.

Edwin McMurray, San Francisco attorney and uncle of Mrs. Chaplin who came here some days ago to represent his niece in the financial negotiations, was reported today as en route to the northern city.

Herrin Packs its Guns and Grudges; Awaits Next Move

HERRIN, Ills., Feb. 2—Its fiery feud apparently unquenched by its baths of blood, Williamson county today packed its guns and grudges—waiting.

The county awaited word from Governor Len Small at Springfield as to whether the iron heel of the military would be used to stamp out the flames of hatred in the county under a martial law proclamation.

It awaited the grand jury probe, starting at Marion today, which was expected to delve into Sunday's fatal shooting in Herrin and to stir the coals of the quadruple killing here nine days ago.

In a morgue here lay the body of the latest victim of the county's bullets, indentified as Hill Howard, of Bicknell, Indiana.

Howard, a mysterious stranger in Herrin, was shot to death early Sunday when he attempted to hold up the cafe of the Lamar hotel.

Klansmen charged that Howard was a gunman imported to create trouble and strengthen Sheriff George Galligan's appeal for martial law. Howard was wearing a cap in which Sheriff Galligan's name was marked. The sheriff disclaimed any connection with the man.

Galligan went to Springfield yesterday to urge martial law as the only means of establishing permanent peace in Herrin.

1,130 HEAR DR. LOCKHART

Church of Christ Attendance Record at Closing Service.

Attendance records were shattered at the Sunday morning revival service in the First Church of Christ, when 1,130 persons packed the auditorium and Sunday school rooms. Sixty-eight professed conversion during the day, bringing the total number of converts up to 383 in the four-week campaign.

A special service for the new converts was held by Evangelist Lockhart last evening. The converts occupied two sections of seats in the main auditorium. The remainder of the main floor was crowded to capacity, many being forced to stand during the service.

The new converts pledged $3,100 for the church's expenses during the year at the Sunday evening service. A purse of $1,697 was given the evangelist yesterday. An additional $1,000 was raised during the campaign to meet other expenses of the evangelistic party and the revival. None of the contributions received yesterday exceeded $50 the majority of them being $5.

Dr. Lockhart and his son, Billy, left last night for their home in Omaha, Neb., where they will rest a week before launching revival services in Oklahoma. Prof. and Mrs. Harbinson, who assisted in the revivals, have gone to their home at Fairmont, Ind., for a week's rest before starting the Oklahoma campaign.

Serum Nears Nome

the long trek from Nenana. Bohn was reported to have made the last relay and Seppella was expected to drive the dogs into Nome.

That hundreds have been exposed in addition to the six hundred residents at Nome was learned today when Dr. Welch was notified that Margaret Curran, daughter of a dog team mail carrier who cooks at her father's roadhouse a short distance out of Nome, had been stricken with the disease. One case in Nome was contracted at the roadhouse and many others are believed to have been exposed at the same place.

Travelers in all directions out of Nome were feared to have made contact with the disease and its spread to adjacent camps was regarded as probable, although no cases except that of Miss Curran have been reported outside of Nome.

Need More Anti-toxin.

The increase in the number of cases and the possibility that the dreaded scourge has spread to near-by settlements caused Dr. Welch to declare today that additional shipments of anti-toxin must be shipped to Nome. He said it would probably be better to bring the next shipment in by airplane.

A shipment of 1,000,000 units of the precious remedy was shipped Saturday from Seattle on the steamer Alameda bound for Seward, and an airplane, With Roy S. Darling, of Fairbanks, to deliver it is available at Fairbanks. Darling is agent for the department of justice at Fairbanks and has been given permission of the officials to make the flight north.

C. W. Thornton, chairman of the Nome chapter of the American Red Cross, received messages today from San Francisco and other chapters of the organization, offering aid to stricken Nome.

Thornton is doing valuable work assisting the health board in seeing that quarantine regulations are obeyed.

Most of the residents are remaining quietly in their homes, fearing to go out doors. No lodge meetings or public gatherings of any kind are held and all persons are asked to refrain from gathering in groups.

Ohio Farm Bureau Opens Annual Meet; Program Outlined

COLUMBUS, Feb. 2—United action among Ohio farmers to bring about standardization in farm products from which producers and consumers alike would profit, and a long time program of agricultural and rural community development were outlined for state farmers' organizations, by L. B. Palmer Pataskala, president, at the opening session here today of the two-day annual convention of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

Accomplishments of the co-operative groups of farmers during the last year were outlined. Dairy co-operatives were shown to be doing a business in excess of $25,000,000 a year. The wool clip, sold in like manner, aggregated 4,000,000 pounds, 25 co-operative grain elevators have been organized, a beginning has been made of the co-operative marketing of apples under the Buckeye brand, tobacco growers successfully marketed 20,000,000 pounds in their first year and the Farm Bureau Service company handled more than $3,000,000 in supplies last year, refunding patronage dividends of $120,000, President Palmer reported.

Cleveland Girl Crushed to Death When Truck Skids

CLEVELAND, Feb. 2—Crushed under the wheels of a skidding truck, Roberta Briego, 17, was instantly killed here today. Another girl, Anna Peccos, sustained severe injuries.

Icy streets caused many minor accidents during the day. Mrs. Alice Zepp, 37, dislocated her shoulder when she fell.

Fire Destroys 100 Homes.

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 2—Five hundred were homeless today in the Dommendine section of Rangoon after a fire which destroyed 100 homes.

Thomas H. Sant & Son Company, Dealers in Clays, Incorporates

The Thomas H. Sant & Son company, dealers in domestic and imported clays, has been incorporated under the laws of Ohio with a capitalization of $25,000.

Officers include Thomas H. Sant, president and treasurer; M. D. Smurthwaite, secretary and L. G. Moffat, vice-president.

Sant has been in the clay business here for about 20 years. For the last 10 years he has been president and manager of the firm. The John Sant & Sons Company. Smurthwaite has been with the company for some time, but Moffat is a new member of the firm.

Conducts Services Here.

Formby came to East Liverpool about 10 days ago on the lookout for a manager for an art tile pottery which he is erecting in Grand Crossing, Florida. He plans to remain here so long as there is need for his services.

He says he is an evangelist and a member of the Jacksonville conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. He plans to turn his manufacturing interests over to a manager as soon as the plant is ready to operate and devote his entire time to faith healing and evangelistic work.

Formby will conduct services every night this week at the Nazarene church headquarters in the old K. & M. dollar store, Fifth street. He has been called to a number of homes and has also received scores of callers at the Thompson House, Broadway, where he is a guest. He claims to have anointed more than 100 persons suffering from various ailments since coming to East Liverpool. He makes no charges for his services, neither will he accept compensation in any form.

Cures Case of Paralysis.

Formby's first case of faith healing occurred a few days after he came to the city. He had just eaten his dinner at the Ceramic Cafeteria, when his attention was attracted to a conversation in the David Chetwynd dry cleaning establishment, occupying quarters in the building. Mrs. Chetwynd, wife of the proprietor, was explaining to a party of friends a paralysis, which caused her right hand to close like a clinched fist. Physicians were unable to assign a cause for the ailment or prescribe for it.

Formby asked that he might see her hand and laying his hand upon Mrs. Chetwynd's fist, offered a brief prayer. He then ordered her to open her fist. She gradually spread her fingers and in a few minutes she had recovered complete use of the member.

Mrs. Charles McKinnon, Mapletree street, who was a sufferer from an affliction of one leg, causing her to be crippled, also has been cured. Miss Gladys Green of Wellsville had an impediment of the speech removed. An infant baby from Chester, suffering from a neck paralysis, was restored to normalcy at Sunday afternoon's service. Another man suffering from a crippleness of the leg, was cured. A woman, almost deaf, professed to have been helped. Another, reported to have been almost blind, claimed to be able to see better after being anointed.

Judge Landis Offers To Pay Expenses to Get O'Connell Story

NEW YORK, Feb. 2—In a cablegram received at the local district attorney's office today, Judge Landis offered to defray the expenses of an emissary to Jimmy O'Connell, who has declined to come here from California to testify in the baseball inquiry.

The emissary's visit would be made to obtain testimony of O'Connell, withheld by the latter because he has been refused immunity here. The same agent would also take the deposition of "Bill" Cunningham, Boston outfielder, who is ill.

The judge's cablegram, sent from Balboa, in the canal zone, reads:

"In view of O'Connell's refusal and Cunningham's illness, would gladly defray expenses of your representative to visit in interview them.

(Signed) "LANDIS."

Makes Anniversary Holiday

Gustave Scheltz broke his record for working twenty-five years without a day off, including Sunday, recently, when at Pana, Ill., he asked for a day of rest in order to celebrate with his wife their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. The family includes twelve children.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Oil stocks furnished the center of speculative interest and activity in the early trading today. Individual and pool traders who in the past few months have been devoting themselves chiefly to the railroad and specialty stocks have finally turned their attention to the oil shares on the theory that after a series of false starts, the oils are finally in condition to reflect a remarkable change for the better in the oil industry.

Desuite heavy production of crude oil last year, 1924 was the first year since 1906 in which production was less than consumption. The last three months of the year witnessed a heavy drainage on stored oil products and an unusually large consumption is anticipated for 1925. No further increases in gasoline prices were announced previous to the opening of the market, but Corning crude oil in Pennsylvania was marked up 25 cents a barrel to $1.95.

Skelly oil sold above 30 for the first time since 1923. Sinclair advanced to a new high at 24¾ and new forward movements were inaugurated by Shell Union, Cosden, Pan-American and a dozen or more of the independent shares which have been prominent in recent weeks. Trading was very heavy in this period.

There was every evidence aplenty in the financial district that domestic trade in the first few weeks of the new year is running ahead of normal, though there is nothing approaching a boom in sight. Call money was renewed at 3½. Grain markets were slightly reactionary at the opening and cotton at the opening reflected the absence of Southern rain and the better reports from textile trade centers.

A few of the rails and industrials attracted attention by their strength and activity in the first hour. Missouri Pacific, the Katy stocks, New York Central, New Haven and Atchison were the leaders in the rails, while Mack trucks, Gulf States Steel and American Can featured the industrials. Mack trucks advanced by fractional stages to 139½, a gain of seven points and the Gulf States Steel pushed through 90. American and foreign power sold up 2 points to 36 in active trading. General Electric which sold at the distribution of Electric Bond and Share company stock, opened at 241¼ which would place a valuation of 67¾ on the stock distributed.

Columbus Health Authorities Act in Spotted Fever Cases

COLUMBUS, Feb. 2—Health authorities here today are seeking to prevent spread of an epidemic of spinal meningitis, the deadly spotted fever, which thus far is believed to have claimed two victims, among Ohio state university students.

An autopsy on the body of David Pusken, Canton, Junior in the college of journalism, who died 20 minutes after he was seized with convulsions, Sunday morning, disclosed that spinal meningitis caused death. Dr. J. A. Berr, city health commissioner, said the virulent epidemic form was the only type of meningitis which could have caused death so quickly.

The other victim was Charles H. Hulls, 22, Logan. Death was supposed to have been caused by tetanus. An autopsy is planned at Logan today to determine definitely the cause of death.

Students who have been exposed to either of the victims have been ordered to report daily for examination to Dr. H. S. Wingert, head of the Ohio State University student health service.

Capital Committee Recommends Seating Of Senator Mayfield

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The senate privilege and elections committee today unanimously recommended dismissal of the case protesting the seating of Senator Earle B. Mayfield, Democrat of Texas.

Mayfield's seat was contested by George E. B. Peddy on the grounds of "fraud and intimidation." Peddy charged that the Ku Klux Klan spent money "excessively" in securing Mayfield's election.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 — Captain George R. Middleton, now on duty at Fort Sheridan, Ill., is assigned as an instructor of the Ohio National Guard, with station at Columbus, O., in orders issued by the war department today.

GRECO-TURKISH WAR IS FEARED

Athens in Warlike Mood Over Expulsion of Patriarch.

ATHENS, Feb. 2.—Warlike sentiment still stirred a part of the population of the capital today, although the government was endeavoring to maintain a calm attitude while awaiting a reply from Turkey to the Greek protest against expulsion of Ecumenical Patriarch from Constantinople.

ANGORA, Feb. 2.—Mustapha Kemal, president of the Turkish republic today had taken personal charge of the Turkish end of the Greco-Turkish controversy.

It was understood that Turkey took the attitude that the expulsion of the patriarch was an internal question which Turkey alone could handle and that Greece had no right of intervention.

The Greek population of Turkey is considerably stirred up and some portions of the Turkish population are in a belligerent mood.

PARIS, Feb. 2.—The French government endeavored today to bring about a friendly feeling between Greece and Turkey. Premier Herriot received separately the Greek minister and the Turkish minister. Herriot, it was officially announced, strongly urged the necessity of reaching an agreement on the question of Greece maintaining an Ecumenical Patriarch in Constantinople.

GENEVA, Feb. 2—The proposal made in Athens that the League of Nations be called upon to pass judgment on the expulsion of the head of the Greek church from Constantinople has not come to the league in any official form, it was said today by the league Secretariat.

ATTENDS SUNDAY SCHOOL 11 YEARS

Miss Gertrude Hixon, daughter of B. Hixon, 2920 East 71st street, Cleveland, former local resident, possesses a Sunday school attendance record that is hard to beat.

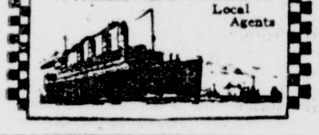

Miss Hixon, according to her father, has attended Sunday school for 11 years without missing. When she was away from home at times, she attended Sunday school in the city in which she chanced to be visiting, bringing back with her a card from the minister of the church in which she attended to show she had been present. For her regular attendance she received a pin. The first year she received a crown, the second year a wreath and for the remaining nine years, gold bars, one for each year. She was the only member of her class who started and finished the eleven years.

She has lately attended the Immanuel Evangelical church in Cleveland.

He Coughed For Two Years Swore Off

After coughing for two years almost continuously a man of considerable means got thin and tired and worn out, made his will, and was ready to quit the big game of life.

A friend spoke to him about Bronchuline Emulsion and now life to him is very sweet indeed.

That's the kind of a cough that is put out of business with amazing speed when the cougher is wise to Bronchuline Emulsion.

Tough old coughs—persistent coughs—coughs that hang on and rob people of their sleep—those are the kind of coughs Bronchuline likes to tackle.

Many times such coughs linger after the Grip or a heavy cold, and if you have one or know of anyone who has one keep Bronchuline Emulsion in mind.

It isn't just a cheap sweet cough syrup—it's the best cough remedy—and the best is never cheap. Jesse D. Holloway and Carnahan's Drug Stores, East Liverpool and Newell, W. Va., and dealers everywhere can supply you.

SCHOOL TO GET POET'S PICTURE

The Wellsville Twentieth Century club will present the local high school with a handsome photogravure of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

Plans for the presentation, which probably will be made on February 27, the great poet's birthday, are now being framed by the club, officers announced today.

The picture was given to the club a number of years ago by the Longfellow Memorial association. At that time the association was striving to complete a memorial home. The Wellsville Twentieth Century club made a substantial donation. In return the club received the picture.

I. O. O. F. OFFICERS ARE INSTALLED

Writing of Poetry Japanese Pastime; Competition Keen

TOKIO, Feb.—Writing poetry is a popular pastime in Japan.

Each year the Imperial Poetry bureau, naming a subject, invites the budding versifiers of the nation to submit poems. The ten best poems are selected and read at the Imperial Poetry party, held annually at the Imperial palace.

This year the subject was "Mountain Ranges Under a Blue Sky," and 16,000 hopeful contestants thought they knew enough about it to warrant putting their ideas into verse.

Ban Removed.

AMHERST, Feb.—Ban against church services and other gatherings, due to a scarlet fever epidemic, has been lifted by Mayor Ruth, South Amherst. The epidemic raged since October. While the ban was effective, Rev. Shirl B. Bartlett, pastor of the Congregational church, mailed his Sunday sermon to each member of his congregation.

South Carolina Deposes King Cotton In Farm Revolution

Diversification of Crops and Establishment of Canneries Bring Prosperity in Southland.

COLUMBUS, S. C., Jan.—The past two years have witnessed an agricultural revolution in South Carolina—diversification of crops and the downfall of King Cotton.

Cotton, the once all-important crop of this state, has given way to a state-wide "cow, hog, hen," method of farming. New crops, always ignored with skepticism by the farmers, have come into importance overnight.

For the past twelve years the Extension Service of South Carolina has been hammering on crop diversification as a fortification against the invasion of the boll wevil, and now that goal has been reached. The problems of marketing have been wrestled with when they came into being, and it is now recognized that some of the most effective pioneer work in marketing new crops systematically and co-operatively has been accomplished through the different county marketing associations scattered throughout the state.

During the past two years peach shipments have nearly run into three figures; apples moved in carlots from this state for the first time in its history; thousands of cars of corn and hay were shipped; two cars of grapes were shipped for the first time.

In Clarendon and Sumter counties, canneries sprang up overnight. One was located at Maning, one at Summerton and another at Sumter. During the bean and tomato seasons carload after carload of these products was shipped to the northern and western markets, even as far as California.

Not only were beans and tomatoes canned, but, also, spinach and potatoes. During the winter months, Florida grapefruit were canned and shipped all over the United States.

The change in agricultural methods was due primarily to the coming of the boll wevil, agricultural experts said. The enormous cotton production was crippled, and as a result of this the farmers were forced into new and uncharted channels.

The success of this truck movement in farming was made possible by the numerous marketing agencies which were organized in different sections of the state, it was said.

ATTENDS SUNDAY SCHOOL 11 YEARS

Miss Gertrude Hixon, daughter of B. Hixon, 2920 East 71st street, Cleveland, former local resident, possesses a Sunday school attendance record that is hard to beat.

Miss Hixon, according to her father, has attended Sunday school for 11 years without missing. When she was away from home at times, she attended Sunday school in the city in which she chanced to be visiting, bringing back with her a card from the minister of the church in which she attended to show she had been present. For her regular attendance she received a pin. The first year she received a crown, the second year a wreath and for the remaining nine years, gold bars, one for each year. She was the only member of her class who started and finished the eleven years.

She has lately attended the Immanuel Evangelical church in Cleveland.

He Coughed For Two Years Swore Off

After coughing for two years almost continuously a man of considerable means got thin and tired and worn out, made his will, and was ready to quit the big game of life.

A friend spoke to him about Bronchuline Emulsion and now life to him is very sweet indeed.

That's the kind of a cough that is put out of business with amazing speed when the cougher is wise to Bronchuline Emulsion.

Tough old coughs—persistent coughs—coughs that hang on and rob people of their sleep—those are the kind of coughs Bronchuline likes to tackle.

Many times such coughs linger after the Grip or a heavy cold, and if you have one or know of anyone who has one keep Bronchuline Emulsion in mind.

It isn't just a cheap sweet cough syrup—it's the best cough remedy—and the best is never cheap. Jesse D. Holloway and Carnahan's Drug Stores, East Liverpool and Newell, W. Va., and dealers everywhere can supply you.

"Emergency Clause"

Judging from the frequency of its use, council is overworking the "emergency clause" in legislation placed on the municipal statute books.

With the exception of the measure providing salary increases for the assistants in the offices of the city auditor and water works clerk as well as the street commissioner, street laborers, teamsters and truck drivers, all of them underpaid, most of the ordinances approved in the last month have contained the clause which prevents a referendum vote in the event the legislation is objectionable.

Among the emergency measures adopted in January were the fine-splitting dry detective ordinances, which are blamed for the inter-city enforcement officers' war, and the city jail turnkey legislation. The latter act, the sole purpose of which was to give the city hall janitor police powers outside the municipal building, was enacted Friday night.

Judging from the present day interpretation of the meaning of the term, none of these ordinances was in any sense an emergency.

Five of the seven members of the city council who supported the legislation should refer to Webster's international dictionary hereafter before voting for the emergency clause. The dictionary defines the term in the following fashion:

"Emergency, n.; pl. cies (Cf. LL. emergentia) 1. Act of emerging; esp. sudden or unexpected appearance or occurence.

"2. An unforeseen occurrence or combination of circumstances which calls for immediate action or remedy; pressing necessity; exigency.

"3. Sports. A substitute; an emergency man.

"Syn.—Crisis, conjuncture, exigency, pinch, strait, necessity."

It should be interesting to know the "crises" or "exigencies" that prompted enactment of the various legislative acts.

The Court and the Senate

World court sentiment has been growing steadily, though slowly, until it seems plain to a disinterested observer that public opinion is ready for adherence to the court. Though there is still considerable doubt and criticism based on the indirect connection between the tribunal and the league of nations, the majority of citizens do not regard that as an insuperable objection.

Millions are willing to join the other half-hundred nations already pledged to uphold the court and submit their differences to it, even as matters stand. Other millions are willing to go in with modest reservations or amendments making it plain that the league shall not dominate the court, and that America shall have proper freedom of action.

Official acceptance, however, rests with the senate.

The administration's position is clear. Three presidents in succession have favored the court, regarding it as the latest and most effective development in an old, traditional and non-partisan American policy for the submission of international disputes to international adjudication. If the house of representatives had power in this matter, there would be no doubt of approval.

It remains to be seen whether senatorial politics and pride can thwart the desire of the president and people, upheld by organized labor, organized womanhood, organized religions, civic associations and the legal profession.

Cause of Drug Habit

Dr. John A. Amyot, deputy minister of health for Canada, believes that nowadays only about 3 to 5 per cent of all drug addicts are caught in the toils of habit-forming drugs through taking them for medical reasons. "That group will become less and less, for the medical profession realizes that more care should be taken."

A great many addicts begin by seeking a new thrill or for some imagined fun to be derived therefrom or yield to the tempting suggestion because they are tired or bored. Drastic restriction of production of habit-forming drugs is one form of prevention urged by this doctor. The other is widespread education as to the folly and danger of the misuse of narcotic drugs.

Haskin Letter

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

FORTUNATE ERRORS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Consider the philatelist; how contrarily he works. Queer things have always been done in the name of collecting and all collectors have come to be regarded as having rules of their own by which they live and operate. But nothing they have done is more contrary to usual laws than the manner in which they have turned mistakes into fortunes. Since time was, people have professed to derive indirect profit from their mistakes, but the collector actually does reap material gain from errors.

Where do all the rare stamps come from? For what does the philatelist value them? There are the old stamps, of course, such as the postmaster stamps of the days before there were government issues, and there are stamps valuable for their sheer beauty of design and execution. There are the stamps of foreign countries which have had various political experiences such as the Alsace and Lorraine issues of 1870-1871. These are interesting as history.

But an exceedingly important and, to the layman, surprising source of rare stamps is the error. In every issue of stamps errors occur and every error increased the value of a stamp for the philatelist, but the error he loves best and the one for which he watchfully waits whenever a new issue of stamps is due is the inverted error. The inverted error is always liable to occur when the issue is a bi-color job, which means that the sheets must be printed twice. There is the danger, from the standpoint of the bureau of engraving and printing, and the hope from the standpoint of the philatelist, that in the second printing at least one sheet will be turned upside down and come out with an inverted center. The last time the philatelic world had a thrill of this kind was in 1918 when the bi-color aero stamp issue was printed.

A young private stamp collector picked up fifteen thousand dollars for the error made in this issue. The collector was Mr. Robey, of Washington, D. C., who is a jeweler by trade and a philatelist by choice. He had been watching for the appearance of the new issue and when it came he started out to buy a 24c aero stamp. Sure enough, in a little branch postoffice of Washington he discovered his error—a stamp with its airplane inverted. He bought the entire pane of a hundred stamps and then called the clerk's attention to the error. The issue was called in and a hunt made for other errors by the postoffice officials, but no more were found. The other three panes of the sheet of errors were discovered at the bureau.

Mr. Robey sold his block of stamps to Mr. Eugene Klein, of Philadelphia, for $15,000, and the dealer in turn sold them to Colonel Green, son of Hetty Green, for $20,000. Colonel Green broke the block, kept some for his own collection and put the others on sale on the regular market. They bring $750 now and the stamp is said to have a "good future." Which means, hold on to your 24c error if you have one.

ERRORS RARE IN UNITED STATES

The philatelist must wish sometimes that our government were a little more obliging in this respect, since errors are seldom made in the United States. One authoritative philatelist says there are indications that foreign governments are more willing to co-operate with the stamp collectors by turning out a respectable number of errors in every issue. Uncle Sam seems to resent the collector's greedy approval of his mistakes and he refuses to make any more of them than he can help.

The first inverted error on record was made in 1869 in the 15, the 24 and the 30 cent values. Some of these got into the hands of collectors before they were found and called in. An unsold copy of the 15 cent value was sold in New York recently for $1,400 and an unused 30 cent value fetched $3,500. Stamps, like eggs, are valuable in proportion as they are scarce.

In the 1901 Pan-American set there were inverted errors in the 1, 2 and 4 cent values. These have never demanded prices in four figures yet, they will rise in value as they disappear into collections not on the market.

The most sensational error that has ever been made in the United States was the famous "5c red error" of 1915. Its value is not yet great because it had such a wide distribution before it was called in. The price ranges from ten to fourteen dollars, according to whether the stamp has ten perforations or eleven, or no perforations at all. The 5c error is interesting on account of the improbable way in which the mistake came about.

When the plates were ready for printing a proof was pulled and submitted to the inspector for approval. On proof of plate 7942 the inspector marked three impressions as lighter in tone than the others. These three were ordered removed from the plate and new impressions made. When the printer called for the roller to make these new impressions he received by mistake the roller for the 5c value which greatly resembles the 2c roller upside down.

MANY OF THIS ERROR ISSUED

Nobody caught the mistake and the plate was approved and put to press. From March 7 until May 2 the sale of the issue went on before the error was discovered. Almost fifty thousand sheets had been printed in that time and on each sheet were three errors. Many of these were returned to the postoffice, but many also got into the hands of collectors who keep them in safety vaults.

There are many stories of how the five cent error was discovered. One of the most amusing is that from down in Virginia a letter of complaint was received at the United States postoffice to the effect that the postmaster had received a sheet of stamps on which the values were all mixed up. It made his accounting difficult, especially as the odd 5c values were in red like the twos and not in blue as usual.

Mr. Harry B. Mason, an enthusiastic and interesting philatelist in Washington, D. C., repeats a story told by an old stamp dealer on himself. It was in the early days of 1869. One day a collector brought into the shop of the veteran dealer one hundred copies of an interesting stamp. The dealer looked them over carefully and found that only ten of them were correct copies. These he bought, but rejected the other ninety because the printer had made a mistake and got the picture in the center upside down.

But that was in the days when minor errors were more common, collectors less common and before the error had come into its own. Collectors had not yet begun trading in mistakes, giving fortunes for fifteen cent errors.

It is not to be supposed that only four errors have been made since 1869. Errors are being made all the time. Errors of inks and colors and errors in perforating. Down at the bureau of engraving and printing they confess to many mistakes in every printing but to the expectant, eager philatelist it seems a long time between errors.

DINNER STORIES

He jumped over the fence and proceeded down the river bank. Would he ever find a place where the fish would ever stay on the hook?

But, after a wicked fish had eaten his bait for about the hundredth time and as he was using his last worm, a keeper came up and tapped him on the shoulder.

"My man," he said, "are you aware that this water is private and that you are not allowed to take fish from it?"

"Great Scott!" replied the angler wearily, "I'm not taking your fish; I'm feeding them."

PARIS, Feb. 2.—To keep up its reputation as the City of Light, Paris, of course, has to use a great amount of electric light. In fact, it is almost exceeding the limit and many extensions have been made necessary to the plants. Monsieur Naudin, the prefect of the Seine, says that demand is exceeding supply, and proposes additional lines and power stations which will cost over one hundred and fifty million francs.

Luminous effects will be a great feature of the 1925 Decorative Art exposition, which will remain open until 10 o'clock every night and even later on special gala occasions. New and beautiful lighting devices are being prepared. One charming device will be a fountain of glass by Lalique, to be set up in front of the Cour des Metiers, where the water splashing over its illuminated glass will produce a fairy-like effect. Light will be everywhere, pouring from towers and balustrades. Even the high supports of the great gates will be luminous and the handsome Pont Alexandre III will be aflame with flashlights that meet and cross their colored rays above the river. On either side of the bridge there will be a Niagara of multi-colored light opposite the luminous fountains springing up from the Seine.

"Flambeau" has gone to join Sarah Bernhardt. Flambeau was the great actress' dog that was given to Louise Abbema, a well-known painter of stage celebrities and one of Sarah's most intimate friends. Every day he accompanied his master to a certain cafe in the rue Daunou, where he would perform a number of old tricks to prove himself worthy among a gathering of entertainers. He followed the funeral cortege of the Divine Sarah to Pere Lachaise and since then had gradually failed.

The poets say a rose lives but for a day, but they will have to change their tune when they write about the turtle-dove. A rare bird has just been discovered at Nogent-sur-Oooise that is on the shady side of forty. She could coo in her younger days, says the owner, but old age has somewhat silenced her and she can no longer use her wings. However, she is in good health and sits up to take her nourishment, which consists of bread crumbs, hemp seed and millet, revived by hot, sweetened wine once in a while.

"She is a regular old girl," says her master.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: Lay late and had coffee brought to my bed, my idea of top notch luxury. Then came R. Brinkerhoff, the limner, and Tom Hogg, of San Antonio, and we talked of this, that and the other.

Thence out in the town and met Billie Burke, who invited me to see her new play, which I intend to do, she being an astress of great charm. Sat awhile with Blind George, the news vendor, and then home again to my stint for several hours.

A light snow falling I donned my great coat and with my dog Owalk around the reservoir and a fellow struck me for a shilling which I gave, but asked why he must beg and he said because he had lost self respect. A fair answer and a pity.

In the evening to Fred Landeck's to a spare rib and sauer-kraut dinner and a gay gathering. We did interpretative dances with jolly mockery, but I fell and tore my breeches leg trying to master the flea hop and had to wear an apron. So to bed.

New York has more than a hundred one man churches—founded by dubious pulpiteers. They have a certain personal magnetism which they use to attract the simple minded and emotional. They exact a certain percentage of the salaries which they use themselves. The meetings are held in obscure halls. There are no charities or other functions of the regular churches. The "pastor" is given to frock coats, boiled shirts and patent leather shoes and is usually an 18 karat charlatan. Some of them hold street meetings, if the weather permits—their favorite meeting place being around the Washington Heights section.

It is an odd assortment of humanity that clots about the chalked bulletin boards along Employment Row on Sixth avenue. Most of the applicants are men who are chronic drifters—drifting from job to job. The bulletin boards tell of jobs open for lunch counter men, pantrymen, cooks, dish washers, porters, delicatessen clerks, elevator operators, doormen, teamsters and the like. The crowds stand together at the curb but rarely converse. There is a tight-lipped silence about them that is rather depressing. Few of them want to work more than a month at a time.

In the midst of the job hunting bubble one finds a school for bricklaying. A rather gaudy sign reads: "Bricklaying—Practical day and evening classes. Our graduates go direct to jobs upon receiving diplomas."

The numerous Bowery Barber colleges are interesting, too. The "students" are taught the tonsorial art by practicing on Bowery bums. A shave is five cents and a hair cut ten in the colleges.

In Pell street in Chinatown there is a kindergarten for children of the quarter. The classes are conducted by an American teacher. It is quite interesting to hear the Chinese children sing "America" in pidgin English.

Around the corner in Chatham square is Beefsteak John's eatery. The floor is carpeted with sawdust and the pine tables are without cloths. Three hard boiled waiters with stubby pompadours do the serving. The patron must pay in advance for his food. There is a filling meal for 15 cents, but the Two Star Special is 25 cents. The original Beefsteak John has gone the way of all flesh. He is said to have amassed a sizable fortune at his stand. There are quite a number of small lunch stands on the Bowery where coffee and rolls are served for three cents. And near Brooklyn bridge is one that serves the same fare for two cents.

POEM TO COMFORT OLD MEN

Gray hairs were once honored, as meaning wisdom.

Nobobdy need envy the man with gray hair today—unless he was fortunate, wise or selfish enough to store up money when his hair was still black, brown or yellow.

The world does not want the old man. Railroads or other employers do not want him.

Nearly all the very ancient peoples used to put old out of their misery to get rid of them. Some savage tribes, up in the Arctic regions, for instance, still do it.

That is brutal but kinder than the method of our "civilization," which allows the old to die slowly, feeling that they are not wanted, reading the advertisements for "young, energetic men," realizing that neither government power nor private intelligence makes any effort to use the old and pay them fairly.

NEED IT IN THIS NATION

The greatest waste in the world is the deliberate loss of power, experience, consciousness and moral character possessed by the old far more than by the young.

When you deal with a gray-haired man you know that you are dealing with something permanent.

What he can do today he can and will do tomorrow.

You may trust an old man or woman when you cannot as well trust one younger.

Work of all kinds might be so arranged that the older human beings would do it together, not on the present arrangement in which the young, working at high speed, force the old to desperate, destructive effort.

BURN MEN UP QUICKLY

Some of the old may find a moment's comfort in six verses which we quote here from a poem written by S. C. Dunham, entitled "The Great White Way."

It is the white way that leads from this life of darkness and trouble to the life—whatever it may be—that awaits us on the far side of a funeral service.

Mr. Dunham allows us to reprint the following verses of his copyrighted poem. Death is talking and addressing the old man.

"The bitter buffetings of Life
Have made your heart grow cold;
You feel you've lost your usefulness
Because you're growing old.
I bring a message that will make
Your heart grow warm and bold.

"The world has need of its old men,
who've borne the stress and strain
And struggled through Life's turbid slough
Of sorrow, want and pain—
Old men whose great, unconquered souls
Their love for men retain.

"'Tis such as these that greatly please
The Master of the Plan,
And in their sojourn here below;
Since first my work began,
He has decreed they may exceed
This life life's allotted span.

"Still higher up I'll show you all
The mysteries of space—
A hundred million giant suns
In their eternal race
Along the speedway of the spheres,
To hold their world in place.

"And then you'll view the Promised Land,
Out where the Home Sun gleams
O'er verdant hills and peaceful vales
And bright celestial streams;
Where all lost things are found again—
The country of your dreams."

Death ceased to speak; he gently smiled,
Then turned and quickly strode
Down where the far-spread city lights
Like scattered diamonds glowed,
And left me standing there alone
Beside the lonesome road.

THEN TO HUMAN ASH HEAP

Just what is it that death shows to the old man, and to the child dead in the cradle or dead before its birth, no man knows.

Faith tells different stories to the faithful, and they are happy in believing what they are told.

This much is certain, Divine power wherever we see it rules with justice. It is the fault of us human beings that we are unhappy, selfish—the few with too much and the many with too little.

We grow in strength bodily for the first 40 years of our life.

We grow in strength, patience and intelligence mentally for the last 30, 40 or 50 years.

We see the human race improving, this earth of ours itself improving. Each year is a better year.

We see nothing but improvement and we are justified in believing that death shows the old man that which is better than anything seen before.

Just at present what old age views, unless it happens to be rich old age, is not very cheerful.

WHO'S WHO

CHARLES WINFIELD WATERMAN.

The general counsel of the federal oil conservation board, just appointed by President Coolidge, is Charles Winfield Waterman, of Denver. He was the president's personal political representative during the national pre-convention campaign.

C. H. WATERMAN

The federal oil conservation board, which has its headquarters in Washington, was an outgrowth of the Teapot Dome difficulty and is designed to prevent waste and future scandals in the oil reserves of the United States.

Waterman, who is a native of Vermont, the president's home state, was born November 2, 1861. Educated at the University of Vermont, he received his A. B. degree in 1885 and his LL. D. degree in 1922. In 1889 he obtained his LL. B. degree from the University of Michigan.

After graduation from Michigan Waterman settled at Denver, where he began the parctice of law. From 1908 to 1923 he acted as counsel for the Great Western Sugar company. He also represented as counsel the C., B. & Q. R. R. Co., the C., R. I. & P. R. R. Co., the D. & R. G. Ry., the Great Western Railway company and many other corporations.

Waterman is a trustee of the University of Vermont and a member of the American, Colorado state and Denver bar associations.

"Emergency Clause"

Judging from the frequency of its use, council is overworking the "emergency clause" in legislation placed on the municipal statute books.

With the exception of the measure providing salary increases for the assistants in the offices of the city auditor and water works clerk as well as the street commissioner, street laborers, teamsters and truck drivers, all of them underpaid, most of the ordinances approved in the last month have contained the clause which prevents a referendum vote in the event the legislation is objectionable.

Among the emergency measures adopted in January were the fine-splitting dry detective ordinances, which are blamed for the inter-city enforcement officers' war, and the city jail turnkey legislation. The latter act, the sole purpose of which was to give the city hall janitor police powers outside the municipal building, was enacted Friday night.

Judging from the present day interpretation of the meaning of the term, none of these ordinances was in any sense an emergency.

Five of the seven members of the city council who supported the legislation should refer to Webster's international dictionary hereafter before voting for the emergency clause. The dictionary defines the term in the following fashion:

"Emergency, n.; pl. cies (Cf. LL. emergentia) 1. Act of emerging; esp. sudden or unexpected appearance or occurence.

"2. An unforeseen occurrence or combination of circumstances which calls for immediate action or remedy; pressing necessity; exigency.

"3. Sports. A substitute; an emergency man.

"Syn.—Crisis, conjuncture, exigency, pinch, strait, necessity."

It should be interesting to know the "crises" or "exigencies" that prompted enactment of the various legislative acts.

The Court and the Senate

World court sentiment has been growing steadily, though slowly, until it seems plain to a disinterested observer that public opinion is ready for adherence to the court. Though there is still considerable doubt and criticism based on the indirect connection between the tribunal and the league of nations, the majority of citizens do not regard that as an insuperable objection.

Millions are willing to join the other half-hundred nations already pledged to uphold the court and submit their differences to it, even as matters stand. Other millions are willing to go in with modest reservations or amendments making it plain that the league shall not dominate the court, and that America shall have proper freedom of action.

Official acceptance, however, rests with the senate.

The administration's position is clear. Three presidents in succession have favored the court, regarding it as the latest and most effective development in an old, traditional and non-partisan American policy for the submission of international disputes to international adjudication. If the house of representatives had power in this matter, there would be no doubt of approval.

It remains to be seen whether senatorial politics and pride can thwart the desire of the president and people, upheld by organized labor, organized womanhood, organized religions, civic associations and the legal profession.

Cause of Drug Habit

Dr. John A. Amyot, deputy minister of health for Canada, believes that nowadays only about 3 to 5 per cent of all drug addicts are caught in the toils of habit-forming drugs through taking them for medical reasons. "That group will become less and less, for the medical profession realizes that more care should be taken."

A great many addicts begin by seeking a new thrill or for some imagined fun to be derived therefrom or yield to the tempting suggestion because they are tired or bored. Drastic restriction of production of habit-forming drugs is one form of prevention urged by this doctor. The other is widespread education as to the folly and danger of the misuse of narcotic drugs.

Haskin Letter

FORTUNATE ERRORS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2—Consider the philatelist; how contrarily he works. Queer things have always been done in the name of collecting and all collectors have come to be regarded as having rules of their own by which they live and operate. But nothing they have done is more contrary to usual laws than the manner in which they have turned mistakes into fortunes. Since time was, people have professed to derive indirect profit from their mistakes, but the collector actually does reap material gain from errors.

Where do all the rare stamps come from? For what does the philatelist value them? There are the old stamps, of course, such as the postmaster stamps of the days before there were government issues, and there are stamps valuable for their sheer beauty of design and execution. There are the stamps of foreign countries which have had various political experiences such as the Alsace and Lorraine issues of 1870-1871. These are interesting as history.

But an exceedingly important and, to the layman, surprising source of rare stamps is the error. In every issue of stamps errors occur and every error increased the value of a stamp for the philatelist, but the error he loves best and the one for which he watchfully waits whenever a new issue of stamps is due is the inverted error. The inverted error is always liable to occur when the issue is a bi-color job, which means that the sheets must be printed twice. The rub is the danger, from the standpoint of the bureau of engraving and printing, and the hope from the standpoint of the philatelist, that in the second printing at least one sheet will be turned upside down and come out with an inverted center. The last time the philatelic world had a thrill of this kind was in 1918 when the bi-color aero stamp issue was printed.

A young private stamp collector picked up fifteen thousand dollars for the error made in this issue. The collector was Mr. Robey, of Washington, D. C., who is a jeweler by trade and a philatelist by choice. He had been watching for the appearance of the new issue and when it came he started out to buy a 24c aero stamp. Sure enough, in a little branch postoffice of Washington he discovered his error—a stamp with its airplane inverted. He bought the entire pane of a hundred stamps and then called the clerk's attention to the error. The issue was called in and a hunt made for other errors by the postoffice officials, but no more were found. The other three panes of the sheet of errors were discovered at the bureau.

Mr. Robey sold his block of stamps to Mr. Eugene Klein, of Philadelphia, for $15,000, and the dealer in turn sold them to Colonel Green, son of Hetty Green, for $20,000. Colonel Green broke the block, kept some for his own collection and put the others on sale on the regular market. They bring $750 now and the stamp is said to have a "good future." Which means, hold on to your 24c error if you have one.

ERRORS RARE IN UNITED STATES

The philatelist must wish sometimes that our government were a little more obliging in this respect, since errors are seldom made in the United States. One authoritative philatelist says there are indications that foreign governments are more willing to co-operate with the stamp collectors by turning out a respectable number of errors in every issue. Uncle Sam seems to resent the collector's greedy approval of his mistakes and he refuses to make any more of them than he can help.

The first inverted error on record was made in 1869 in the 15, the 24 and the 30 cent values. Some of these got into the hands of collectors before they were found and called in. An unsold copy of the 15 cent value was sold in New York recently for $1,400 and an unused 30 cent value fetched $8,500. Stamps, like eggs, are valuable in proportion as they are scarce.

In the 1901 Pan-American set there were inverted errors in the 1, 2 and 4 cent values. These have never demanded prices in four figures yet, they will rise in value as they disappear into collections not on the market.

The most sensational error that has ever been made in the United States was the famous "5c red error" of 1915. Its value is not yet great because it had such a wide distribution before it was called in. The price ranges from ten to fourteen dollars, according to whether the stamp has ten perforations or eleven, or no perforations at all. The 5c error is interesting on account of the improbable way in which the mistake came about.

When the plates were ready for printing a proof was pulled and submitted to the inspector for approval. On proof of plate 7942 the inspector marked three impressions as lighter in tone than the others. These three were ordered removed from the plate and new impressions made. When the printer called for the roller to make these new impressions he received by mistake the roller for the 5c value which greatly resembles the 2c roller upside down.

Thence out in the town and met Billie Burke, who invited me to see her new play, which I intend to do, she being an astress of great charm. Sat awhile with Blind George, the news vendor, and then home again to my stint for several hours.

A light snow falling I donned my great coat and with my dog I owalk around the reservoir and a fellow struck me for a shilling which I gave, but asked why he must beg and he said because he had lost self respect. A fair answer and a pity.

In the evening to Fred Landeck's to a spare rib and sauer-kraut dinner and a gay gathering. We did interpretative dances with jolly mockery, but I fell and tore my breeches leg trying to master the flea hop and had to wear an apron. So to bed.

New York has more than a hundred one man churches—founded by dubious pulpiteers. They have a certain personal magnetism which they use to attract the simple minded and emotional. They exact a certain percentage of the salaries which they use themselves. The meetings are held in obscure halls. There are no charities or other functions of the regular churches. The "pastor" is given to frock coats, boiled shirts and patent leather shoes and is usually an 18 karat charlatan. Some of them hold street meetings, if the weather permits—their favorite meeting place being around the Washington Heights section.

It is an odd assortment of humanity that clots about the chalked bulletin boards along Employment Row on Sixth avenue. Most of the applicants are men who are chronic drifters—drifting from job to job. The bulletin boards tell of jobs open for lunch counter men, pantrymen, cooks, dish washers, porters, delicatessen clerks, elevator operators, doormen, teamsters and the like. The crowds stand together at the curb but rarely converse. There is a tight-lipped silence about them that is rather depressing. Few of them want to work more than a mouth at a time.

In the midst of the job hunting bubble one finds a school for bricklaying. A rather gaudy sign reads: "Bricklaying—Practical day and evening classes. Our graduates go direct to jobs upon receiving diplomas."

The numerous Bowery Barber colleges are interesting, too. The "students" are taught the tonsorial art by practicing on Bowery bums. A shave is five cents and a hair cut ten in the colleges.

In Pell street in Chinatown there is a kindergarten for children of the quarter. The classes are conducted by an American teacher. It is quite interesting to hear the Chinese children sing "America" in pidgin English.

Around the corner in Chatham square is Beefsteak John's eatery. The floor is carpeted with sawdust and the pine tables are without cloths. Three hard boiled waiters with stubby pompadours do the serving. The patron must pay in advance for his food. There is a filling meal for 15 cents, but the Two Star Special is 25 cents. The original Beefsteak John has gone the way of all flesh. He is said to have amassed a sizable fortune at his stand. There are quite a number of small lunch stands on the Bowery where coffee and rolls are served for three cents. And near Brooklyn bridge is one that serves the same fare for two cents.

POEM TO COMFORT OLD MEN

Gray hairs were once honored, as meaning wisdom.

Nobobdy need envy the man with gray hair today—unless he was fortunate, wise or selfish enough to store up money when his hair was still black, brown or yellow.

The world does not want the old man. Railroads or other employers do not want him.

Nearly all the very ancient peoples used to put old out of their misery to get rid of them. Some savage tribes, up in the Arctic regions, for instance, still do it.

That is brutal but kinder than the method of our "civilization," which allows the old to die slowly, feeling that they are not wanted, reading the advertisements for "young, energetic men," realizing that neither governement power nor private intelligence makes any effort to use the old and pay them fairly.

NEED IT IN THIS NATION

The greatest waste in the world is the deliberate loss of power, experience, consciousness and moral character possessed by the old far more than by the young.

When you deal with a gray-haired man you know that you are dealing with something permanent.

What he can do today he can and will do tomorrow.

You may trust an old man or woman when you cannot as well trust one younger.

Work of all kinds might be so arranged that the older human beings would do it together, not on the present arrangement in which the young, working at high speed, force the old to desperate, destructive effort.

BURN MEN UP QUICKLY

Some of the old may find a moment's comfort in six verses which we quote here from a poem written by S. C. Dunham, entitled "The Great White Way."

It is the white way that leads from this life of darkness and trouble to the life—whatever it may be—that awaits us on the far side of a funeral service.

Mr. Donham allows us to reprint the following verses of his copyrighted poem. Death is talking and addressing the old man.

"The bitter buffetings of Life
Have made your heart grow cold;
You feel you've lost your usefulness
Because you're growing old.
I bring a message that will make
Your heart grow warm and bold.

"The world has need of its old men,
who've borne the stress and strain
And struggled through Life's turbid slough
Of sorrow, want and pain—
Old men whose great, unconquered souls
Their love for men retain.

"'Tis such as these that greatly please
The Master of the Plan,
And in their sojourn here below;
Since first my work began,
He has decreed they may exceed
This life life's allotted span.

"Still higher up I'll show you all
The mysteries of space—
A hundred million giant suns
In their eternal race
Along the speedway of the spheres,
To hold their world in place.

"And then you'll view the Promised Land,
Out where the Home Sun gleams
O'er verdant hills and peaceful vales
And bright celestial streams;
Where all lost things are found again—
The country of your dreams."

Death ceased to speak; he gently smiled,
Then turned and quickly strode
Down where the far-spread city lights
Like scattered diamonds glowed,
And left me standing there alone
Beside the lonesome road.

THEN TO HUMAN ASH HEAP

Just what is it that death shows to the old man, and to the child dead in the cradle or dead before its birth, no man knows.

Faith tells different stories to the faithful, and they are happy in believing what they are told.

This much is certain. Divine power wherever we see it rules with justice. It is the fault of us human beings that we are unhappy, selfish—the few with too much and the many with too little.

We grow in strength bodily for the first 40 years of our life.

We grow in strength, patience and intelligence mentally for the last 30, 40 or 50 years.

We see the human race improving, this earth of ours itself improving. Each year is a better year.

We see nothing but improvement and we are justified in believing that death shows the old man that which is better than anything seen before.

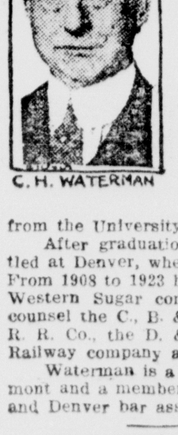

Just at present what old age views, unless it happens to be rich old age, is not very cheerful.

WHO'S WHO

CHARLES WINFIELD WATERMAN.

The general counsel of the federal oil conservation board, just appointed by President Coolidge, is Charles Winfield Waterman, of Denver. He was the president's personal political representative during the national pre-convention campaign.

C. H. WATERMAN

The federal oil conservation board, which has its headquarters in Washington, was an outgrowth of the Teapot Dome difficulty and is designed to prevent waste and future scandals in the oil reserves of the United States.

Waterman, who is a native of Vermont, the president's home state, was born November 2, 1861. Educated at the University of Vermont, he received his A. B. degree in 1885 and his LL. D. degree in 1922. In 1889 he obtained his LL. B. degree from the University of Michigan.

After graduation from Michigan Waterman settled at Denver, where he began the parctice of law. From 1908 to 1923 he acted as counsel for the Great Western Sugar company. He also represented as counsel the C., B. & Q. R. R. Co., the C., R. I. & P. R. R. Co., the D. & R. G. Ry., the Great Western Railway company and many other corporations.

Waterman is a trustee of the University of Vermont and a member of the American, Colorado state and Denver bar associations.

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND
BY DAISY DEAN

We have been informed on reliable authority, that young Ben Lyon is quite the most promising of the present crop of young leading men of the photoplay world. And the screen is said to be crying for new blood for the noble stuff, too. You know what we ean, nothing bloodthirsty. Ben is said to be somewhat of a heartbreaker off the screen. There has been some talk of him and the bewitching Swanson, even going so far as to say that Ben is carrying around in his pocket a passport in case he should be overwhelmed with loneliness to see Gloria who is making "Madame Sans Gene" in Paris, (you know) and should decide to slip over in a hurry to see her. However, that is pure gossip in which we never indulge.

We do know that Ben is a southern gentleman. That he is tall and good looking and will fight if called a sheik. He was born in Atlanta, Ga., and got his schooling in Baltimore. He had a small part in "Flaming Youth," in which Coleen Moore starred, you remember. He had been on the legitimate stage before this, making his debut in "Seventeen" and his first stage hit as the hero in "Mary the Third."

He was Gloria Swanson's leading man in "Wages of Virtue" and Pola Negri's in "Lily of the Dust." And he has just finished the role of Colleen Moore's son in the picturization of Edna Ferber's story, "So Big." First National is grooming him for stardom, we hear, so watch for the charming Ben—and he is really charming. You will see him shortly in "One Way Street" which John Francis Dillon directed, and later in "Uhiah's Son."

Ben Lyon Is No Sheik, He Says

Handsome Ben Lyon, film actor, is ready to fight anyone who refers to him as a "sheik." Ben is popular with the ladies, nevertheless. He was with Gloria Swanson in "Wages of Virtue," with Pola Negri in "Lily of the Dust," and Colleen Moore in "So big."

Alice Terry is to play the feminine lead in "Sackcloth and Scarlet," Henry King's production of George Gibb's story. Orville Caldwell plays opposite her. She was to have gone abroad to join her husband, Rex Ingram, to play the feminine lead in "Mare Nostrum," but there seems to be some doubt as to whether her contract will allow her to make the trip. We are all going to be disappointed if this proves to be the case.

Rumors are afloat that Gloria Swanson may break away from Paramount company and join Mary Pickford, Doug. Fairbanks, Chaplin, Joseph Schenck and his wife, Norma Talmadge, etc., in United Artists. This report is not confirmed or denied by United Artists representatives.

Pauline Frederick has recently been divorced from Dr. Rutherford, Seattle physician.

"The Great Barnum" is the name of a photoplay to be made based on the life of the great showman. Who will play Barnum? Wallace Berry has been suggested, also Thomas Meighan.

We are getting up our own list of "best pictures" and will submit it in the near future. We will say, however, that we are satisfied with the judges' choice of "Scaramouche" for first choice.

Rod La Rocque has gone abroad to play opposite Gloria Swanson in "The Coast of Folly."

A WORD FOR BEGINNERS.

The best way to solve a cross-word puzzle is to run quickly over the list of horizontal and vertical synonyms and compare them to the spaces in the puzzle extending crosswise or downward from the number of the synonym. Some word which will just fit in the number of space available will quickly occur to you in some instances, giving you a foundation from which to solve the more difficult words. The words must interlock perfectly.

POEMS THAT LIVE

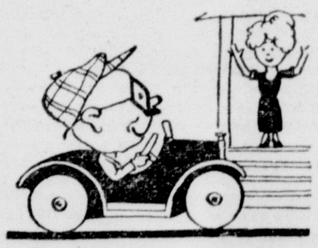

Come, Rest in This Bosom

Come, rest in this bosom, my own strickeen deer,
Though the herd have fled from thee,
thy home is still here;
Here still is the smile that no cloud can o'ercast,
And a heart and a hand all thy own
to the last.

Oh, what was love made for, if 'tis not the same
Through joy and through torment, through glory and shame?
I know not, I ask not, if guilt's in that heart,
I but know that I love thee, whatever thou art.

Thou hast called me thy angel in moments of bliss,
And thy angel I'll be 'mid the horrors of this,
Through the furnace, unshrinking, thy steps to pursue,
And shield thee, and save thee — or perish there, too!

—Thomas Moore.

British Smoking Far Fewer "Fags" Than Year Ago

LONDON, Feb. The world is smoking less, due to high prices and shortness of money.

According to the Tobacco World 1,000,000 pounds less per month is being smoked at the present time than in 1923.

This decrease is not reflected in the dividends of the great tobacco concerns, which all registered increased profits and dividends on shares.

Manufacturers are of the opinion that the decrease is probably due to the economizing of the middle-class citizen, who cannot afford the high cost of cigarettes and is taking to the cheaper and more economical pipe.

Herewith is solution to Puzzle No. 89.

Copyright, 1925, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

A WORD FOR BEGINNERS.

The best way to solve a cross-word puzzle is to run quickly over the list of horizontal and vertical synonyms and compare them to the spaces in the puzzle extending crosswise or downward from the number of the synonym. Some word which will just fit in the number of space available will quickly occur to you in some instances, giving you a foundation from which to solve the more difficult words. The words must interlock perfectly.

Sunday, saint—
Monday, sinner;
Monday's grouch—

How old is Anne?
Nobody knows;
For the longer she lives
The younger she grows.

POEMS THAT LIVE

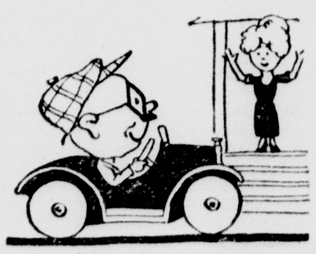

Come, Rest in This Bosom

Come, rest in this bosom, my own stricken deer,
Though the herd have fled from thee, thy home is still here;
Here still is the smile that no cloud can o'ercast,
And a heart and a hand all thy own to the last.

Oh, what was love made for, if 'tis not the same
Through joy and through torment, through glory and shame?
I know not, I ask not, if guilt's in that heart,
I but know that I love thee, whatever thou art.

Thou hast called me thy angel in moments of bliss,
And thy angel I'll be 'mid the horrors of this,
Through the furnace, unshrinking, thy steps to pursue,
And shield thee, and save thee — or perish there, too!

—Thomas Moore.

HOLLIDAY'S COVE WILL CALL VOTE

Electors of Hollidays Cove will be called upon soon to vote on the new charter form of government, the bill for which was passed by the legislature and signed by Governor Morgan. The proposal was one of the few emergency measures adopted at the short session which closed last Wednesday.

Council sanctioned the plan after it was approved by a committee of citizens who drafted it. No opposition was voiced to passage when it came before the legislature. It was introduced by Delegate J. William Moulds of Weirton.

British Smoking Far Fewer "Fags" Than Year Ago

LONDON, Feb. The world is smoking less, due to high prices and shortness of money.

According to the Tobacco World 1,000,000 pounds less per month is being smoked at the present time than in 1923.

This decrease is not reflected in the dividends of the great tobacco concerns, which all registered increased profits and dividends on shares.

Manufacturers are of the opinion that the decrease is probably due to the economizing of the middle-class citizen, who cannot afford the high cost of cigarettes and is taking to the cheaper and more economical pipe.

Harrowing Experience.

ELYRIA, Jan.—Paul Buechler underwent a harrowing experience when a B. & O. freight train hit the truck he was driving. The truck was carried 20 car lengths, the engine demolished and the fire department was called out to prevent the gasoline, which ignited on the truck from firing the freight train.

WEIRTON MILL WORKER KILLED

Guam Camo, 53, Spaniard, Struck on Head By Swinging Crane.

Guam Camo, 53 years old, Spaniard, was almost instantly killed yesterday at Weirton when he was struck on the head by a scule bucket while standing on top of a coal car in the plant of the Weirton Steel company. He was knocked to the ground and when reached by fellow workmen was found to have suffered a broken neck. He was taken to the emergency hospital where he died.

The victim, who was employed in the blooming mill was unloading coal and failed to notice the approach of the large bucket in the swinging crane which was operating close to the car. He came to this country only a short time ago and leaves a wife and five children in Spain.

Coroner George A. Arner was notified and held an inquest. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

RETIRED FARMER NOW LIES DOWN TO PLEASANT DREAMS

Resided in Same Locality for Over Three Score Years and Enjoys Life at Advanced Age—Ka-di-ok Did It.

MR. JOHN PATTON,
Sharon, Pa.

After a residence of over three score years in practically the same locality, Mr. John Patton, a retired farmer, now living with his son at 620 West State street, Sharon, Pa., is enjoying excellent health at an advanced age, and is getting much of the pleasure of living out of life.

This was not so some few months ago, when Mr. Patton suffered from stomach trouble, with dizziness, weakness, poor appetite, sleeplessness, and a general all run-down condition.

A friend, noting his condition, advised him to try Ka-di-ok, the wonderful nerve tonic, vitalizer and system toner, and after a short trial, Mr. Patton advised the Ka-di-ok representative that he is no longer suffering from dizzy spells, can eat and sleep better and does not feel so tired out as he did before. He declared Ka-di-ok is the real goods and is recommending its use to his friends.

Others suffering from the ills and weaknesses of advanced age can get surcease from their troubles through Ka-di-ok. It is also indicated for rheumatism, kidney and liver complaints, auto-intoxication, and many of the ills arising from impoverished blood and stomach troubles.

Make life pleasant by preserving your health and restoring that which has been lost to you for some time past. Ka-di-ok is highly recommended by all.

Ka-di-ok is sold and recommended in East Liverpool by Mathews' Cut Rate Medicine Store, 129 W. Sixth Street.

NEGRO IS FACING SERIOUS CHARGE

Sherdick Flucker, 40, negro, of Stop 39, Beech Bottom, was arrested early yesterday morning and is being held in the Brooke county jail, charged with pistol toting.

George Dickens, 20, negro, who alleges that Flucker threatened him with a gun during a quarrel, will appear as the chief witness.

Sheriff Robert M. Lowe and Deputy J. T. Hoover went to Beech Bottom at 3 o'clock Sunday morning, upon hearing reports of a gun battle on the streets of Beech Bottom. Flucker had fired no shots, however, it was learned.

Flucker was standing in a group of four or five other negroes on a street corner when authorities approached him. He did not offer resistance. A gun was taken from his pockets.

His Advice

"Every winter found me all in. My doctor told me winter was hard on the kidneys, especially after a hard cold or the grip. Uric acid accumulated in the system in excessive amount, the kidneys became clogged, and machinery out of kilter. I suffered from backache, bladder trouble and sometimes had drowsy or dizzy spells. I'm now giving you just the advice the doctor gave me. Go to your neighborhood drug store and ask for Dr. Pierce's An-uric (anti-uric-acid) tablets. They'll fix that backache! You'll soon feel like a fighting-cock and full of ginger."

If you want a trial package of An-uric, (kidney-backache) tablets send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Clinic in Buffalo, N. Y., and write for free advice.

Wellsburg Man Dead.

William C. Saurs, age 65 years, died at 4:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Knights of St. George Home at Wellsburg, following a long illness of a complication of diseases.

Mr. Saurs was born in Wheeling where he spent the greater part of his life. The deceased followed the carpenter trade until the past few years, which time he had led a retired life in the Knights of St. George's Home in Wellsburg.

Mr. Saurs was a member of the Knights of St. George and also of the Holy Name Society of the St. Alphonsus church of Wheeling.

He is survived by one daughter, Regina.

Held on Liquor Count.

Joseph Bachudue is being held in the Wellsburgh jail for a hearing this evening charged with violating the prohibition laws. He was arrested yesterday when Brooke county officials raided his place at Beach Bottom. Four gallons of whiskey were seized by the raiders.

Fills Local Pulpit.

Rev. Charles Bell of Elwood City, Pa., occupied the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church at the services yesterday morning and evening. The pastorate is vacant owing to the recent death of Rev. Herbert O. MacDonald.

Council Tonight.

Council will meet in regular session this evening in the city hall building. Routine matters will be considered.

School Statistics.

Statistics compiled by the state department of education shows McDowell county leads all other counties in the number of pupils attending school for 180 day terms. The enrollment figures are 18,487. Hancock county figures are 4,362, while Brooke is credited with 4,977.

Q. When was the first inaugural ball held? W. W. F.

A. In 1809, when President Madison was inaugurated, for the first time the festivities of the day were continued into the evening and took the form of a dancing assembly or inauguration ball. Both the retiring President, Thomas Jefferson, and the new president, James Madison, attended. The company numbered about 400.

Q. A man weighs 150 pounds. How much is he worth if he is worth his weight in gold? C. E. J.

A. A troy pound of gold would be worth $248.04. An avoirdupois pound would be worth $301.43. The price of gold is fixed by international agreement at $20.67 a troy ounce; 150 avoirdupois pounds of gold would be worth $45,214.50.

Q. How many Bibles are distributed by the American Bible Society? G. A. R.

A. The latest figures are for 1923 when 7,161,289 Bibles were distributed. This was an increase of 2,538,222 over the preceding year. In China alone the increase was over 1,000,000 copies.

Q. Why is the Mississippi river called "The Father of Waters"? R. S.

A. This is a literal translation for the Indian name Mississippi.

Q. How many bananas are used in this country? W. L. P.

A. In 1923 the imports of bananas to the United States was 1,044,689 carload tons of 2,240 pounds.

Q. Whose idea was it to have at Columbia University an "International House" and what religions are represented? D. E.

A. The idea was that of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Edmunds. Bramanism, Buddhism, Christianity, Confucianism, Judaism, Hinduism, Jainism, Islam or Zoroastrianism are represented.

Q. Kindly tell me what is meant by the water recovery system relative to the dirigible Los Angeles. L. R. J.

A. As the Los Angeles cruises along it uses up gasoline and upon losing gasoline loses weight which makes the ship lighter and gives it a tendency to increase the altitude as it loses weight. This is a disadvantage when landing unless some of the gas is valved by letting it out of the cells. Helium is valuable, however, and is not to be lost when it can be avoided. The water recovery system is an apparatus of which water is recovered from the exhaust gases of the engine by condensation. The water so recovered represents about from 90 per cent to 100 per cent of the weight of the fuel burned. The recovery of water thus compensates for the fuel burned and maintains the lift of the ship at a fixed value.

Q. What is meant by the Arlington time signals as broadcasted? A. B.

A. The Arlington ten o'clock signal is sent out as a check for mariners at sea.

Q. How many wrecks have there been off Sable Island? M. C.

A. From both ends of this island sand bars extend into the ocean for about 20 miles. It is on the route between America and Great Britain and more than 200 wrecks have occurred in these waters.

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

Guam Camo, 53 years old, Spaniard, was almost instantly killed yesterday at Weirton when he was struck on the head by a scule bucket while standing on top of a coal car in the plant of the Weirton Steel company. He was knocked to the ground and when reached by fellow workmen was found to have suffered a broken neck. He was taken to the emergency hospital where he died.

The victim, who was employed in the blooming mill was unloading coal and failed to notice the approach of the large bucket in the swinging crane which was operating close to the car. He came to this country only a short time ago and leaves a wife and five children in Spain.

Coroner George A. Arner was notified and held an inquest. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

RETIRED FARMER NOW LIES DOWN TO PLEASANT DREAMS

Resided in Same Locality for Over Three Score Years and Enjoys Life at Advanced Age—Ka-di-ok Did It.

MR. JOHN PATTON,
Sharon, Pa.

After a residence of over three score years in practically the same locality, Mr. John Patton, a retired farmer, now living with his son at 620 West State street, Sharon, Pa., is enjoying excellent health at an advanced age, and is getting much of the pleasure of living out of life.

This was not so some few months ago, when Mr. Patton suffered from stomach trouble, with dizziness, weakness, poor appetite, sleeplessness, and a general all run-down condition.

A friend, noting his condition, advised him to try Ka-di-ok, the wonderful nerve tonic, vitalizer and system toner, and after a short trial, Mr. Patton advised the Ka-di-ok representative that he is no longer suffering from dizzy spells, can eat and sleep better and does not feel so tired out as he did before. He declared Ka-di-ok is the real goods and is recommending its use to his friends.

Others suffering from the ills and weaknesses of advanced age can get surcease from their troubles through Ka-di-ok. It is also indicated for rheumatism, kidney and liver complaints, auto-intoxication, and many of the ills arising from impoverished blood and stomach troubles.

Make life pleasant by preserving your health and restoring that which has been lost to you for some time past. Ka-di-ok is highly recommended by all.

Ka-di-ok is sold and recommended in East Liverpool by Mathews' Cut Rate Medicine Store, 129 W. Sixth Street.

NEGRO IS FACING SERIOUS CHARGE

Sherdick Flucker, 40, negro, of Stop 39, Beech Bottom, was arrested early yesterday morning and is being held in the Brooke county jail, charged with pistol toting.

George Dickens, 20, negro, who alleges that Flucker threatened him with a gun during a quarrel, will appear as the chief witness.

Sheriff Robert M. Lowe and Deputy J. T. Hoover went to Beech Bottom at 3 o'clock Sunday morning, upon hearing reports of a gun battle on the streets of Beech Bottom. Flucker had fired no shots, however, it was learned.

Flucker was standing in a group of four or five other negroes on a street corner when authorities approached him. He did not offer resistance. A gun was taken from his pockets.

His Advice

"Every winter found me all in. My doctor told me winter was hard on the kidneys, especially after a hard cold or the grip. Uric acid accumulated in the system in excessive amount, the kidneys became clogged, and machinery out of kilter. I suffered from backache, bladder trouble and sometimes had drowsy or dizzy spells. I'm now giving you just the advice the doctor gave me. Go to your neighborhood drug store and ask for Dr. Pierce's Anuric (anti-uric-acid) tablets. They'll fix that backache! You'll soon feel like a fighting-cock and full of ginger."

If you want a trial package of Anuric, (kidney-backache) tablets send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Clinic in Buffalo, N. Y., and write for free advice.

Q. When was the first inaugural ball held? W. W. F.

A. In 1809, when President Madison was inaugurated, for the first time the festivities of the day were continued into the evening and took the form of a dancing assembly or inauguration ball. Both the retiring President, Thomas Jefferson, and the new president, James Madison, attended. The company numbered about 400.

Q. A man weighs 150 pounds. How much is he worth if he is worth his weight in gold? C. E. J.

A. A troy pound of gold would be worth $248.04. An avoirdupois pound would be worth $301.43. The price of gold is fixed by international agreement at $20.67 a troy ounce; 150 avoirdupois pounds of gold would be worth $45,214.59.

Q. How many Bibles are distributed by the American Bible Society? G. A. R.

A. The latest figures are for 1923 when 7,161,289 Bibles were distributed. This was an increase of 2,538,222 over the preceding year. In China alone the increase was over 1,000,000 copies.

Q. Why is the Mississippi river called "The Father of Waters"? R. S.

A. This is a literal translation for the Indian name Mississippi.

Q. How many bananas are used in this country? W. L. P.

A. In 1923 the imports of bananas to the United States was 1,044,689 carload tons of 2,240 pounds.

Q. Whose idea was it to have at Columbia University an "International House" and what religions are represented? D. E.

A. The idea was that of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Edmunds. Bramanism, Buddhism, Christianity, Confuscianism, Judaism, Hinduism, Jainism, Islam or Zoroastrianism are represented.

Q. Kindly tell me what is meant by the water recovery system relative to the dirigible Los Angeles. L. R. J.

A. As the Los Angeles cruises along it uses up gasoline and upon losing gasoline loses weight which makes the ship lighter and gives it a tendency to increase the altitude as it loses weight. This is a disadvantage when landing unless some of the gas is valved by letting it out of the cells. Helium is valuable, however, and is not to be lost when it can be avoided. The water recovery system is an apparatus of which water is recovered from the exhaust gases of the engine by condensation. The water so recovered represents about from 90 per cent to 100 per cent of the weight of the fuel burned. The recovery of water thus compensates for the fuel burned and maintains the lift of the ship at a fixed value.

Q. What is meant by the Arlington time signals as broadcasted? A. B.

A. The Arlington ten o'clock signal is sent out as a check for mariners at sea.

Q. How many wrecks have there been off Sable Island? M. C.

A. From both ends of this island sand bars extend into the ocean for about 20 miles. It is on the route between America and Great Britain and more than 200 wrecks have occurred in these waters.

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

Bible Literary Club Entertained by Mrs. T. T. McCann

The Bible Literary club met Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. T. T. McCann of Vine street. The sesssion opened with roll call, the response being "A Thought from the Apocrypha." The topic of the day was "The Period Between the Gospels." Mrs. Harry Logan was the leader. Mrs. C. R. Boyce gave an address on "The Greek Language," after which Miss Maud Baum read a paper, prepared by Miss Anna Gardner, on "The Roman World." The questionnaire was conducted as follows:

(a) What is the historical value of the Apocrypha?

(b) Who was ruler at the beginning of the Persian period?

(c) What were some of the developments traceable to this period?

(d) Who were some of the great military leaders of the Grecian period?

(e) Name some of the Jewish sects that sprung up at this time.

(f) In what way did Roman domination affect the Jews?

(g) What was the messianic hope, which grew up among the Jews, prior to the New Testament period?

Informal social hours followed the questionnaire.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. C. T. Larkins of Thompson avenue.

Columbiana County Tuberculin Clinic Plans Advancing

Organization of the tuberculosis clinic in Columbiana county is being carried out by Health Commissioner Dr. T. T. Church, together with the nurses of the districts of the county and Salem. Miss Lewis, school nurse; Ann Thomas, Red Cross nurse of Salem, and Miss Louise Steel, county nurse, are being assisted by Miss Grace E. Donsing, organization nurse, from the State Department of Health. The nurses will try to visit every physician in the county and get from him a list of patients who in his opinion would benefit from an examination.
Dr. John E. Monger, director of health, has written every physician in the county a letter explaining the entire program of tuberculosis clinics and their results.
The County Medical society has given its approval to this campaign and promises its co-operation and assistance.
The health commissioners and physicians believe that this clinic will serve the people of Columbiana county by the discovery of many early and suspected cases of tuberculosis.

Rev. Charles Swift Pleads for Passage Of Bible Measure

"The great cry that is now coming from the wardens of penitentiaries and other institutions is "stop the tide of crime,'" declared the Rev. Charles F. Swift, former pastor of the East Liverpool Methodist Protestant church, now of the National Reform association.
He addressed a union church service in the Lisbon Presbyterian church Sunday night, and immediately after the service he left for Columbus to work in behalf of House Bill No 14, which provides for the reading of the Bible in the public schools, and which is to be reported out of committee Wednesday.
"There are two bills now pendin in the House that are vital to the people of this state," the speaker said. "One is the passage of House Bill No. 14, and the other is the killing of a measure that has for its object the commercializing of the Sabbath day, and permit the throwing open of public dance halls on Sunday.
"Pennsylvania legislature at its last session passed a bill providing that the Bible be read in the public school room every morning. Last year three more states were added to the list, Kentucky, North Carolina and South Carolina. There are 10 states having such a law, and it looks as if Ohio will be the next state to go over with this bill.

The health commissioners and physicians believe that this clinic will serve the people of Columbiana county by the discovery of many early and suspected cases of tuberculosis.

Rev. Charles Swift Pleads for Passage Of Bible Measure

"The great cry that is now coming from the wardens of penitentiaries and other institutions is "stop the tide of crime,'" declared the Rev. Charles F. Swift, former pastor of the East Liverpool Methodist Protestant church, now of the National Reform association.

He addressed a union church service in the Lisbon Presbyterian church Sunday night, and immediately after the service he left for Columbus to work in behalf of House Bill No 14, which provides for the reading of the Bible in the public schools, and which is to be reported out of committee Wednesday.

"There are two bills now pendin in the House that are vital to the people of this state," the speaker said. "One is the passage of House Bill No. 14, and the other is the killing of a measure that has for its object the commercializing of the Sabbath day, and permit the throwing open of public dance halls on Sunday.

"Pennsylvania legislature at its last session passed a bill providing that the Bible be read in the public school room every morning. Last year three more states were added to the list, Kentucky, North Carolina and South Carolina. There are 10 states having such a law, and it looks as if Ohio will be the next state to go over with this bill.

TIMELY VIEWS ON WORLD TOPICS

"TRADITIONS OF MONROE DOCTORINE MUST BE MAINTAINED.

"The foreign policy of the United States," said Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois recently at the moment he was being mentioned for the ambassadorial post at Rome, "may be repugnant to some of us, it may be acceptable to some of us, or, again, some of us may approve its general tendencies and broad purposes while we criticize it in detail. There is, none the less, an American foreign policy influential upon the course of events in Asia, in Europe and in the two Americas. It is the traditional foreign policy of the United States.

This traditional foreign policy of the U. S. is a policy not of isolation, but of independence; a policy of collaboration, and not of alliance. It is primarily an American policy and not a European policy or an Asiatic policy or a world policy.

"It was the Senate which hesisted the annexation of the Dominican Republic; it was the Senate which first declared against the annexation of Cuba; it was the Senate which ratified, with Monroe-like reservations to preserve our traditional American policy, the acts of Berlin and Brussels, as well as The Hague treaties; it was the action of the Senate which made the Panama Canal an American Canal and not a neutral canal and which made it possible to guard the canal, both by fortification in Panama and by the establishment of a naval base at Guantanamo.

People's Desires Mirrored.

"The Senate acted thus, if I read aright the history of the country, in response to the common judgment of the American people, who are unwilling to assume political responsibilities in Europe or Asia and who increasingly resented the activity or the intervention of great powers in the Caribbean area, and, indeed, by threat of war, expelled the French from Mexico, as, by actual war, they expelled Spain from the Antilles.

"By that war we drove an European colonial power from the Americas. With the establishment of Cuban independence, we gave evidence that we no longer cared to acquire sovereignty over peoples and territories to the south of us, but, at the same time, inaugurated that policy under which we have made ourselves the protectors of the Caribbean states, not only against enemies from without, against revolutionaries from within.

"The treaties under which we advise and participate in the government of Hayti and the Dominican Republic are born directly of the policies under which we excluded the British from the isthmus and expelled Spain from Cuba and established what is tantamount to a protectorate over the Caribbean.

Nation's Influence Strengthened

Under international law one of the weaker European states might transfer the remnants of its West Indian colonies to one of the greater European states, but we would not permit. We should not submit that right of transfer under international law to the Hague court.

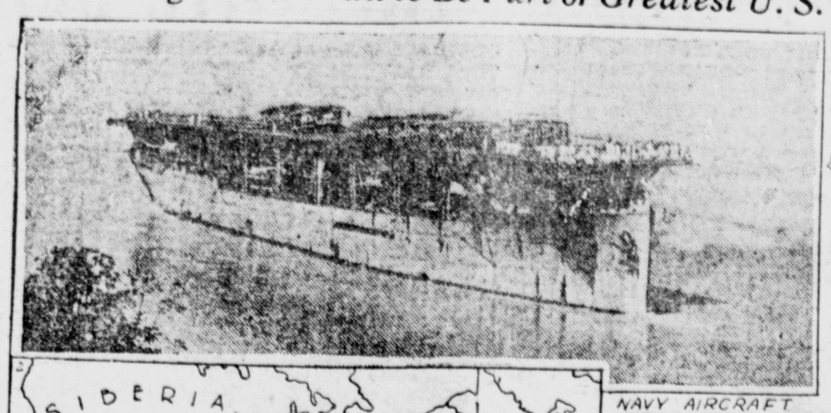

"We are not less influential, but more influential, because that is our policy. Our detachment from European complexities, our aloofness from the international Tammany and our attachment to American security at home and our influence abroad in solving the most urgent foreign problems, when we consent to join in their solution.

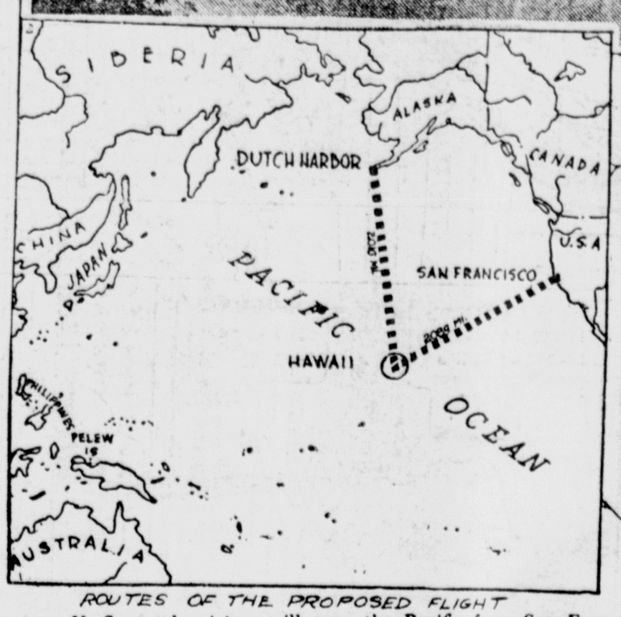

"The United States exercises its greatest influence because it is responsive to the judgment and conscience of the American people."

Flight to Hawaii to Be Part of Greatest U. S. Naval Maneuvers

ROUTES OF THE PROPOSED FLIGHT

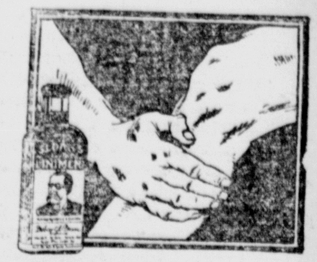

U. S. naval aviators will span the Pacific from San Francisco to Hawaii, a distance of 2089 miles, in a non-stop flight, in April, as a part of the greatest maneuvers ever held by the American navy. The purpose of the flight will be to determine the possibility of raising a Hawaiian siege by air assistance from home forces. The combined United States fleet will play the part of an enemy force attacking the islands. The maneuvers will be staged under the direction of Admiral Robert E. Coontz, commander-in-chief. After the flight to Hawaii the aviators hope to "jump" from Honolulu to Dutch Harbor, Unalaska, another 2,000 miles.

Money for Missions.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Feb. —Money contributed by pupils of the local schools to buy flowers for the funeral of Miss Margaret A. Moore, veteran teacher, will go, instead, to Korea for use in mission work. CONSTIPATION means SICKNESS

More human suffering, physical and mental, has resulted from constipation than from any other source. The entire future life of a child can be ruined by lack of attention to the proper daily movement of the bowels. If the bowels do not act at least twice daily it means constipation—that means the bowels are clogged up with the accumulated residue of five to fifteen meals or more with consequent pollution, poison and disease.

Helen D'Algy Stars With Valentino in Film at Ceramic

Helen D'Algy, charming darkeyed, raven haired beauty from Madrid, has the leading feminine role opposite Rudolph Valentino in his new production for Paramount, "A Sainted Devil," at the Ceramic theatre, starting today.

Helen's family left Spain for South America when she was very young, and she and her brother (he has a good role in the cast of "A Sainted Devil") got the stage bug and joined a stock company in Buenos Aires. The girl became an extremely popular actress locally on both stage and screen.

Coming to this country a little over a year ago, Helen met with quite a series of disappointments until Flo Ziegfeld saw her. He was so struck with Miss D'Algy that he immediately signed her up, and she put in a full season with his famous "Follies."

Then followed another attempt at the motion picture game, and her experience in the "Follies" stood her in good stead this time. She was signed for an important part in "Lend Me Your Husband" and did so well in the role that she was given good parts in "The Fool" and "Let No Man Put Asunder." Then followed Paramount's "The Side Show of Life."

At this time the cast of "A Sainted Devil" was being chosen. Only one important role was unfilled, that of Julietta, the girl whom Don Alonzo (Valentino) is in love with, and whom he marries in the end. A number of girls had been brought over to the studio and tested, but were unsatisfactory.

Then, one day while Mr. and Mrs. Valentino were eating lunch at the studio restaurant, Mrs. Valentino heard a girl nearby talking Spanish. Turning to see who it was, the wife of the star saw Helen, who seemed to breathe the very atmosphere of old Spain. Mrs. Valentino saw in her the ideal type for Julietta and, going over to Helen, asked if she would consent to some special tests. Helen, of course, agreed, and the result was that she was given the part. Later Helen's brother Antonio was also given an important role in the same picture.

At the Paramount studio Miss D'Algy is considered a "find." She not only screens like the proverbial "million dollars," but she also is an ex-Helen, of course, looks like a Spanish girl, she is by no means a "type." cellent actress. Furthermore, although That is, she does not have to confine herself to one sort of role any more than Bebe Daniels, Nita Naldi or any of the other "Latin" types now famous.

Friends.

Reckon I wou'dn't trae 'em—
Friends thet I own, fer gold.
Lucky I ever made 'em;
Fine things t' have an' hold.
Fame—well, I never met her;
Fortune I always miss.
Friends—oh, I count 'em better—
Better than all o' this.

Reckon it couldn't buy 'em—
All o' th' wealth o' you.
Each day on' hour I try 'em;
Always I find 'em true;
And, as th' West grows nearer
And I am wiser grown,
I learn t' count 'em dearer—
Friends thet I have an' own.

Ev'nin' don't never find me
Countin' my golden store.
But in th' road behind me
Thet I have journeyed o'er,
Lookin,, I see a brother;
Happy my day shall end
If I have lost the other
Only t' call him friend.

Heated Argument In Chicago Court Without a Sound

CHICAGO, Jan. — A heated argument between eight persons was in full swing, but not a sound was heard.

The group was composed of deaf mutes. Plaintiff, defendent and six other witnesses all speaking at once. Gestures became so violent that the judge "hearing" the case here, in the Small Claims Court, thought the mutes were swearing and threatened to put them out.

The plaintiff was accusing the defendant of taking a ring from her home.

A woman acted as interpreter.

Word 10. The home of a wild animal.
Word 11. The amount of any number of figures added together.
Word 12. A letter of the alphabet spelled out.

Helen D'Algy Stars With Valentino in Film at Ceramic

Helen D'Algy, charming darkeyed, raven haired beauty from Madrid, has the leading feminine role opposite Rudolph Valentino in his new production for Paramount, "A Sainted Devil," at the Ceramic theatre, starting today.

Helen's family left Spain for South America when she was very young, and she and her brother (he has a good role in the cast of "A Sainted Devil") got the stage bug and joined a stock company in Buenos Aires. The girl became an extremely popular actress locally on both stage and screen.

Coming to this country a little over a year ago, Helen met with quite a series of disappointments until Flo Ziegfeld saw her. He was so struck with Miss D'Algy that he immediately signed her up, and she put in a full season with his famous "Follies."

Then followed another attempt at the motion picture game, and her experience in the "Follies" stood her in good stead this time. She was signed for an important part in "Lend Me Your Husband" and did so well in the role that she was given good parts in "The Fool" and "Let No Man Put Asunder." Then followed Paramount's "The Side Show of Life."

At this time the cast of "A Sainted Devil" was being chosen. Only one important role was unfilled, that of Julietta, the girl whom Don Alonzo (Valentino) is in love with, and whom he marries in the end. A number of girls had been brought over to the studio and tested, but were unsatisfactory.

Then, one day while Mr. and Mrs. Valentino were eating lunch at the studio restaurant, Mrs. Valentino heard a girl nearby talking Spanish. Turning to see who it was, the wife of the star saw Helen, who seemed to breathe the very atmosphere of old Spain. Mrs. Valentino saw in her the ideal type for Julietta and, going over to Helen, asked if she would consent to some special tests. Helen, of course, agreed, and the result was that she was given the part. Later Helen's brother Antonio was also given an important role in the same picture.

At the Paramount studio Miss D'Algy is considered a "find." She not only screens like the proverbial "million dollars," but she also is an ex-Helen, of course, looks like a Spanish girl, she is by no means a "type" cel'ert actress. Furthermore, although That is, she does not have to confine herself to one sort of role any more than Bebe Daniels, Nita Naldi or any of the other "Latin" types now famous.

Friends.

Reckon I wou'dn't trae 'em—
Friends thet I own, fer gold.
Lucky I ever made 'em;
Fine things t' have an' hold.
Fame—well, I never met her;
Fortune I always miss.
Friends—oh, I count 'em better—
Better than all o' this.

Reckon it couldn't buy 'em—
All o' th' wealth o' you.
Each day on' hour I try 'em;
Always I find 'em true;
And, as th' West grows nearer
And I am wiser grown,
I learn t' count 'em dearer—
Friends thet I have an' own.

Ev'nin' don't never find me
Countin' my golden store
But in th' road behind me
Thet I have journeyed o'er,
Lookin., I see a brother;
Happy my day shall end
If I have lost the other
Only t' call him friend.

Heated Argument In Chicago Court Without a Sound

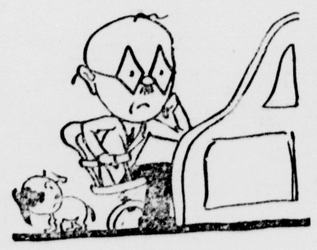

CHICAGO, Jan. — A heated argument between eight persons was in full swing, but not a sound was heard.

The group was composed of deaf mutes. Plaintiff, defendent and six other witnesses all speaking at once. Gestures became so violent that the judge "hearing" the case here, in the Small Claims Court, thought the mutes were swearing and threatened to put them out.

The plaintiff was accusing the defendant of taking a ring from her home.

By Elizabeth Dejeans

Karesia looked up at him, her expression unchanged. "Rand—I don't know how I have lived through the evening. I cannot—do it."

The shock of it flushed him. He had been so utterly mistaken; she had looked so much as she had when she had finally yielded to his pleading five years before; so emotionally tense that she had been drained of color. Rossiter studied her for long moments through a hot mist.

"I am sorry," she said. "I can't help it."

"Why—can't you?" he asked then.

"Because I don't love you, Rand."

Rossiter could see her face more clearly now; he was thinking more clearly. He knew now why she had come looking as she did. "Someone has told you—about him, then?"

"Yes, I know now. I heard it this morning, quite by accident. Then I read all the newspaper accounts of the trials. I know all about it now."

"But he didn't tell you!" Rossiter's lip curled in vivid contempt.

Karesia flushed a little. "How could he tell me such a thing! He meant me to know—he told me again and again to investigate him—before he took my house. He——"

"The damned schemer!" Rossiter said, literally afire., "I could kill him for what he's done to you! I sat in the court room! I say he murdered his wife!" He lifted clenched hands, shaking from head to foot. "He knows that the biggest thing in you is tenderness and sympathy. He knows your trustfulness. He knew that you would never 'investigate!' He's in your house to work out some damned scheme of his—I know it! And you—oh, Lord!" He flung aside and laid his folded arms on the mantel-shelf and buried his face. "Oh, Lord! What an end to it all—what an end——"

Karesia looked at his shaking shoulders, his bent head moving from side to side on his folded arms, his congested neck, heard his convulsive breathing. She neither moved nor spoke, but a flaming spot showed on either cheek.

Gradually Rossiter gained a degree of calmness, and turned. His face was livid, his eyes dull. "Well—what are you going to do, Kara?" he asked.

"There is nothing I can do. But I cannot do what you ask—be your wife."

"Because you love him?"

"Yes."

"Will you tell me why?—a man like that!"

"I think—because I can't help it. I can't help loving him any more than Clarice can help loving you. I understand her better now—she had a bitter childhood and she has had a hard girlhood, her whole life poisoned by disbelief in her father. You came to her like sunshine, a god, something strong and beautiful—and there was the thing that brings a woman to a man and a man to a woman, everpowering. Kind and loving as Edward was to me, I had a starved girlhood. When I met you, it was just youth calling to youth, neither on my part nor on yours overpoweringly—nothing that we might not feel to someone else were the circumstances the same. Do you suppose for a moment that if you had married Clarice instead of me, she would have left you on your wedding night because you came to her staggering and incoherent? Never! I was not so hard-hearted as I seemed, Rand. It was because I felt so sure that we had made a huge mistake. I wrote to you that I would come back, if you wished, because the letter of the law and not its substance constrained me. We are both too big for that now—you rose to the right thing when you told me the other night that you wanted 'the thing that sees a man through—for better or for worse.' I wanted to give it to you—if it was in me to do it. And I am telling you the truth, when I say to you now, that if, during these last few weeks, I had found that you really needed me, that you would go under without me—if I were not so certain that some other woman will fill your life a deal better than I could, I would stay here with you tonight. You had almost forgotten—you had planned a successful life—you were not unhappy. If you were wretchedly poor and ill, if you had a great grief to comfort, if the world were down on you, I would stay—I'd constrain myself to the letter of the law and try to do my best. As it is, it wouldn't be fair to you. But with him . . . Rand, I love him. I believe in him—I pity him so! He's as innocent of that awful thing as you or I. I know now why he looks as he does. Rand, he came to me when my heart was empty——"

She was vivid with emotion, quivering. Rossiter looked at her and visioned her in Dascome's arms. "It's not true," he said through his teeth. "I can't go on without you. He shan't have you!"

Karesia said nothing.

"What has he said to you? There in your house—trying to win you away from me!"

She stiffened. "He has said nothing to me, done nothing—ever! He has never said hard things against you."

"No, he's not honest enough for frank speaking. . . . You and Nadine, both at his feet," Rossiter said scornfully.

He saw her blanch, but she spoke resolutely. "If she has been—loyal to him—I think the more of her. . . . I cannot quarrel with you, Rand—there is so much that is fine in you. I am simply so sorry—to have failed you. I am going now."

He turned his back on her. "Very well—go to him—but just remember that you married me." His voice choked. "I don't trust him—I don't trust him—You and that man! I couldn't bear it!"

Karesia put her hand on his arm. "I can't leave you this way, Rand."

He shook it off. "Let me be, Kara. Go on back to your double house—but remember!"

"I shall try to remember. But I am going to tell him that I believe in him," and she turned away. "I told Suda to come for me."

Rossiter stood, back still turned, lips bitten and hands clenched. He heard her walk the length of the long drawing room—she had gone into the hall. Then he whirled:

"Kara!" he called clearly.

Her voice came back faintly: "Yes——"

"Wait a minute."

TODAY'S RECIPES.

Corn in Ramekins—One small green pepper, one onion, two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, one-half teaspoon salt, a little paprika and mustard, one-half cup milk, one can of corn, yolk of one egg, one-half cup dried bread, buttered cracker crumbs. Wash pepper and remove seeds, cut in small pieces. Cook pepper, onion chopped, and butter five minutes, stirring to prevent burning. Add flour with seasonings and stir until well blended, then pour milk on gradually, stirring constantly. Bring to boiling point, add corn, egg yolk and bread broken in small pieces and cooked until well browned in a little butter. Turned into greased ramekins or baking dish, cover with buttered crumbs and bake in hot oven until crumbs are brown.

Prune Salad—Take all stones out of cooked prunes, fill cavities with seasoned cream cheese. Arrange on bed of either lettuce or chopped cabbage and serve with any preferred dressing.

Rye Popovers — Mix and sift two-thirds cup ryemeal, one-third cup flour and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Add one cup milk gradualley, two well-beaten eggs and one teaspoon melted butter. Beat vigorously two or three minutes with an egg-beater. Turn into hissing hot popover pans and bake in hot oven about 40 minutes.

Apple Pie — Fill deep baking pan with quartered or sliced apples, season with sugar, cinnamon and butter, let cook until almost done. Make rich biscuit dough, roll about half an inch thick, cover pan with same, make slits to let out air, and bake until crust is done. A cup may be inverted in the middle of the apples to hold the juice.

Jimbalays — Put a little butter in a skillet, and when hot stir in one cup of chopped cold meat (beef or veal) and one-half cup of chopped ham if you have it; season with red pepper, salt and finely minced small onion, and one-half cup of cooked rice. Cover closely and simmer for half hour.

Mock Mince Turnovers—Roll rich pastry into a thin sheet and cut in circles. Place in the center of each two tablespoons of the following mixture: Mix together one-half cup of seeded raisins, one-fourth cup each of currants and shredded citron, the grated yellow rind and juice of one lemon, four tablespoons of melted butter and three-fourth cup of sugar. Turn the pastry over into neat half circles and crimp the edges of the crust together with the tines of a fork, dipped in flour. Lay in a greased pan, brush over with beaten egg, mixed with a little cold water, and dust lightly with sugar. Bake in a hot oven until crisp and brown.

Sugar Cookies — One heaping cup sugar, one scant cup butter or lard and butter mixed, two eggs, eight teaspoons sweet milk, one-half teaspoon cream of tartar, one-half teaspoon baking soda, flour to roll soft.

Veal Loaf — Three pounds veal, one-half pound salt pork, chopped fine. Six butter crackers, rolled fine, two beaten eggs, salt, pepper and a little sage. Mix well together, put in greased baking pan and baste occasionally while cooking. You may make your own tomato sauce or may use canned tomato soup, which is already seasoned. In the latter case heat the soup and pour it over the loaf when you serve it. In case you prefer to make your own, strain a can of tomatoes, season with butter, pepper, salt, a little sugar, and thicken with a tablespoon of flour or cornstarch if desired.

In making coffee in the percolator with the special perforated container for the freshly ground coffee, follow these rules Rinse pot with boiling water. Put in container one tablespoon of coffee for each person person to be served and one for the pot. By pouring the water at the boiling point (one cupful for each tablespoon of coffee) over the coffee it falls to just the right temperature needed to extract the greatest amount of flavor and aroma.

The dripping process should not last longer than two minutes. Long dripping at a low temperature increases the bitter taste and decreases the flavor and aroma. Serve at once. Letting coffee cool ruins it. If there must be a delay in serving keep the coffee piping hot, but do not let it boil Do not use the ground coffee a second time. Coffee once used has given all its aroma and flaver to the beverage. There is nothing of any value left in the grounds.

Clears Complexion

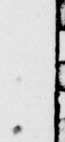

"Oh! how clear and beautiful your complexion is today, my dear!"

THERE is a certain joy—a certain pride—in knowing you are admired, whether it be from father, brother, husband or sweetheart! And back of that joy is the satisfaction of knowing all is well.

Men are fascinated by the charms of beauty. Women gaze with envy, secretly jealous, perhaps, wondering—hoping—praying for that attractiveness which is not theirs. But why the wondering — the hoping — the praying for that craved for attractiveness—that clear skin—that beauty. A clear skin—is the barometer of one's condition. A healthy skin radiates beauty. Pure, clean blood means a clear skin.

S.S.S. is waiting to help you. It will rid your blood of its impurities and give you that clear complexion. Since 1826 S.S.S. has been ridding people of blood impurities, from pimples, from blackheads, boils, eczema and from rheumatism, too. Because S.S.S. is made from fresh herbs and barks, it may be taken with perfect safety. Try it yourself. You will not only look better, but you will feel better, too.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

S.S.S. The World's Best Blood Medicine

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and quickly made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Game Hunter Sails.

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. — In quest of rare species of wild oxen, believed to be the prehistoric ancestors of the dolcie cow of today, a big game hunter has sailed from Seattle for the wilds of French Indo-China.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to thank our friends and neighbors, Evangelist A. E. Wickham, Church of Christ, and the Thompson Clay Shop for the kindness and sympathy shown us during the illness and death of our beloved son and grandson, Donald. Especially do we thank them for their beautiful flowers.

When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is now made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

TODAY'S RECIPES.

Corn in Ramekins—One small green pepper, one onion, two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, one-half teaspoon salt, a little paprika and mustard, one-half cup milk, one can of corn, yolk of one egg, one-half cup dried bread, buttered cracker crumbs. Wash pepper and remove seeds, cut in small pieces. Cook pepper, onion chopped, and butter five minutes, stirring to prevent burning. Add flour with seasonings and stir until well blended, then pour milk on gradually, stirring constantly. Bring to boiling point, add corn, egg yolk and bread broken in small pieces and cooked until well browned in a little butter. Turned into greased ramekins or baking dish, cover with buttered crumbs and bake in hot oven until crumbs are brown.

Prune Salad—Take all stones out of cooked prunes, fill cavities with seasoned cream cheese. Arrange on bed of either lettuce or chopped cabbage and serve with any preferred dressing.

Rye Popovers — Mix and sift two-thirds cup ryemeal, one-third cup flour and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Add one cup milk gradualley, two well-beaten eggs and one teaspoon melted butter. Beat vigorously two or three minutes with an egg-beater. Turn into hissing hot popover pans and bake in hot oven about 40 minutes.

Apple Pie — Fill deep baking pan with quartered or sliced apples, season with sugar, cinnamon and butter, let cook until almost done. Make rich biscuit dough, roll about half an inch thick, cover pan with same, make slits to let out air, and bake until crust is done. A cup may be inverted in the middle of the apples to hold the juice.

Jimbalays — Put a little butter in a skillet, and when hot stir in one cup of chopped cold meat (beef or veal) and one-half cup of chopped ham if you have it; season with red pepper, salt and finely minced small onion, and one-half cup of cooked rice. Cover closely and simmer for half hour.

Mock Mince Turnovers—Roll rich pastry into a thin sheet and cut in circles. Place in the center of each two tablespoons of the following mixture: Mix together one-half cup of seeded raisins, one-fourth cup each of currants and shredded citron, the grated yellow rind and juice of one lemon, four tablespoons of melted butter and three-fourth cup of sugar. Turn the pastry over into neat half circles and crimp the edges of the crust together with the tines of a fork, dipped in flour. Lay in a greased pan, brush over with beaten egg, mixed with a little cold water, and dust lightly with sugar. Bake in a hot oven until crisp and brown.

Sugar Cookies — One heaping cup sugar, one scant cup butter or lard and butter mixed, two eggs, eight teaspoons sweet milk, one-half teaspoon cream of tartar, one-half teaspoon baking soda, flour to roll soft.

Veal Loaf — Three pounds veal, one-half pound salt pork, chopped fine. Six butter crackers, rolled fine, two beaten eggs, salt, pepper and a little sage. Mix well together, put in greased baking pan and baste occasionally while cooking. You may make your own tomato sauce or may use canned tomato soup, which is already seasoned. In the latter case heat the soup and pour it over the loaf when you serve it. In case you prefer to make your own, strain a can of tomatoes, season with butter, pepper, salt, a little sugar, and thicken with a tablespoon of flour or cornstarch if desired.

In making coffee in the percolator with the special perforated container for the freshly ground coffee, follow these rules Rinse pot with boiling water. Put in container one tablespoon of coffee for each person person to be served and one for the pot. By pouring the water at the boiling point (one cupful for each tablespoon of coffee) over the coffee it falls to just the right temperature needed to extract the greatest amount of flavor and aroma.

The dripping process should not last longer than two minutes. Long dripping at a low temperature increases the bitter taste and decreases the flavor and aroma. Serve at once. Letting coffee cool ruins it. If there must be a delay in serving keep the coffee piping hot, but do not let it boil Do not use the ground coffee a second time. Coffee once used has given all its aroma and flaver to the beverage. There is nothing of any value left in the grounds.

Clears Complexion

"Oh! how clear and beautiful your complexion is today, my dear!"

THERE is a certain joy—a certain pride—in knowing you are admired, whether it be from father, brother, husband or sweetheart! And back of that joy is the satisfaction of knowing all is well.

Men are fascinated by the charms of beauty. Women gaze with envy, secretly jealous, perhaps, wondering—hoping—praying for that attractiveness which is not theirs. But why the wondering — the hoping — the praying for that craved for attractiveness—that clear skin—that beauty. A clear skin—is the barometer of one's condition. A healthy skin radiates beauty. Pure, clean blood means a clear skin.

S.S.S. is waiting to help you. It will rid your blood of its impurities and give you that clear complexion. Since 1826 S.S.S. has been ridding people of blood impurities, from pimples, from blackheads, boils, eczema and from rheumatism, too. Because S.S.S. is made from fresh herbs and barks, it may be taken with perfect safety. Try it yourself. You will not only look better, but you will feel better, too.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

S.S.S. The World's Best Blood Medicine

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and quickly made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is now made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

35c and 65c, jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00.

Runyon Says

An Old Sport Speaks.
He Tells of Billy McLean.
Oldest Living Ex-Boxer.
He is Now NINETY-ONE.
How John L. Ordered Drinks.

By DAMON RUNYON.
Copyright, 1925, International Feature Service, Inc.

THE Old Sport, wearing a large diamond ring and a large diamond stickpin, is in the train in which this reporter is traveling.

The Old Sport boarded the train at West Philadelphia, and by the time Washington was reached had imparted much information to the writer on bygone pugilistic days around Philadelphia.

These Old Sports are always interesting. It is from them we get most of our colorful data of American Fistiana. Much of the written history of the game touches only the "high spots," so to speak, and in very dry fashion.

The Old Sports, if they have a gift for narrative, put vitality into their tales, though they be detached and fragmentary.

Some day some writer, probably Charles F. Mathison, will give us a complete history of the American prize ring with some of the drama and human interest which marks the writings of the old-time English historians of the game.

You perhaps do not know that the oldest living ex-pugilist in this country is a Philadelphian.

The Old Sport informed the writer of this interesting fact.

The oldest ex-pugilist is Professor Billy McLean, NINETY-ONE years old. The life of this man covers practically the entire pugilistic history of the United States. Think of that!

He once boxed the mighty John L. Sullivan with blackened gloves at the Academy of Music in Philadelphia. McLean was very clever, and at the close of the bout Sullivan was intensely disgusted.

He vowed he never again would go in for such "boy's play," as he called it.

McLean for years conducted boxing schools in Philadelphia. The Old Sport said he taught some representative of every family of consequence in Philadelphia how to box.

The families of consequence in Philadelphia are many, the Old Sport intimated.

In the evening of his long life, Professor Billy McLean has a job as a sort of superintendent of Rittenhouse Square, a noted Philadelphia park in an exclusive neighborhood.

He sees that the children around there don't get hurt. It is a nice, quiet job for an old man.

McLean fought in the bare knuckle days of the ring, later becoming an expert with the gloves. He originated a school of boxing, that is, in the matter of pugilistic style.

He began on a pupil by first teaching him how to step. The Old Sport got out in the aisle of the Pullman to demonstrate the manner of McLean's teaching, and also cracked his skull against the arm of a seat when the train gave a sudden lurch.

But, as he explained, Professor Billy would not permit a pupil to put on gloves until he had learned how to move around and balance himself. Few modern teachers of boxing turn out pupils as well grounded in the fundamentals as McLean's pupils used to be.

In fact, as the Old Sport pessimistically remarked, the teaching of boxing is nowadays well nigh a lost art, particularly among the professionals.

The average young fellow goes into the ring nowadays before he even knows how to put up his hands. In McLean's time as a teacher, even well-known professionals were not above seeking his instruction.

The Old Sport said he recalled that Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, when he was a very good fighter, went to Professor Billy for a few lessons.

Charley McKeever, a real good man of his period, was one of McLean's pupils. He also was managed by McLane. McKeever is dead.

He appeared as one of the principals in what is said to have been the first real boxing show ever held in Delaware county, Pennsylvania. The Old Sport was there.

Two other members of Professor Billy McLean's school, a chap called the Cuban Wonder, and Mike Coyle, were on the card, and McLean made them WALK with him from Philadelphia to the place of battle, near the town of Chester, a considerable distance.

Also McLean made them WALK back after the fights.

The Old Sport opined that if a pugilistic manager made his charges do any walking nowadays, they would complain to the nearest boxing commission.

"The present day boxers are very delicate compared to those oldtimers," he said.

You find in Professor McLean's long life the lesson of PHYSICAL EXERCISE, of which this writer is constantly preaching.

When he was twenty-seven, the Old Sport said, McLean was seized wit' hemorrhages. That ended his active fighting career. Doctors said he would soon die.

McLean began taking systematic exercise, much different from his former training course. He remained in the open as much as possible. He rowed almost daily on the Schulykill river. He worked with moderation, but with consistent REGULARITY in gymnasiums.

At SEVENTY-FIVE, the Old Sport said, almost triumphantly, Professor Billy was still boxing with his pupils.

For years McLean had a cafe at the corner of Ninth and Vine streets in Philadelphia. It was one of the chief resorts of all the "hot sports" of the day. The Old Sport was one of the "hottest," as the writer gathered.

Arthur Chambers, first of the lightweight champions, also had a cafe at Tenth street and Ridge avenue. Chambers died not long ago at eighty-three. Philadelphians live longer than any other Americans.

John L. Sullivan, when in Philadelphia, would go to Chambers' place, a crowd following him. He would toss a hundred dollar bill on the bar, which was much money in those days, and bellow, "Give everybody in the house a drink!"

It was Sullivan's Way, the Old Sport said. That is why everybody loved him in those days.

Of course a hundred dollar bill wouldn't go far in a bar in Philadelphia or anywhere else nowadays, the Old Sport said, because the price of liquor is so much higher. But many men could drink heartily on Sullivan's hundred dollar bill then.

From Chambers' place Sullivan would go to McLean's. The crowd would follow him. There wouldn't be a soul left in Chambers' after Sullivan left. At McLean's, Sullivan would toss a hundred dollar bill on the bar and roar, "Give everybody in the house a drink!"

"Yes, he was a great fellow," sighed the Old Sport. "You don't see any like him nowadays."

"What would the public think nowadays if Jack Dempsey went around tossing money on the bars and inviting everybody in the house to have a drink!" the writer asked.

The old sport pondered the query for some time. Then he said:

"Well, the public would say he was a darned fool—and he would be!"

Ruth Plans Final Drive For New Home Run Record

WHO WEARS CROWN AS KING OF ALL THE LIGHTWEIGHTS?

Was Champion Benny Leonard

BENNY LEONARD

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

If we accept Benny Leonard's statement that he is through with the ring FOREVVAH! where shall we place him in the lightweight hall of fame?

In classing fighters one must consider these factors:

Hitting power.
Boxing ability.
Ring science and generalship.
Popularity.
And staying powers.

The last element has become somewhat of a forgotten trait in these days of 10 round dances but it must be considered. It should be an attribute of every champ.

Champions had to have it in the old days to win fights—and popularity. If we ignore the qualification now we handicap the oldtimers. Considering all of these things, where does Leonard stand?

There are three men in the history of the division who can dispute the title of "king" with Leonard.

The first is Jack McAuliffe. And in my opinion he ranks ahead of them all.

McAuliffe has all the attributes of a great champion—the hitting power, the boxing science, the ring generalship and the endurance.

Eight Years a Busy Champ.

Through a period of eight years he defended his lightweight title in a way it has never been defended since. McAuliffe fought in the day of long fights. Could Leonard step into the ring and fight 74 rounds as did Jack against Jem Carney of England on Nov. 16, 1887. That was but one of the long fights in which McAuliffe showed himself master. A sixty-four round draw with Billy Myer two years later, again proved him stamina.

That he emerged from those fights—and eight years as title holder, with with features little marred and no signs of being "punch drunk" proves better than the records his skill as a boxer. He fought in the day when science was young and most of his opponents counted on brute strength. A blow carried dynamite with it. Flesh cracked before it.

Ring fans of his day realized when he retired undefeated that there was not a man then living who could accuse him of being scared out. His popularity increased rather than decreased with the years.

Greater Than "Bat" Nelson

"BAT" NELSON

Bat Nelson ranks as one of the four greatest because he stands alone as a born fighter. Nelson had a fighting heart that has never been checked.

Nelson Fighting Demon.

His gameness was foolhardy. He was a natural hitter. His defense was the natural one—a nerve-breaking offense. He had but one style of fighting—to bore in and wear the other man down at no matter what cost. His opponent, heavy hitter or skilful boxer, found himself fighting a tiger after he had signed to fight a human being. The harder "Bat" was hit the harder he hit. Joe Gans and Ad. Wolgast, both of fighting hearts, drummed tattoes of death on his battered head and only made him smile.

In addition to his hitting power and gameness Nelson had ring generalship—the generalship of a born fighter. His craftiness was the cunning of a Tiger attacking his prey.

Kid Lavigne is the third of the "greats."

Lavigne claimed the lightweight title laid down by McAuliffe.

What better proof of the Kid's greatness can be offered than that he licked Joe Wolcott twice. Wolcott, old timers will recall, fought as a welterweight and eagerly sought bouts with the bigger men.

Lavigne was a hitter, a crafty general and game. His early fights went from 55 to 75 rounds—and were fought in the lumber camps of Michigan.

As for Leonard.

He is by far the best of the lightweights of the present day. Wolgast, Ritchie, Welsh—these men do not rank with him. Welsh was, however, a flashier fighter. Wolgast was a harder hitter. Ritchie was a weak sister as a champion. Lack of formidable opponents has aided Leonard's prestige. He has made it clear against those he met that he was a wonderful boxer, an accurate, hard hitter, and a great ring general. His generalship saved him in two or three fights. Lew Tendler, great little southpaw, had Leonard's title in his grasp one night only to let Leonard kid him out of it while the champion played for time to let his head clear.

Or Wise Old Jack McAuliffe?

JACK McAULIFFE

But Leonard did not win the nation-wide popularity McAuliffe, Nelson or Lavigne did. For one thing his biggest fights were confined to the east.

And the public has nothing on which to estimate Leonard's powers of endurance. The longest and hardest fights he ever engaged in were the one against Tendler two years ago and one with Rocky Kansas. Both went 15 rounds.

CONCEDES HIS SLUGGING DAYS ARE NEAR END

King of Swatters Goes to Hot Springs to Take off Weight.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Imbued with the quite plausible belief that the season of 1925 will see him better his home run record or permanently abandon the chase, George H. Ruth, the well-known outfielder, is today enroute for Hot Springs for the purpose of boiling the beef right down to the bone.

Before boarding the train, the Babe declared himself as follows:

He would hit at least 60 home runs and the New York Yankees would win another pennant. He weighed slightly less than what the coal dealers refer to as a short ton.

"I admit that this year probably will mark my last serious attempt to break my record of fifty-nine," the great man said. "I feel, of course, that I am good for at least five or six seasons more as a big leaguer, maybe longer, but as time goes on my chances of beating the record reduce. I have no illusions about that. What was easy when you were a kid becomes increasingly hard as you advance beyond the thirty mark.

The great man expressed here the general opinion of close observers who have witnessed his struggles with the Demon Fat from year to year and they are pleased to note that it is a losing battle. Just what the Babe weighs at the moment must remain a secret for the simple reason that the Babe is like the daisies, he won't tell.

On other matters he was almost loquacious, however. The Yankees seemed to be his favorite theme.

"I think you will see the old club, as it was in 1923, playing ball this year," quoth he. "We just kicked the pennant away last season. Overconfident or something. I'm not trying to take anything away from the Senators. The deserve everything they got and more. But we have the better club and 1925 will prove it. The Tigers are always dangerous, too, and the Athletics are bound to be an improved ball club. However, all I can say is, watch the Yankees.

Many may agree with the young man's ideas here but not with his apparent belief that he has a white man's chance for the home run record. There are too many factors that will mitigate against his efforts.

One of them is the good word emanating from semi-final sources that the day of the slugger is gone. This they say, is to be the pitchers' year and the rather hectic efforts of the

Boone's Squad Downs Champions of 1916

Schoolboys' Condition Tells in Battle With Former Stars.

Like the old gray mare—they ain't what they used to be. For the team that won the northern Ohio scholastic basketball honors in 1916 last Saturday night went down to defeat before Coach O. V. Boone's 1925 quintet on the local high school court. The score was 34 to 20.

Considering that most of the former high school stars have not played the floor game for years, they put up a stiff battle against the youngsters. More than once during the contest they revealed flashes of the form that made them champs nine years ago. During the first and final period the veterans more than held their own.

The game was rough at times but both teams displayed nice passwork. Both quintets were somewhat off color in shooting, the highs, especially, losing a number of tough ones.

The first period was fairly even, the veterans surprising the crowd by their playing. During the second period the superior condition of the school boys told as they set a pace a trifle too fast for their opponents. In the third stanza the highs put the game on ice. The final quarter again saw the Ex-Highs at their best and in this portion of the contest they outscored Boone's boys.

English was the first to count for the school lads, making one from the foul line. Liebschner added a field goal. On a pretty pass from Vorndran, Nate Allen shot in the first points for the Alumni. Pusey and English countered with field goals for the highs. Liebschner hit the hoop for another double decker. Runt Smith showed the crowd he retained some of the ability that made him one of the greatest foul shooters ever turned out by the Blue and White when he dropped in two straight.

English and Fess scored on fouls.

Allen put the leather through the net for the veterans' second field goal. The high five was ahead at the end of the quarter by the score of 10 to 7.

During the second quarters the old stars failed to score, while the highs were making five points. English counted two field goals and Liebschner scored a foul.

The score at the end of the first half was 15 to 7. English started proceedings in the third period with two field goals. McGraw made a foul. Pusey registered two more field goals and two more points on foults. Vorndran tossed in the ball for the veterans' first field goal of the period. Liebschner found the basket for another double marker. Fess registered his first field goal with a shot from the center of the floor. The high school passers were leading by a score of 28 to 11 at the conclusion of the third canto.

National League's Fiftieth Birthday Is Observed Today

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The old regime will clasp hands with the new today when the national league will comemorate the fiftieth anniversary of its founding of the hour and on the sport where the great event took place. It was on February 2, 1875, that the league was organized at the Bradway Central hotel, with Morgan G. Bulkley in the chair. Today, fifty years later, present club-owners and players will mingle with the magnates and stars of a half century ago, in the same room where the league was founded.

Mr. Bulkley and John A. Heydler, the first president and last, will have places of honor at the meeting. The ceremonies will be simple but impressive. They will be followed by a luncheon, where the new and old will have a chance to "visit" and talk about the game that has been handed down through the years as Americas' national pastime.

Notable among the old timers who have accepted invitations are Jack Manning, Boston; Tommy Bond, Hartford; Alonzo Knight and George Bradley, Philadelphia; John Morrill, Boston; Tom Eork and Jack Rusie, whose speed ball is a topic of conversation to this day; John Hornung, Bill Adhlen, Huyler Westervelt, John W. Ward, Sam Crane, former governor John K. Tener, Julian Curtiss, Frank Richter and Ted Sullivan.

Nurmi's Condition Poor for Remaining Races on Schedule

NEW YORK, Feb. 2—According to his friends and advisers, Paavo Nurmi today was in poor physicial condition in facing another week of atempted record breaking on American indoor tracks. The Finn, is was said, is suffering from a leg strain and a heavy cold and can hardly hope to beat his best record for the 2¼ mile special at the Western Union games tomorrow night.

Nurmi also is scheduled to run in a 2½ mile event at the Newark, A. C. games the following evening and in the 3,000 meter special at the Wilco meet on Saturday.

Taberski Climbing On Ralph Greenleaf In Cue Tournament

NEW YORK, Feb. 2—Frank Taberski, New York, made a decided gain upon Ralph Greenleaf, Philadelphia, in the National championship pocket billiard league standing during the week just past and today was 3½ games behind the champion. According to the official standing, Greenleaf has won 38 games and lost 18 and Taberski 31 games with 18 lost. Natalie, of Baltimore, is in third place.

Gibbons Seeking Bouts With Wills And Jack Dempsey

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Speaking for Tom Gibbons, leading white challenger for the heavyweight title, Eddie Kane is expected to confer with Tex Rickard today for the purpose of signing Gibbons for bouts with Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills. Kane came here accompanied by Gibbons, at the request of Rickard.

Gibbons today spoke freely of his intention to force Dempsey out of his announced retirement and of his desire to meet Wills

"I would rather fight the champion, of course," Gibbons said. "In that way, I can look forward to winning the title in the ring instead of by acclamation. However, if Dempsey sticks to his determination to remain idle, I will claim the championship and defend it against Wills."

Indoor Loop Teams Ready For Opener

'Y' Baseball Circuit to Start Play Tonight.

Contending teams in the "Y" industrial indoor baseball circuit will swing in action tonight on the "Y" court.

Four clubs make up the league at present. It is possible more may be entered, although there is no definite assurance to this effect.

Laughlin 5, Laughlin 6, Smith-Phillips and Potters are the members of the circuit at present.

Here is the schedule:

Feb. 2—8 p. m., Laughlin 5 vs. Laughlin 6; 8:45 p. m., Smith-Phillips vs. Potters.

Feb. 4—7 p. m., Laughlin 6 vs. Potters; 7:30, Laughlin 5 vs. Smith-Phillips.

Feb. 9—8 p. m., Laughlin 6 vs. Smith-Phillips; 8:45, Laughlin 5 vs. Potters.

Feb. 12—7 p. m., Potters vs. Smith-Phillips; 7:30, Laughlin 6 vs. Laughlin 5.

Feb. 16—8 p. m., Smith-Phillips vs. Laughlin 5; 8:45, Potters vs. Laughlin 6.

Feb. 18—7 p. m., Potters vs. Laughlin 5; 7:30 p. m., Smith-Phillips vs. Laughlin 6.

Walter Hagen Runs Up 11-hole Margin Over Open Champion

By ROBERT E. HARLOW.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 2—Walter Hagen, British open champion, had a big lead today in his unofficial world's golf championship with Cyril Walker American open champion.

Hagen, playing perfect golf all day, led Walker by 11 holes at the conclusion of the first thirty six holes at the Hialeah club in Miami. The final thirty-six will be played Wednesday at Pasadena-on-the-gulf.

Walker, who showed such a fine touch on the putting greens in Detroit, when he won the American open title, was all at sea on the rough greens at Hialeah.

Church Fives Play Three Fast Games

Boulevards, Lutherans and M. E.'s Emerge as Winning Squads.

The Park Boulevards, the Lutherans and the First Methodist Episcopals were victorious in Sunday school league basketball battles Saturday night at the "Y".

The Park Boulevards ran away from the First Baptist five, winning by the score of 45 to 8. The Lutherans more than doubled the score on the United Presbyterians easily taking the contest by the count of 25 to 11, and the First Methodist Episcopals downed the First Presbyterians in a hard fought battle by the score of 19 to 13.

The Boulevards-Baptists game was nothing but a repetition of field goal after field goal for the Boulevards lads.

The Boulevard aggregation scored almost at will all through the game and put up a stone wall defense against their opponents. The Baptists scored only two field goals.

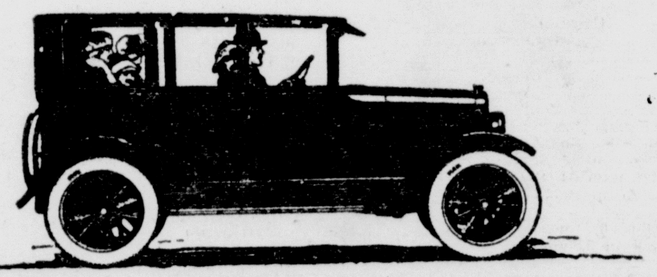

Guyton with eight field goals, was the scoring star of the game, O. Kirkham, and McKee followed Guyton in scoring. Mackey, Kittridge and Rumberger played well for the Baptists. The First Presbyterians-First Methodist Episcopals game was the hardest fought of the three contests, the M. E. passers almost making victory sure in the first half when they led by the score of 17 to 4.

In the second half there was a different story. The Presbyterians outplayed their opponents completely all through the half but could not overcome the big lead that the M. E. passers gained in the first.

Dorsey, Pyles and Karns were the brilliant performers for the Methodist Episcopal passers, while Todd, Allison and Householder played well for the Presbyterians.

The Old Sport opined that if a pugilistic manager made his charges do any walking nowadays, they would complain to the nearest boxing commission.

"The present day boxers are very delicate compared to those oldtimers," he said.

You find in Professor McLean's long life the lesson of PHYSICAL EXERCISE, of which this writer is constantly preaching.

When he was twenty-seven, the Old Sport said, McLean was seized wit' hemorrhages. That ended his active fighting career. Doctors said he would soon die.

McLean began taking systematic exercise, much different from his former training course. He remained in the open as much as possible. Pe rowed almost daily on the Schulykill river. He worked with moderation, but with consistent REGULARITY in gymnasiums.

At SEVENTY-FIVE, the Old Sport said, almost triumphantly, Professor Billy was still boxing with his pupils.

For years McLean had a cafe at the corner of Ninth and Vine streets in Philadelphia. It was one of the chief resorts of all the "hot sports" of the day. The Old Sport was one of the "hottest," as the writer gathered.

Arthur Chambers, first of the lightweight champions, also had a cafe at Tenth street and Ridge avenue. Chambers died not long ago at eighty-three. Philadelphians live longer than any other Americans.

John L. Sullivan, when in Philadelphia, would go to Chambers' place, a crowd following him. He would toss a hundred dollar bill on the bar, which was much money in those days, and bellow, "Give everybody in the house a drink!"

It was Sullivan's Way, the Old Sport said. That is why everybody loved him in those days.

Of course a hundred dollar bill wouldn't go far in a bar in Philadelphia or anywhere else nowadays, the Old Sport said, because the price of liquor is so much higher. But many men could drink heartily on Sullivan's hundred dollar bill then.

From Chambers' place Sullivan would go to McLean's. The crowd would follow him. There wouldn't be a soul left in Chambers' after Sullivan left. At McLean's, Sullivan would toss a hundred dollar bill on the bar and roar, "Give everybody in the house a drink!"

"Yes, he was a great fellow," sighed the Old Sport. "You don't see any like him nowadays."

"What would the public think nowadays if Jack Dempsey went around tossing money on the bars and inviting everybody in the house to have a drink!" the writer asked.

The old sport pondered the query for some time. Then he said:

"Well, the public would say he was a darned fool—and he would be!"

Ruth Plans Final Drive For New Home Run Record

WHO WEARS CROWN AS KING OF ALL THE LIGHTWEIGHTS?

Was Champion Benny Leonard

BENNY LEONARD

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

If we accept Benny Leonard's statement that he is through with the ring FOREVVAH! where shall we place him in the lightweight hall of fame?

In classing fighters one must consider these factors:

Hitting power.
Boxing ability.
Ring science and generalship.
Popularity.
And staying powers.

The last element has become somewhat of a forgotten trait in these days of 10 round dances but it must be considered. It should be an attribute of every champ.

Champions had to have it in the old days to win fights—and popularity. If we ignore the qualification now we handicap the oldtimers. Considering all of these things, where does Leonard stand?

There are three men in the history of the division who can dispute the title of "king" with Leonard.

The first is Jack McAuliffe. And in my opinion he ranks ahead of them all.

McAuliffe has all the attributes of a great champion—the hitting power, the boxing science, the ring generalship and the endurance.

Eight Years a Busy Champ.

Through a period of eight years he defended his lightweight title in a way it has never been defended since. McAuliffe fought in the day of long fights. Could Leonard step into the ring and fight 74 rounds as did Jack against Jem Carney of England on Nov. 16, 1887. That was but one of the long fights in which McAuliffe showed himself master. A sixty-four round draw with Billy Myer two years later, again proved him stamina.

That he emerged from those fights—and eight years as title holder, with with features little marred and no signs of being "punch drunk" proves better than the records his skill as a boxer. He fought in the day when science was young and most of his opponents counted on brute strength. A blow carried dynamite with it. Flesh cracked before it.

Ring fans of his day realized when he retired undefeated that there was not a man then living who could accuse him of being scared out. His popularity increased rather than decreased with the years.

Greater Than "Bat" Nelson

"BAT" NELSON

Bat Nelson ranks as one of the four greatest because he stands alone as a born fighter. Nelson had a fighting heart that has never been checked.

Nelson Fighting Demon.

His gameness was foolhardy. He was a natural hitter. His defense was the natural one—a nerve-breaking offense. He had but one style of fighting—to bore in and wear the other man down at no matter what cost. His opponent, heavy hitter or skilful boxer, found himself fighting a tiger after he had signed to fight a human being. The harder "Bat" was hit the harder he hit. Joe Gans and Ad. Wolgast, both of fighting hearts, drummed tattoos of death on his battered head and only made him smile.

In addition to his hitting power and gameness Nelson had ring generalship—the generalship of a born fighter. His craftiness was the cunning of a Tiger attacking his prey.

Kid Lavigne is the third of the "greats."

Lavigne claimed the lightweight title laid down by McAuliffe.

What better proof of the Kid's greatness can be offered than that he licked Joe Wolcott twice. Wolcott, old timers will recall, fought as a welterweight and eagerly sought bouts with the bigger men.

Lavigne was a hitter, a crafty general and game. His early fights went from 55 to 75 rounds—and were fought in the lumber camps of Michigan.

As for Leonard.

He is by far the best of the lightweights of the present day. Wolgast, Ritchie, Welsh—these men do not rank with him. Welsh was, however, a flashier fighter. Wolgast was a harder hitter. Ritchie was a weak sister as a champion. Lack of formidable opponents has aided Leonard's prestige. He has made it clear against those he met that he was a wonderful boxer, an accurate, hard hitter, and a great ring general. His generalship saved him in two or three fights. Lew Tendler, great little southpaw, had Leonard's title in his grasp one night only to let Leonard kid him out of it while the champion played for time to let his head clear.

But Leonard did not win the nation-wide popularity McAuliffe, Nelson or Lavigne did. For one thing his biggest fights were confined to the east.

And the public has nothing on which to estimate Leonard's powers of endurance. The longest and hardest fights he ever engaged in were the one against Tendler two years ago and one with Rocky Kansas. Both went 15 rounds.

Or Wise Old Jack McAuliffe?

JACK McAULIFFE

CONCEDES HIS SLUGGING DAYS ARE NEAR END

King of Swatters Goes to Hot Springs to Take off Weight.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Imbued with the quite plausible belief that the season of 1925 will see him better his home run record or permanently abandon the chase, George H. Ruth, the well-known outfielder, is today enroute for Hot Springs for the purpose of boiling the beef right down to the bone.

Before boarding the train, the Babe declared himself as follows:

He would hit at least 60 home runs and the New York Yankees would win another pennant. He weighed slightly less than what the coal dealers refer to as a short ton.

"I admit that this year probably will mark my last serious attempt to break my record of fifty-nine," the great man said. "I feel, of course, that I am good for at least five or six seasons more as a big leaguer, maybe longer, but as time goes on my chances of beating the record reduce. I have no illusions about that. What was easy when you were a kid becomes increasingly hard as you advance beyond the thirty mark.

The great man expressed here the general opinion of close observers who have witnessed his struggles with the Demon Fat from year to year and they are pleased to note that it is a losing battle. Just what the Babe weighs at the moment must remain a secret for the simple reason that the Babe is like the daisies, he won't tell.

On other matters he was almost loquacious, however. The Yankees seemed to be his favorite theme.

"I think you will see the old club, as it was in 1923, playing ball this year," quoth he. "We just kicked the pennant away last season. Overconfident or something. I'm not trying to take anything away from the Senators. The deserve everything they got and more. But we have the better club and 1925 will prove it. The Tigers are always dangerous, too, and the Athletics are bound to be an improved ball club. However, all I can say is, watch the Yankees.

Many may agree with the young man's ideas here but not with his apparent belief that he has a white man's chance for the home run record. There are too many factors that will mitigate against his efforts.

One of them is the good word emanating from semi-final sources that the day of the slugger is gone. This they say, is to be the pitchers' year and the rather hectic efforts of the

Boone's Squad Downs Champions of 1916

Schoolboys' Condition Tells in Battle With Former Stars.

Like the old gray mare—they ain't what they used to be. For the team that won the northern Ohio scholastic basketball honors in 1916 last Saturday night went down to defeat before Coach O. V. Boone's 1925 quintet on the local high school court. The score was 34 to 29.

Considering that most of the former high school stars have not played the floor game for years, they put up a stiff battle against the youngsters. More than once during the contest they revealed flashes of the form that made them champs nine years ago. During the first and final period the veterans more than held their own.

The game was rough at times but both teams displayed nice passwork. Both quintets were somewhat off color in shooting, the highs, especially, losing a number of tough ones.

The first period was fairly even, the veterans surprising the crowd by their playing. During the second period the superior condition of the school boys told as they set a pace a trifle too fast for their opponents. In the third stanza the highs put the game on ice. The final quarter again saw the Ex-Highs at their best and in this portion of the contest they outscored Boone's boys.

English was the first to count for the school lads, making one from the foul line. Liebschner added a field goal. On a pretty pass from Vorndran, Nate Allen shot in the first points for the Alumni. Pusey and English countered with field goals for the highs. Liebschner hit the hoop for another double decker. Runt Smith showed the crowd he retained some of the ability that made him one of the greatest foul shooters ever turned out by the Blue and White when he dropped in two straight.

English and Fess scored on fouls. Allen put the leather through the net for the veterans' second field goal. The high five was ahead at the end of the quarter by the score of 10 to 7.

During the second quarters the old stars failed to score, while the highs were making five points. English counted two field goals and Liebschner scored a foul.

The score at the end of the first half was 15 to 7. English started proceedings in the third period with two field goals. McGraw made a foul. Pusey registered two more field goals and two more points on foults. Vorndran tossed in the ball for the veterans' first field goal of the period. Liebschner found the basket for another double marker. Fess registered his first field goal with a shot from the center of the floor. The high school passers were leading by a score of 28 to 11 at the conclusion of the third canto.

National League's Fiftieth Birthday Is Observed Today

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The old regime will clasp hands with the new today when the national league will comemorate the fiftieth anniversary of its founding of the hour and on the sport where the great event took place. It was on February 2, 1875, that the league was organized at the Bradway Central hotel, with Morgan G. Bulkley in the chair. Today, fifty years later, present club-owners and players will mingle with the magnates and stars of a half century ago, in the same room where the league was founded.

Mr. Bulkley and John A. Heydler, the first president and last, will have places of honor at the meeting. The ceremonies will be simple but impressive. They will be followed by a luncheon, where the new and old will have a chance to "visit" and talk about the game that has been handed down through the years as Americas' national pastime.

Notable among the old timers who have accepted invitations are Jack Manning, Boston; Tommy Bond, Hartford; Alonzo Knight and George Bradley, Philadelphia; John Morrill, Boston; Tom Eork and Jack Rusie, whose speed ball is a topic of conversation to this day; John Hornung, Bill Adhlen, Huyler Westervelt, John W. Ward, Sam Crane, former governor John K. Tener, Julian Curtiss, Frank Richter and Ted Sullivan.

Nurmi's Condition Poor for Remaining Races on Schedule

NEW YORK, Feb. 2—According to his friends and advisers, Paavo Nurmi today was in poor physicial condition in facing another week of atempted record breaking on American indoor tracks. The Finn, is was said, is suffering from a leg strain and a heavy cold and can hardly hope to beat his best record for the 2¼ mile special at the Western Union games tomorrow night.

Nurmi also is scheduled to run in a 2½ mile event at the Newark, A. C. games the following evening and in the 3,000 meter special at the Wilco meet on Saturday.

Taberski Climbing On Ralph Greenleaf In Cue Tournament

NEW YORK, Feb. 2—Frank Taberski, New York, made a decided gain upon Ralph Greenleaf, Philadelphia, in the National championship pocket billiard league standing during the week just past and today was 3½ games behind the champion. According to the official standing, Greenleaf has won 38 games and lost 18 and Taberski 31 games with 18 lost. Natalie, of Baltimore, is in third place.

Gibbons Seeking Bouts With Wills And Jack Dempsey

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Speaking for Tom Gibbons, leading white challenger for the heavyweight title, Eddie Kane is expected to confer with Tex Rickard today for the purpose of signing Gibbons for bouts with Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills. Kane came here accompanied by Gibbons, at the request of Rickard.

Gibbons today spoke freely of his intention to force Dempsey out of his announced retirement and of his desire to meet Wills.

"I would rather fight the champion, of course," Gibbons said. "In that way, I can look forward to winning the title in the ring instead of by acclamation. However, if Dempsey sticks to his determination to remain idle, I will claim the championship and defend it against Wills."

Indoor Loop Teams Ready For Opener

'Y' Baseball Circuit to Start Play Tonight.

Contending teams in the "Y" industrial indoor baseball circuit will swing in action tonight on the "Y" court.

Four clubs make up the league at present. It is possible more may be entered, although there is no definite assurance to this effect.

Laughlin 5, Laughlin 6, Smith-Phillips and Potters are the members of the circuit at present.

Here is the schedule:

Feb. 2—8 p. m., Laughlin 5 vs. Laughlin 6; 8:45 p. m., Smith-Phillips vs. Potters.

Feb. 4—7 p. m., Laughlin 6 vs. Potters; 7:30, Laughlin 5 vs. Smith-Phillips.

Feb. 9—8 p. m., Laughlin 6 vs. Smith-Phillips; 8:45, Laughlin 5 vs. Potters.

Feb. 11—7 p. m., Potters vs. Smith-Phillips; 7:30, Laughlin 6 vs. Laughlin 5.

Feb. 16—8 p. m., Smith-Phillips vs. Laughlin 5; 8:45, Potters vs. Laughlin 6.

Feb. 18—7 p. m., Potters vs. Laughlin 5; 7:30 p. m., Smith-Phillips vs. Laughlin 6.

Walter Hagen Runs Up 11-hole Margin Over Open Champion

By ROBERT E. HARLOW.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 2—Walter Hagen, British open champion, had a big lead today in his unofficial world's golf championship with Cyril Walker American open champion.

Hagen, playing perfect golf all day, led Walker by 11 holes at the conclusion of the first thirty six holes at the Hialeah club in Miami. The final thirty-six will be played Wednesday at Pasadena-on-the-gulf.

Walker, who showed such a fine touch on the putting greens in Detroit, when he won the American open title, was all at sea on the rough greens at Hialeah.

Church Fives Play Three Fast Games

Boulevards, Lutherans and M. E.'s Emerge as Winning Squads.

The Park Boulevards, the Lutherans and the First Methodist Episcopals were victorious in Sunday school league basketball battles Saturday night at the "Y".

The Park Boulevards ran away from the First Baptist five, winning by the score of 45 to 8. The Lutherans more than doubled the score on the United Presbyterians easily taking the contest by the count of 25 to 11, and the First Methodist Episcopals downed the First Presbyterians in a hard fought battle by the score of 19 to 13.

The Boulevards-Baptists game was nothing but a repetition of field goal after field goal for the Boulevards lads.

The Boulevard aggregation scored almost at will all through the game and put up a stone wall defense against their opponents. The Baptists scored only two field goals.

Guyton with eight field goals, was the scoring star of the game, O. Kirkham, and McKee followed Guyton in scoring. Mackey, Kittridge and Rumberger played well for the Baptists. The First Presbyterians-First Methodist Episcopals game was the hardest fought of the three contests, the M. E. passers almost making victory sure in the first half when they led by the score of 17 to 4.

In the second half there was a different story. The Presbyterians outplayed their opponents completely all through the half but could not overcome the big lead that the M. E. passers gained in the first.

Dorsey, Pyles and Karns were the brilliant performers for the Methodist Episcopal passers, while Todd, Allison and Householder played well for the Presbyterians.

Ridgeway Juniors Are Victims Over Ceramics, 34 to 20

On the "Y" floor Saturday afternoon the Ridgeway Juniors won from the Ceramic basketball tossers by the score of 34 to 20.

The game was nip and tuck for the first three quarters, but in the last quarter the Ridgeway Juniors completely outclassed their opponents.

E. Bloor, Horwell, Menge and Walker were the stars for the Juniors, while Burke, Small and Pusey played well for the Ceramics. Lineup and summary:

Ridgeway Juniors		Ceramics
Greenwood	F	Pusey
E. Bloor	F	Burke
Horwell	C	C. Small
Menge	G	McConville
Walker	G	Lafferty

Substitutions — Lindell for Pusey, Cooper for Lafferty, McKee for Cooper.

Field goals—Bloor 4, Horwell 5, Walker, Greenwood, Burke 3, Small 2, Pusey.

St. Stephens Choir Boys Victors Over Restaurant Cagers

The St. Stephens choir passers defeated the McKinley restaurant five, 18 to 16, in a warm contest Saturday on the St. Stephens floor.

Convery and Curran starred for the McKinleys, Penebaker and Smith were the chief point-getters for the winners. The lineup:

St. Stephens		McKinley
Penebaker	F	Schneller
Chetwin	F	Judge
Smith	C	Curran
Massey	G	Convery
McLane	G	Pardell

Substitutions—Clark for Chetwin, King for Clark.

Field goals—Penebaker 2, Smith 1, Clark 1, Massey 1, Schneller 2, Judge 1, Curran 1, Convery 2.

Fouls—Penebaker 3, Smith 3, Schneller 1, Curran 2, Pardell 1.

English again started the scoring when the final quarter began. He registered a field goal. Bucher scored from the field. E. English, who relieved Pusey at forward, made a field goal. Vorndran scored on a foul. Fess followed up with a field goal. Liebschner scored the highs' last two points from the field while Bucher, with a two-pointer, tallied for the ex-highs.

All the high school lads, as well as the former school boys, played good basketball throughout. English and Liebschner were the big noises from a scoring standpoint, for the winners, while Fess and Vorndran led the former champs.

In the preliminary the high school seconds won from the Glenmore five by the score of 30 to 19. The seconds had things fairly easy, leading in the first half by the score of 21 to 10.

In the the final half the Glenmore passers outplayed their opponents, but the lead against them was too much. Hamilton starred for the seconds with seven field goals and eight fouls. Allison and Hall performed in classy manner at guards. Canne's all around performance for the Glenmores was a feature. Bromby and McDevitt also played well for the losers.

He Likes to Hit.

Jay Kirke, veteran first baseman and outfielder, has been sold by Minneapolis to the Newark International League club. Kirke long ago failed to get by in the big show but as one who loves to hit, his name leads all the rest. If Jay had his way men would carry bats instead of walking sticks and the dining room would include batting cages so that Jay could "pickle" a few between steak and pie. I've seen Jay all but leap out of a pullman window yelling instructions at some country kid trying to emulate Ruth on a cross-roads lot as the train went by.

various clubs to line up and develop their staff would seem to bear out this idea. Connie Mack, for example, is taking his pitchers south in less than three weeks' time. They also say the so-called "Rabbit Bill", the existence of which was never admitted to official quarters, is a thing of the past and point to the marked falling off in home runs later year as proof of the contention. The Babe himself fell off twelve behind his record, which is another angle to the story.

He played seventy seven games on the wide open spaces of the Yankee stadium, and being a gentlemen of tact and discernment, he shortened his swing on many occasions, in fact, so many that he led the league in hitting.

He compiled his great record while playing half of the season at the polo grounds where the right field wall is convenient and moderately low.

The pitchers' themselves will try to see to it that the great man doesn't again run wild. They may not be giving him as many intentional passes as before but they so seldom give him a good one that his walks are almost monotonous.

Ty Cobb has expressed the common attitude in rather succinct terms:

"Four for one is better than one for four".

That epigram stands for something that will cramne Ruth's style bevond all probability of a successful assault.

Must Produce.

The Boston Red Sox let George Murray, pitcher, go to the Mobile Southern association club. Murray's main fault in the big show was his failure to take the game seriously. His manager at Mobile will be the peppery Kid Elberfeld. Which means that Murray will either "step into it" or get out in short order.

No League Games Tonight.

Sunday school league contests scheduled for tonight in the Methodist Episcopal church gymnasium have been called off, according to announcement by Harvey J. Price, on account of the fact that an entertainment will be held there.

Ought to Have Medals.

The members of the Giant-White Sox aggregation that toured Europe last fall are to receive medals from the French government. Probably for playing the full nine innings before those 20 Irishmen in Dublin.

Ridgeway Juniors Are Victims Over Ceramics, 34 to 20

On the "Y" floor Saturday afternoon the Ridgeway Juniors won from the Ceramic basketball tossers by the score of 34 to 20.

The game was nip and tuck for the first three quarters, but in the last quarter the Ridgeway Juniors completely outclassed their opponents.

E. Bloor, Horwell, Menge and Walker were the stars for the Juniors, while Burke, Small and Pusey played well for the Ceramics. Lineup and summary:

Ridgeway Juniors		Ceramics
Greenwood	F	Pusey
E. Bloor	F	Burke
Horwell	C	C. Small
Menge	G	McConville
Walker	G	Lafferty

Substitutions — Lindell for Pusey, Cooper for Lafferty, McKee for Cooper.

Field goals—Bloor 4, Horwell 5, Walker, Greenwood, Burke 3, Small 2, Pusey.

Foul goals—Bloor 6, Horwell 3, Greenwood 2, Menge, Pusey 3, Burke 8, Small 2.

Referee—Kimes.

St. Stephens Choir Boys Victors Over Restaurant Cagers

The St. Stephens choir passers defeated the McKinley restaurant five, 18 to 16, in a warm contest Saturday on the St. Stephens floor.

Convery and Curran starred for the McKinleys, Penebaker and Smith were the chief point-getters for the winners. The lineup:

St. Stephens		McKinley
Penebaker	F	Schneller
Chetwin	F	Judge
Smith	C	Curran
Massey	G	Convery
McLaue	G	Pardell

Substitutions—Clark for Chetwin, Kind for Clark.

Field goals—Penebaker 2, Smith 1, Clark 1, Massey 1, Schneller 2, Judge 1, Curran 1, Convery 2.

Fouls—Penebaker 3, Smith 3, Schneller 1, Curran 2, Pardell 1.

English again started the scoring when the final quarter began. He registered a field goal. Bucher scored from the field. E. English, who relieved Pusey at forward, made a field goal. Vorndran scored on a foul. Fess followed up with a field goal. Liebschner scored the highs' last two points from the field while Bucher, with a two-pointer, tallied for the ex-highs.

All the high school lads, as well as the former school boys, played good basketball throughout. English and Liebschner were the big noises from a scoring standpoint, for the winners, while Fess and Vorndran led the former champs.

In the preliminary the high school seconds won from the Glenmore five by the score of 30 to 19. The seconds had things fairly easy, leading in the first half by the score of 21 to 10.

In the the final half the Glenmore passers outplayed their opponents, but the lead against them was too much. Hamilton starred for the seconds with seven field goals and eight fouls. Allison and Hall performed in classy manner at guards. Canne's all around performance for the Glenmores was a feature. Bromby and McDevitt also played well for the losers.

Lineups, summaries:

E. L. H. S.		Class of 1916
Pusey	F	H. Smith
P. English	F	Fess
McGraw	C	R. Smith
Liebschner	G	Allen
McConville	G	Vondran

Substitutions—McKeever for Pusey, Pusey for McKeever, E. Smith for Pusey, Vodrey for H. Smith, Vodrey for R. Smith, R. Smith for H. Smith, Bucher for Allen, Allen for Bucher, H. Smith for Vodrey.

Field goals—English 6, Liebschner 4, Pusey3, English, Fess 2, Vorndran 2 Allen 2, Bucher 2.

Foul goals—Pusey 2, English 2, McGraw, Liebschner H. Smith 2, Fess, Vorndran.

Referee—Watkins, Timer, Cannon, Scorer, McKeever.

E. L. H. S. Seconds		Glenmore
E. English	F	McDevitt
Hamilton	F	Bromby
Bough	C	Canne
Allison	G	Rose
Hall	G	Kinsey

Substitutions—Glenn for Rose Canne for Rose, Rose for McDevitt, McVey for Hall, McConville for Hamilton.

Field goals—Hamilton 7, E. English, Bough, Allison, Canne 3, McDevitt 2, Bromby.

Foul goals—Hamilton 8, Allison 2, Canne 4, Bromby 2, McDevitt.

Referee—Mensforth.

He Likes to Hit.

Jay Kirke, veteran first baseman and outfielder, has been sold by Minneapolis to the Newark International League club. Kirke long ago failed to get by in the big show but as one who loves to hit, his name leads all the rest. If Jay had his way men would carry bats instead of walking sticks and the dining room would include batting cages so that Jay could "pickle" a few between steak and pie. I've seen Jay all but leap out of a pullman window yelling instructions at some country kid trying to emulate Ruth on a cross roads lot as the train went by.

May Get Mixed Up.

Bill Klem, dean of National League umpires, says he may quit the diamond to sell Florida real estate. Bill will have to watch himself or he'll start telling customers where they can locate home plate instead of the garage.

Quebec's new modern $500,000 hotel will be known as Pilgrim's Rest of Ste. Anne de Baupre.

JACK'S STILL INTERESTED IN RING—BUT A GOLD ONE

Church Fives Play

In their game with the United Presbyterians, the Lutherans led all the way, being six points in the lead when time was up for the first half. The score then was 13 to 7.

During the second half the Lutherans increased their lead over their foes, scoring 12 points to their opponents' four. The U. P. five did not score a field goal in their first half, and only two during the entire game.

Anthony, G. Woessner and Davis starred for the Lutherans, while Berg, Roberts and Curry led the United Presbyterians.

various clubs to line up and develop their staff would seem to bear out this idea. Connie Mack, for example, is taking his pitchers south in less than three weeks' time. They also say the so-called "Rabbit Bill", the existence of which was never admitted to official quarters, is a thing of the past and point to the marked falling off in home runs later year as proof of the contention. The Babe himself fell off twelve behind his record, which is another angle to the story.

He played seventy seven games on the wide open spaces of the Yankee stadium, and being a gentlemen of tact and discernment, he shortened his swing on many occasions, in fact, so many that he led the league in hitting.

He compiled his great record while playing half of the season at the polo grounds where the right field wall is convenient and moderately low.

The pitchers' themselves will try to see to it that the great man doesn't again run wild. They may not be giving him as many intentional passes as before but they so seldom give him a good one that his walks are almost monotonous.

Ty Cobb has expressed the common attitude in rather succinct terms:

"Four for one is better than one for four".

That epigram stands for something that will examine Ruth's style beyond all probability of a successful assault.

Must Produce.

The Boston Red Sox let George Murray, pitcher, go to the Mobile Southern association club. Murray's main fault in the big show was his failure to take the game seriously. His manager at Mobile will be the peppery Kid Elberfeld. Which means that Murray will either "step into it" or get out in short order.

No League Games Tonight.

Sunday school league contests scheduled for tonight in the Methodist Episcopal church gymnasium have been called off, according to announcement by Harvey J. Price, on account of the fact that an entertainment will be held there.

Ought to Have Medals.

The members of the Giant-White Sox aggregation that toured Europe last fall are to receive medals from the French government. Probably for playing the full nine innings before those 20 Irishmen in Dublin.

REVIVAL MEETS COME TO CLOSE

New Castle Evangelist Preaches at Church of Christ.

At the Pennsylvania Avenue Church of Christ last evening, Evangelist Harry Kaye, preached his concluding sermon, to one of the largest crowds that has attended the campaign.

His sermon subject was "Something in East Liverpool That God Won't Forgive."

This evening Rev. Kaye will hold a patriotic service at the church, the public is invited.

Tuesday evening there will be a reception for the new members in the church parlors.

In his sermon last night he said in part as follows:

"There are men and women who are tonight wandering alone. There are men and women that have rejected a guide.

"The way that we utter a warning, means a lot sometimes. We have Jesus words. Hundreds of sensitive souls hace committed suicide because they think that they have committed the unpardonable sin.

"In God's word he has given love and pardon, and Christ says that sins shall be forgiven, all but the unpardonable sin, Judas would have been forgiven if he had come back. Some people think that a murder is the unpardonable sin, but David was a murderer, don't you recall haw he slew Golith, that giant? But God forgave, even the awful crime of Jesus Christ being crucified on the cross was forgiven. Anyone, old or young, that blasphemes against the Holy spirit cannot be forgiven while all blasphemy against the Holy spirit is sin, yet all sin is not blasphemy.

The Holy spirit is representing the motherhood of God.

Don't you think that Christ's heart is grieved, when he sees men and women say that they are going to line up with the church, and then wander away. If we turn away from God, and then turn back, he will gladly accept us into his fold.

God says that his spirit will not always strive with man, and yet men will refuse to accept him. You and I tonight are lost in the darkness of sin, and Jesus Christ is the bright and shining light that is leading us out. Quench not the Holy spirit for if you do you will lose the way out. Jesus tells us that a house divided against itself cannot stand, and we find that instead of Jesus Christ being praised for the miracle that was performed that he was condemned. He was accused of being a worker of the Devil. If you cimmit the unpardonable sin it will not be forgiven in this world.

If you say that Jesus Christ cannot save men from their sins, that Christ is not the son of God, how can you expect to get out of this world? If you injure your eyesight, you might get it back, but if you put them out, you will never get it back again.

How do you expect to get out of this world without Christ? When you start to think about these things, and sit there night after night and hear these gospel sermons, and listen to my pleadings, and then don't accept him, that is the undardonable sin. "The Thing That God Won't Forgive in East Liverpool."

If you want to committ the unpardonable sin, just sit there. If you commit the unpardonable sin, how do you expect to escape? There are men and women here tonight that are committing the unpardonable sin right now, they have been committing it ever since these meetings started and now here is the last sermon of this campaign and they are still hanging back.

Crowds Attend Services.

Large crowds attended the revival meetings yesterday in the Oakland Free Methodist church. The sermons was delivered by Rev. R. G. Wilkin of Freeport, Ill.

Revival Opens.

Is your baby tortured by eczema or chafing?

JUST smooth gently on to the irritated skin a coating of Resinol Ointment, and see how quickly his fretful crying stops. The moment this soothing ointment touches the skin it relieves the itching and burning and hastens the healing. Does not smart when applied and its ingredients are harmless—two facts which make it specially suitable for babies.

Resinol Soap is unsurpassed for babies because it so thoroughly cleanses the skin without injuring its delicate texture. Ask your druggist about Resinol.

Is your baby tortured by eczema or chafing?

JUST smooth gently on to the irritated skin a coating of Resinol Ointment, and see how quickly his fretful crying stops. The moment this soothing ointment touches the skin it relieves the itching and burning and hastens the healing. Does not smart when applied and its ingredients are harmless—two facts which make it specially suitable for babies.

Resinol Soap is unsurpassed for babies because it so thoroughly cleanses the skin without injuring its delicate texture. Ask your druggist about Resinol.
